High school is a time for creating lasting memories, and this year was no exception. Students found themselves getting involved in sports, drama, and many other activities in order to meet new people and enjoy the many opportunities offered. Students made the best of the tougher guidelines that were introduced this year by dressing crazy and attending mixers with designated themes, such as sock hops and nerd dances. Good times were had by all, as well as some unforgettable moments.

Students enjoy friends

September arrived and another fun-in-the-sun summer became a memory as we faced a fresh, new school year. Once again, traffic in the hallways resembled a freeway at rush hour.

It didn't take long at all for J-Hawks to get back into the groove of school-related activities. Excelling in academics, as well as in athletics, easily let us "Picture Ourselves as Winners!"

As another year gets underway, these J-Hawks put the wheels in motion by supporting their school with spirit: 1) Tobias Ring 2) Jamie Hathaway 3) Darcey Wells 4) Mike Frederick 5) Sonya Colbert and her date 6) Randy Meier 7) Sherm Newkirk, Scott Mihal, Doug Fifield 8) Deby Martin and Codi Wilkinson 9) Mike Ivester 10) LaVisa Green 11) Matt Usher 12) Shawn Eige 13) Jimmy Welsh and Dan Heiken 14) Rick Jacobs 15) Chris Simmons 16) Sophomore football cheerleaders 17) Steve Louvar

A summer full of fun and sun had once again vanished as the autumn months called us back to school. Classes began and once again everything fell smoothly into place. Friendships were reunited, and the many athletic, as well as academic, activities were all underway. Whether it was participating in school related events, or being a dedicated J-Hawk fan, students made the year a memorable one.

Student Life

Kris
Brouard
Editor

The first day of the 1985-'86 school year was quite a new and exciting experience for the new J-Hawks coming to Jefferson High School for the first time in September.

Right away they understood the meaning of the words "student life." They discovered it was more than attending the occasional 6:00-8:00 dances held at their old junior high schools. They soon began kicking up their heels at dances such as Homecoming, WPA, and at various mixers, such as MORP, sponsored by Student Council.

Student life at Jefferson could be summed up in one word—involvement. From dressing up crazy on a spirit day to cheering on their basketball team to another victory, many J-Hawks learned to enjoy "the best years of their lives" by being involved.

Winning J-Hawks caught having fun include:
 1) Kurt Peters, 2) Patricia Vanderhei, 3) Chris Burhite, Mr. Ron Capps, 4) Debbie Englert, Lonnie Michalec, 5) Ted Smith, 6) Roxanne Lee, 7) Football Cheerleaders, 8) Mr. Dick Briggs, Nancy Houar, 9) Glenn Michel, 10) Nanci Hanna, 11) Spirited J-Hawks, 12) Juniors, 13) J-Hawk Cheerleaders, 14) Shelly Henry, Maria Sasek, June Frank, Lori Hupfeld, 15) Matt Wall, Jim Welsh, 16) Shelly VanBogart, Anita Lutz

Winning is a tradition here at Jefferson. Due to the numerous achievements accomplished by dedicated J-Hawks this year, our true excellence was recognized. We possessed a winning attitude, and because of that, shined through in whatever we set out to do. "Picturing ourselves as winners" was certainly not a task.

Enthusiasm peaks

Say cheese

As you sat in the pep assembly cheering on your class in the traditional spirit yell, out of the corner of your eye you note a flash. Little did you know, until you flipped open this 1986 yearbook, that you were a victim of a yearbook photographer.

You didn't think they would catch you when you had that funny smile on your face. But what you don't realize is that funny face will bring back memories of all the good times you had at Jefferson. The best way to catch them was to come up unexpectedly and capture moods during all the crazy times, noted a photographer.

You'll never forget those special moments, because you were caught having a good time, you're caught with that candid expression.

On September 13, the students filed into the gym to find out who the ten lucky Homecoming queen finalists were. The 26 semi-finalists became anxious when they looked at the empty chairs waiting to be filled. When the students quieted, senior Mark Hartman began to announce the ten finalists.

Each girl took the glamorous walk down the gym floor to meet her parents. Many hugs were given and tears of happiness were shed. When the ten chairs were filled, the finalists—Robin Becker, Wendy Butler, Julie Davis, Julie Finn, Amy Fulton, Cheryl Ludvick, Kristy Petersen, Maria Sasek, Lisa Skaggs, and Jill Sommers—received congratulations from their friends.

