STATESMAN STAFF

We the members of the annual staff are proud to present the 1959 Statesman. With the passage of years, we hope that this book will serve as a collection of your memories during the school year.

We would like to extend our personal thanks to Mr. Lockwood, Mr. Schrody, and Mr. Thompson for all of the assistance and advice they have given us.

Principal's Message

The second volume of the Statesman is a record of lasting memories and loyal classmates. We have had a very fine year in the first full year at Jefferson. The excellent start is due in a very large part to the "statesmanship" like attitude of the large majority of the students.

The achievement and success of all students who enter Jefferson halls will make the community proud and pleased with their investment in our beautiful and functional building, Jefferson "High on a Hill."

OFFICE PERSONNEL

The smooth operation of Jefferson High School can be attributed to our able and efficient office girls. They are forever busy performing a multiple of duties.

Mrs. Evelyn Wieneke, Bookkeeper; Maxine Cervený, Secretary

CLASS SCENES

Dan Jones, one of several student librarians, assists Janice Vlcko, Marian Swanson, and Tom Lahmon with Mrs. Mitchell keeping a watchful eye.

Mr. Schrody advises and checks drawings for Ken Sedlacek, Dave Schrody, Bob Michalek, and Gail Lundering in Drafting Class.

Auto Mechanics offers an opportunity for David Couser, Dave Cook and Larry Hollquist to tear down an engine.

SENIORS

John Daywitt

John Daywitt was one of the students who contributed much to Jefferson High in its first year. John, who maintained an "A" average, was greatly admired for his outstanding scholastic ability. He was a member of the Outlook staff, student council, National Honor Society, 1957-58 American Heritage Class, and city traffic court.

Although John was active in service to his school and community and of exceptional scholastic ability, it will not be for these things primarily, that his friends will remember him. It will be for the sparkle of his eye, the cheerful smile, the originality, and the extraordinary combination of ability, desire, and sincerity which made John an incomparable friend and companion.

Robert McPherson

Bob McPherson was stricken with leukemia in this, his senior year. The sudden passing of "Mac," as his close friends knew him, on September 25, 1958, was shocking to both students and faculty.

Bob was a very pleasant asset to JHS, and he took part in athletics of which swimming was his favorite. Last year, he helped represent our school on the varsity basketball team, but his most outstanding ability was as a swimmer.

Our campus will surely miss "Mac," but his accomplishments will not easily be forgotten.

IN MEMORIAM

"Concerning the Death of a Youth"

Pray tell, dear Lachesis,
What dost thou base thy verdict on?
To command Atrppo to sever the thread of life,
Which will be done to all, anon.

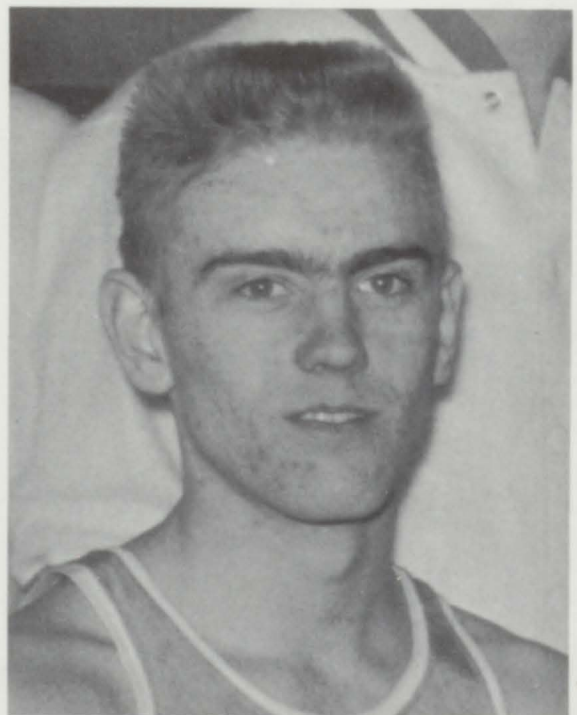

Why dost thou pick a youth in his prime?
And strike him down at this wondrous time?
Pray tell, dear Lachesis,
What dost thou base thy verdict on?

To me your act is very clear
To those who have seen many a year.
But why dost thou choose a being so young?
I cannot understand.

The youth had not time to enjoy
All the wonder of this world.
All the joys and excitements
To him will never be unfurled.

Why dost thou pick a youth in his prime?
And strike him down at this wondrous time?
Pray tell, dear Lachesis,
What dost thou base thy verdict on?

QUILL AND SCROLL
Sheryl Kriz, Ellen Hughes,
Diane Spicer, Carl Dye

The American Field Service, through its student exchange program, is promoting a better understanding in the world, an understanding which partially comes from the knowledge of a country's customs. In the picture, John Schmets, right, is being given an explanation of one of America's customs, the playing of football, by Herb Stinson, his American brother. John, whose home is in Liege, Belgium, had thought of his hope of seeing America as only a dream that would never come true. "I wanted to come here to see by myself all the things people said about the United States and particularly to see their customs, ways of living, ideas, and too, the industrial and agricultural development. When I was in my third year of high school, I became very interested in the AFS program as many are, but for me it renewed all my kid-dreams, and I spoke with many friends who had been in the United States. Now I'm not at all deceived; the States here are like I imagined them, maybe more beautiful."

FOREIGN EXCHANGE STUDENTS

Learning to live in a foreign country is a major part of an exchangee's program. In the picture, Francoise Paquet's American sister, Karen Mills, left, is learning also. She is learning to better appreciate classical music through Francoise's favorite hobby, playing the piano. Francoise, usually called Frankie, is an exchange student from Dijon, France. Frankie said, "I asked for a scholarship to United States two years ago in November; a teacher told us about American Field Service a few minutes, but during these few minutes I had made up my mind: I was going to try to go through the tests of the AFS. At the end of March, I received a letter from American Field Service telling that I was selected by the French committee and that my papers had been sent to New York. From May to June, I received and I sent letters to my family; we began to know each other pretty well, but we were anxious to meet each other. That wonderful day happened in August. For me, everything is (or was) quite new, but I enjoy Cedar Rapids and American people. I can only thank you, everybody, and especially, my family, for making my experience a wonderful one."

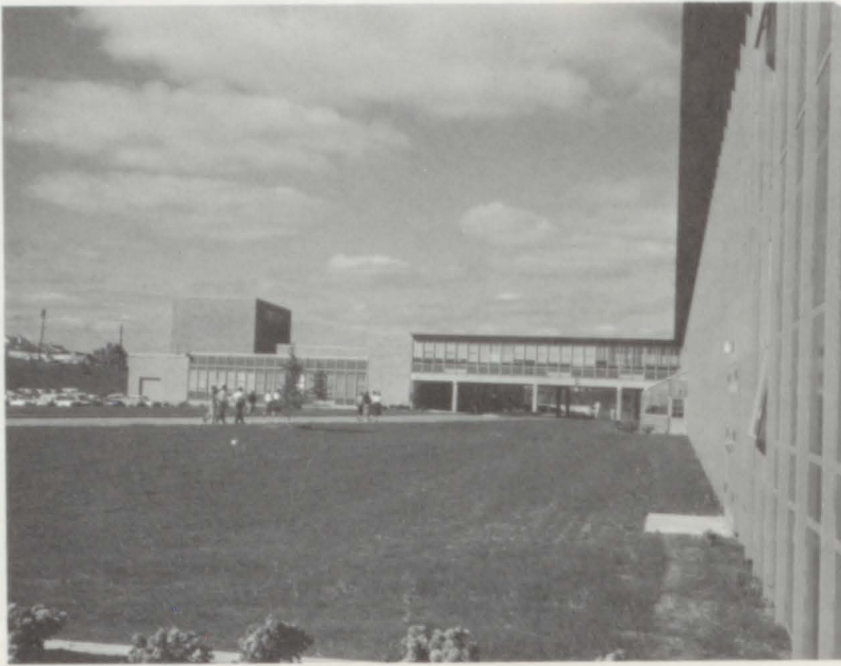

Kay Youtzy, Jefferson's exchange student to Germany, found that an important part of American Field Service came after her return to America: the responsibility of telling others of her stay in a foreign country and explaining the AFS program. In the picture, Kay is shown giving one of the many speeches she has made since her return. She became interested in the exchange program last spring when, through one of her teachers, she found out that she was eligible to apply for AFS. Kay feels that the value of the American Field Service is a lasting one. "After spending the summer in Germany, I realize how valuable this experience was, for it will help me all through my life. The knowledge I have gained has developed in me a great understanding of people and their customs. And after learning about their way of life you are able to show them our way of living."

AMERICAN EXCHANGE STUDENTS

After the speeches are given and the responsibilities of the AFS program are completed, an exchangee still has something very important left--the memories. Jo Anne Charipar had dreamed, since her freshman year when she saw her first American Field Service assembly, of the summer she might spend in Europe. In Jo Anne's sophomore and junior years she worked so that, if she was chosen, she would be able financially to go. Then in her junior year, Jo Anne's dream came true--she was selected an AFS representative to Italy. Jo Anne states, "A trip of this sort is a fabulous teacher. You learn about people: their lives, their differences. If you learn a lesson well, you'll never forget it and the effect stays with you a long time. I hope to enlarge on this lesson in the future, and naturally the best way to do this is to go back to the teacher. So it's back to Italy for me. It'll take two years, but loving to study, the wait will be worth it."