On September 20, Mr Geuder announced to an awaiting crowd that Maria Sasek was the new queen.

Back row: Chris Kitterman—boys' basketball; Nick Daniel—tennis; Mike Ivester—boys' basketball; Tim Driscoll—golf; Don McDill—Fine arts; Rich Jacobs—swimming.

Top 26 named

As the decorated gymnasium filled up with restless students, the tension began to rise. Mark Hartman, senior class president, stepped up to the microphone to start naming off the twenty-six semi-finalists for queen.

The crowd settled back and the assembly began. The girls were named off and the escorts came down to greet them with a flower and lead them across the floor to their seat.

The first candidate named was Kelly Smith. Summarizing her feelings, she commented, "I was shocked. I never expected to get chosen. I didn't know what to do; I just sat there until my friend pushed me up."

As the names were called off there were many smiles, shocked faces, and tears. Concerning her feelings, Robin Becker commented, "I was very surprised, I thought I was dreaming. Homecoming was a very memorable event for me."

As senior class president Mark Hartman finished announcing the twenty-six Homecoming queen candidates, the juniors and seniors went to homeroom to narrow these twenty-six choices down to the final ten. The next three days were stressful for some, but the candidates were thinking of other things.

To the girls, their parents were very supportive of them even if they didn't make the final ten.

"As I was sitting and heard my name," replied Julie Finn, "I felt like crying, because I was surprised that I was even being considered a Homecoming twenty-six candidate."

Smiling happily upon hearing her name being read, Robin Becker is escorted to her seat by Larry Studt.

Smiles are aglow as Mary Novy and Kristy Petersen, along with their escorts John Schneider and Chris Kitterman, walk up the aisle.

Semi-finalist Theresa Hoffon receives her flower from escort Greg Williams.

The Homecoming game arrived early this year, but not without the traditional cold weather and ten excited candidates.

As game time approached, the ten girls awaited the announcement of the new queen. At halftime the ten girls were escorted on to the track. As last year's queen, Lynda Hooten, moved behind the candidates, it was announced that Maria Sasek would be the new queen for 1985.

At the dance, Maria and her court danced to the theme song, "Cherish." Finalist Julie Davis remarked, "I will always remember the shock of hearing my name being called and the thrill of being a finalist."

Maria is crowned

Cheerfully accepting a carnation from her escort, Charlie Hasson, is finalist Amy Fulton.

Rick Wilford and his date, Sue Field, are captured at that special moment during the Homecoming dance.

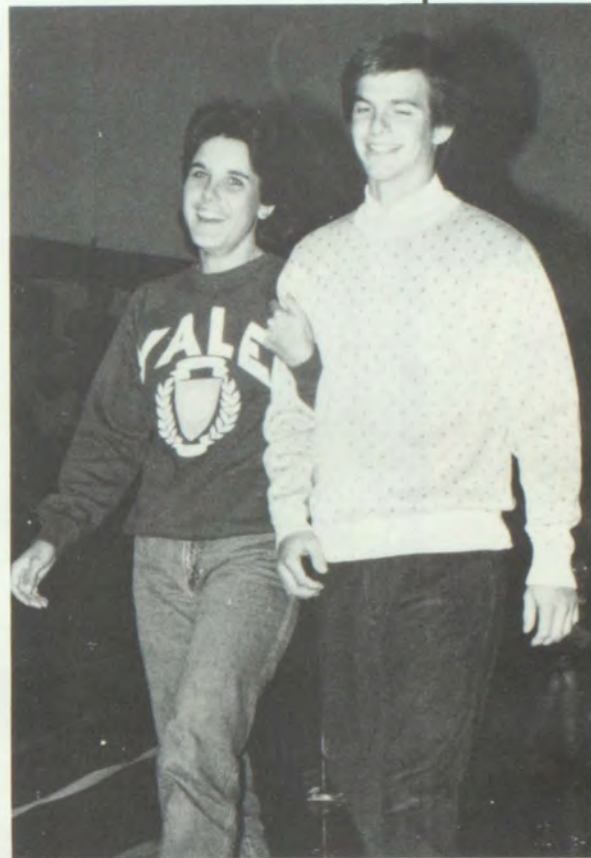

Maria Sasek is surprised and delighted as she is crowned 1985 Homecoming queen. Her escort is Mike Ivester, representing basketball.