JEFFERSON MOODS

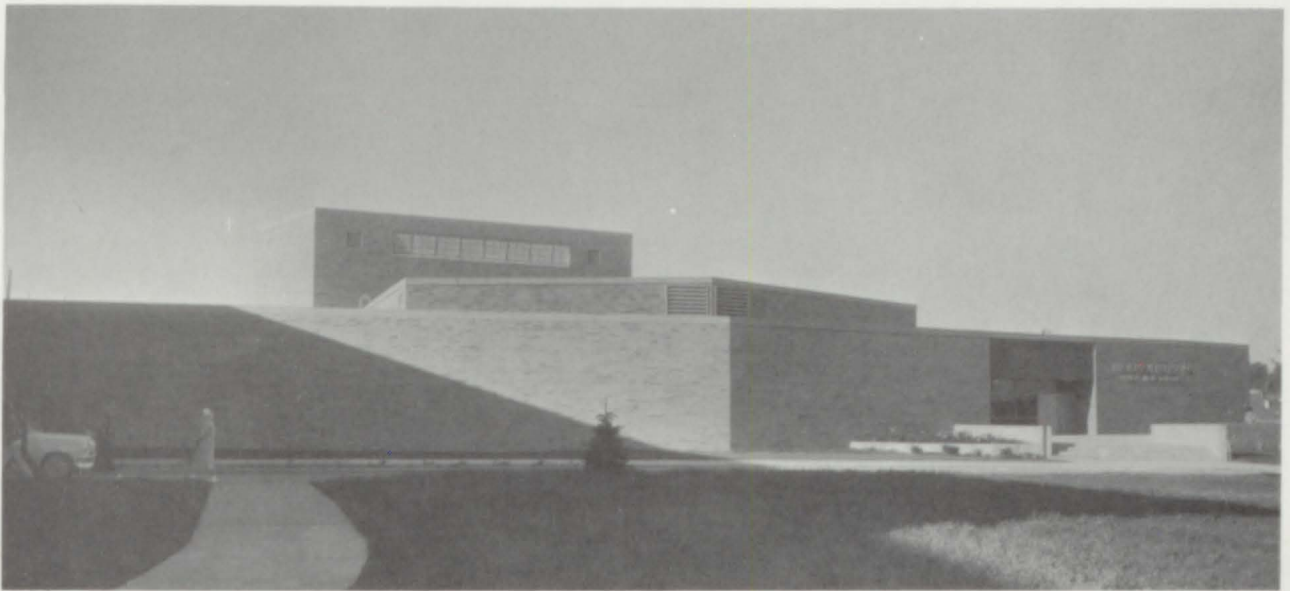

JEFFERSON LOYALTY

by Torrence and Ruth Carlson

Jefferson High, High on a hill,
Sing we now thy praise.
Colors blue and white, lead us in the right,
Our voices in tribute we raise.

When graduation comes we'll go our separate ways,
But never will we lose the memory of these days.
Jefferson High, framed by the sky,
Sing we thy song of praise.

The Constitution and By Laws of the Student Council were ratified by the student body, and the organization became official in May 1958. The council was formulated to uphold high standards of personal conduct and scholastic achievement.

The Student Council has been responsible for promoting many of the projects and activities in the school. One of its major accomplishments has been the setting up of a safety committee and formulating a school Code of Safety. They have sponsored school dances and other social events. They have also organized and assisted the student body in carrying out the homecoming activities. The members are "behind the scenes" workers and are a valuable asset to Jefferson High School.

The purposes of the Student Council are:

- To consider problems of school welfare
- To provide students an opportunity to participate in student affairs through student government
- To provide a clearinghouse for student activities
- To act in an advisory capacity to the administration
- To promote the general welfare and unity of the school through democratic practice and procedure.

ORGANIZATIONS

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

Karen Hein
Secretary

Galen Stahle
President

Dave Schrody
Vice-President

No honor conferred by the school excels that represented by the National Honor Society. It represents the fundamental objectives for which schools are instituted and gives recognition to those who have attained most nearly the desired ends. Other honors at the disposal of the school are only partial in the sense that they recognize specialized ability, skill, or talent; but this Society looks upon education as a total product measured by the four dimensions of life: character, service, leadership, and scholarship.

Students pictured on this page were inducted into the Aristotelian Chapter of the National Honor Society in their junior year and they formed the working body of the society during the year 1958-59.

OUTLOOK STAFF

The Outlook staff published a six-page school paper eight times during the school year. A special Homecoming edition was also produced by the first semester staff, under the co-editorship of Ellen Hughes and Shirley Scott. First semester page editors included Shirley Scott, Sheryll Kriz, Diane Spicer, Ellen Hughes, Carl Dye, and Pat Lucas. Advertising managers were Shirley Harapot and Pat Lucas. Mary Schultz served as business and circulation manager. Staff photographer was Ron Edwards and exchange editor was Karen Klein. Assistants to the various page editors were Wally Clark and Diane Coombs. Second semester staff was in charge of four issues of the monthly publication. First semester editors rotated positions on the second semester staff and new members of the staff acted as assistants, reporters, headline writers, typists, and proofreaders. Carl Dye, sports editor, was replaced by Ron Edwards, second semester and Rosann Jelinek was advertising manager for second semester.

The Bonfire officially opened Homecoming with a big cheer for the football team. The six finalists for queen were announced at a pep assembly the next day, and by that night, at the football game with Iowa City, everyone was in a state of excitement. At last the moment came--Joanne Drake was escorted onto the field and crowned queen of the 1958 Homecoming festivities! The dance the next night provided a wonderful climax to a wonderful event, Jefferson's first Homecoming.

Everyone yelled,
"Go J-Hawks!"

The student-made float carried in the candidates at halftime.

Ralph Trimble escorts Jody Drake.

Dancing to the tune of "Stairway to the Stars"
climaxed Homecoming-1958.