Getting ready to release balloons at the moment the queen's name is announced, sophomore Amy McHugh prepares to untie the netting.

Decorations enhanced the mood of the Homecoming dance as couples danced to "Cherish."

Attending spirited pep assemblies is a good way to start the day off, according to: 1) Ethel Brown, Randy Meier 2) The senior class 3) pep band 4) senior cheerleaders 5) seniors 6) Gary Vest 7) pep band 8) junior class 9) junior girls 10) seniors 11) Jeff Sharpe.

A crowd gathers, the band is present, and the poms are ready for a traditional song of "Rio" as another Jefferson pep assembly opens.

Rival grades simultaneously break down into separate chants. Actionwear ranging from nerds to Army fatigues speckle the class sections worn by spirited J-Hawks.

Throughout the year, assemblies provide a time to honor and introduce athletes and also a time to bring together the many students to show off their school spirit.

No matter what grade you're in, sophomore, junior, or senior, a pep assembly is a time that anyone can enjoy, and remember for many years to come.

Enthusiastic

The spirit shines in 1986

Glory days

Got that spirit yeah man, so let the J-Hawks show it —GO—GO—GO—GO—GO!

The excitement builds as the competition yells become more intense and competitive. The crazy faces and clashing clothing add to the excitement of the assembly.

From football to basketball games, to mixers or special events, the spirit of our school is shown everyday by enthusiastic students.

Cheerleaders feel that pep assemblies are becoming very popular among students.

Regarding her opinion on pep assemblies, senior Kristy Petersen stated, "Pep assemblies are really fun because I like to see the classes compete in the yell for best spirited class—as long as the seniors win!"

From dressing up wierdly to cheering at games and pep assemblies, J-Hawk students show their true spirit: 1) Spirited seniors, 2) Shelly VanBogart, 3) Tom Welsh, Kurt Peters 4) Jodie Slaman, Lisa Skaggs, Shelly Topinka, 5) Students at a volleyball game, 6) Students at a mixer, 7) Jeffy J-Hawk, juniors, 8) Brian Kaliban, Mark Weber, 9) Heidi Heese, Jill Sommers, Hope Haidin, 10) Brian Freese, Dan Schmidt, Bob Clark, Jason Miller, 11) Juniors at a football game.

True J-Hawk fans

J-Hawk students show their school spirit by attending football games, West Side Delegation concerts, and mixers.

The ever-so-popular football games had the best crowds. Here girls watched their favorite guy and the students cheered on their favorite team to victory. "It's a fun place to get away and be with friends," revealed senior Kathy Smock, concerning football games.

Dressing up crazy, with a wild hair do, is what you would see while attending a Jefferson mixer. Some popular themes were the 50's, Beach Party, and Morp. "Attending mixers gives me a chance to dress up and get wild," replied senior Tammy Steele.

Basketball games, along with wrestling, attracted many crowds. Kim Sullivan, senior, commented, "Winter events helped make the term go faster, because there is never anything to do."

The spirit of the students has always shown through when supporting their fellow students, be it at fund raising, mixers, or for extra-curricular activities.

These students enjoy attending school sponsored events: 1) Doug Wise and Parrish Copeland 2) Seniors at the Beach Party 3) Day Barnes and Dan Putnam 4) Jody Rayman and Stacey Edgeton 5) Band and flag members in Florida 6) Dave Rasmussen and Dave Vanous 7) Fans at a basketball game.

Excitement and happiness are expressed on these smiling faces of students who attended the WPA dance: 1) Lisa Bush and date 2) Joni Eirp and date 3) Senior WPA King, Gene Sund 4) Junior WPA King, Brian Phillips 5) Tammy Turner and Mike Fredrick.

Kings reign

As March rolled around, the girls at Jefferson became very nervous. Butterflies and sweaty palms set among them as they thought of asking that special guy to the popular W.P.A. (Women Pay All) Dance. It involves the gals taking the guys out for dinner and covering all of the expenses.

Friday, March 14, the W.P.A. Dance was held, including the crowning of three kings. The dance was held in the cafeteria, and carried out the theme song, "This Could Be The Night."

Senior Scott Mihal said, "It was great, porking out and not having to pay." W.P.A. will always be a favorite event for guys.

Senior Randy Meier flashes a "peace" sign while being escorted to his seat.

"I'm Your Man," was faintly heard among the students at the February 21 WPA assembly. The gym was full of anxiety as everyone, especially the guys, awaited the announcement of the WPA candidates. The girls screamed as five sophomore, five junior, and ten senior guys were escorted to their seats at the front of the gymnasium.

As each candidate was escorted to their seat, they were given a question. Once all the names were announced, the student body enjoyed a laugh as the candidates turned red and answered as best as they could. Some of the questions asked were, "If you had three wishes, what would they be?", "What is your favorite TV program and why?", and a favorite of the students was when one sophomore, one junior, and one senior candidate were each given a flower and then was asked to give it to the girl of their choice. That was one question which made three young ladies very happy.

Steve Potter, sophomore candidate, admitted that he was, "surprised and happy," when his name was called because, "no one knew me before this year." There were a lot of surprised and happy people following the WPA assembly.

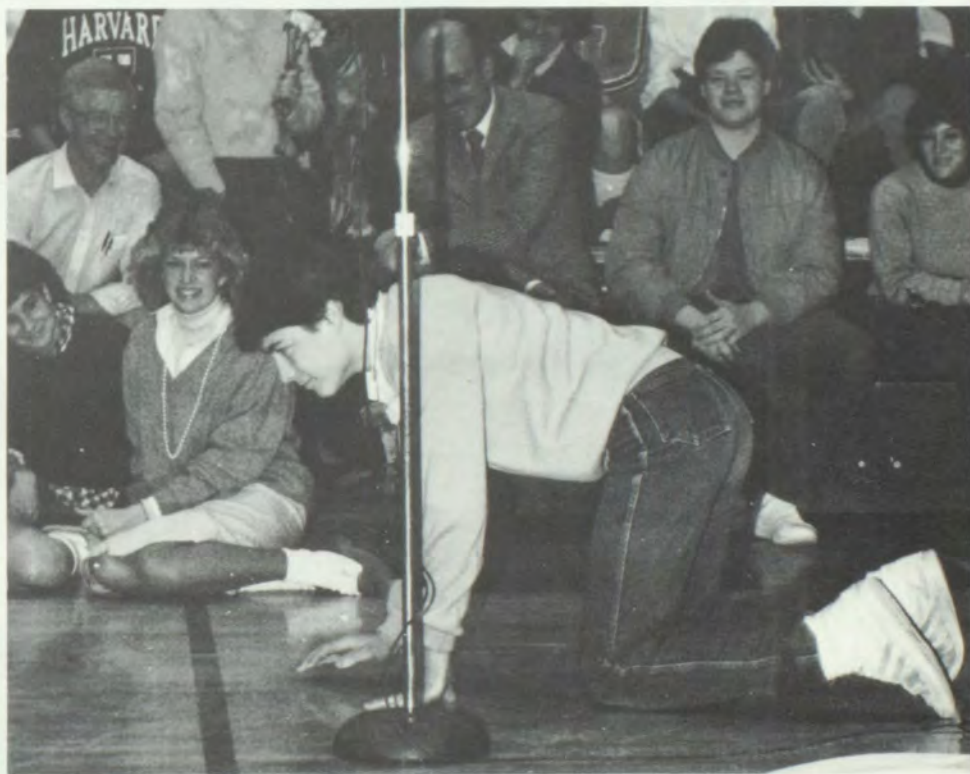

WPA is always a highlight of the school year because the guys get to sit back and wonder when and if they'll be treated to dinner and the dance by the girls.

Finally, near the end of the evening, the twenty candidates are escorted forward and from them three kings are crowned, each representing their respective class.

Men are loved

At the WPA assembly, the audience anxiously awaits Brian Kaliban's response to a question.

Jefferson mixers were filled with hot hits and fun times ... 1) Teresa Beers 2) Dave Reid, Troy Cook, and Angel Langguth 3) Damon Robinson and Dave Rasmussen 4) Stacie Cutler, Debbie Greiner, Kris Smith, and Christy Stucker 5) Juniors and seniors 6) Shelly Van Bogart and Kori Foss 7) Angie Bucklin 8) Jim Schafer and Tammy Thomas 9) Tina Hoffon, Hope Haidin, Kari Stieger, and Robin Becker.

Dressed to dance

Sigh. Another boring night with absolutely nothing to do, right? Wrong! Jefferson cured the weekend blahs this year with ten fun-filled mixers.

Most of the mixers weren't just any ordinary dance. There was a sock hop, a nerd dance, the 60's revival dance, and the second year of Morp. That's the dance where prom is spelled backwards and everything is done opposite. The most popular of all the mixers, however, was the beach party.

Most mixers were given after girls' or boys' basketball games. Mixers started at 9:30 p.m. and lasted until 11:30 p.m. The cost to go to a mixer was $2.

Most students have preferred the music played by disc jockeys instead of bands. Senior Kim Sullivan explained, "I like having a D.J. because they play the songs that students request."

Junior Denise Campbell stated, "Mixers are a good chance to be out with your friends and it's the only time to hear music at a high amplitude, without getting in trouble with your parents."

Mr. Walt Hartman, the leader of Student Council, said, "The average mixer brings in anywhere from $250 to $700, depending on the theme, etc."

Students always seemed to have a rockin' good time at all the mixers.

Casual look is in

This year's styles were not new to the fashion scene. Paisley prints, antique jewelry, and brooches made their return, and were teamed with new waves such as stirrup pants and hairem pants.

The exercise enthusiast wore Reebok tennis shoes with a very popular college sweatshirt.

"When I'm working out or feel casual, I'm comfortable in a sweatshirt and tennies," commented senior Susie Davis.

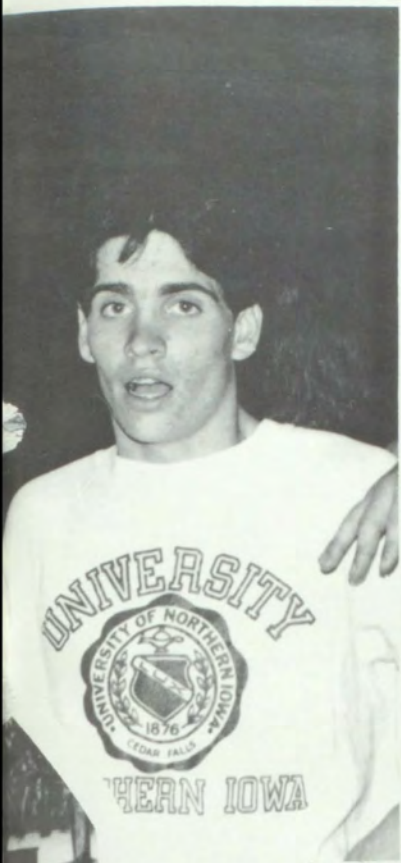

Spring brought bold, bright, tropical patterned shorts and shirts. Mirrored sunglasses were a hot item to top off that wild and crazy outfit. Huaraches were seen on feet everywhere.

"I put fashionable clothes together in a way that makes my own personal style," said junior Jody Sommers, on stylish clothes.

Showing off many of this year's fads and fashions are: 1) Kris Ramsey 2) Doug Fifield and Dan Beltz 3) Hope Sims and Gene Sund 4) Dawn Dyer and Parrish Copeland 5) Scott Waybill 6) Jill Karr 7) Doug Nejd

Spare time

At three o'clock the school doors open and hundreds of anxious J-Hawks bound out into the parking lots and rush off towards their after school destinations.

Some kids go straight home while others make a beeline for Westdale Mall or one of the many fast-food establishments. To occupy their free time during the week, many take part time jobs. Suzi Sullivan, junior, who works at Whirla Whip and Dairy Queen, remarked,

"I like my jobs because they keep me busy during the week and I'm able to meet people and also make a little extra money."

On the weekends, things pick up and students make plans to go out. Movies have always been a popular pastime for students on Friday and Saturday nights. Another activity is attending a school sports event.

No matter what, the true blue spirit always shines through.

When the last bell of the day sounds, students can be found keeping themselves busy in many different ways: 1) Beach bums 2) Ted Smith 3) Jim Schafer 4) Kim Sullivan 5) Amy Fulton and Brian Martin 6) Parrish Copeland 7) Jill Karr 8) Kelli Brauer 9) Gary Meythaler.

A year in review

During the year, the world experienced many joys and sorrows.

The Middle East was a source of terrorism. Bombings, killings, and hijackings against Americans caused the U.S. to bomb Libya. Encouragement came with the planning of Summit talks between the U.S. and U.S.S.R.

The public became more aware of the disease AIDS when actor Rock Hudson died from the disease. An event that saddened all was the explosion of the space shuttle Challenger which killed all seven crew members aboard.

The Donahue show was filmed at the Five Seasons Center to inform the country of the farm crisis. Meanwhile, fire at the Cedar Rapids sewage plant caused the evacuation of many families.

On the home front, Jefferson was honored by receiving the Excellence in Education award from the federal government.

And . . . Halley's comet came.

These events stand out while looking back at the 1985-86 school year: 1) Pete Rose broke Ty Cobb's career hitting record. 2) Explosion of the space shuttle Challenger, which killed all seven crew members. 3) Two Royals embrace each other after winning the World Series. 4) Christa McAuliffe, a high school teacher, folds her training uniform before she began training for her trip into space, which ended in disaster. 5) A jetliner crashed near Dallas, killing 137 people aboard. 6) Chicago Bears Jim McMahon and kicker Kevin Butler on the sidelines during Super Bowl XX. 7) A resident of Armero is helped by the Colombian Red Cross during digging out efforts after a mud slide.

Studies

Geo Hintz
Editor

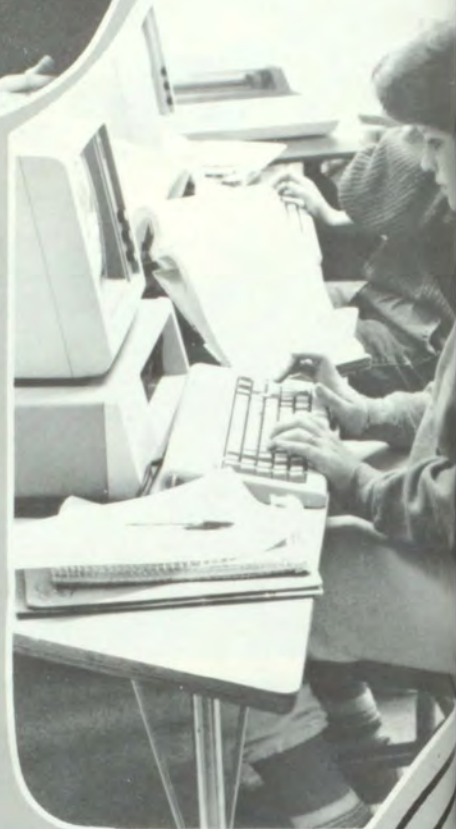

Other than what movie is playing at the theatre and who's going out together this weekend, students at Jefferson have a special concern for their studies program. Every student is aware that high school is the beginning of your future and preparing for your future is a part of high school.

Teachers and students worked hard together to achieve the goals students had set for themselves. Maintaining a high grade point average is a very important aspect to a student's academic future.

Those seeking a future in college depend on both their letter grades and grade point average as a basis of acceptance to the college of their choice. Sure, a lot of students think studying is a waste of time, but in the long run, who has the advantage?

The hard cold facts: you need 202.5 credits to graduate, of which 90 are elective classes and 112.5 required. Without the right number of credits you can't graduate.

Students and teachers work hard in class and show a lighter side to studying: (1) Dr. Jacobson, (2) Casey Scriven (3) Jeff Schwab, (4) Karen Boyd, (5) Mr. Gibbs and Jim Harrington, (6) Mike Blom and Jeff Stubbs, (7) Shelley McMurrin, (8) Mr. Reed, Mr. Kenney, and Mr. Hoeppe, (9) Robin Accola, (10) Tarol Bell.

Jeff McAllister, sophomore, keeps himself busy by working hard on his research paper in the IMC.

Bob Surret, junior, takes time out from his study period to show off his pearly whites and greet a fellow classmate.

During his break for lunch, Marlow Green, senior, pauses to talk to a friend.

Miss Sandy Macy helps students in her ceramic class learn a new technique that they will later be expected to use.

Smile pretty!

Jodi Linscheid, senior, makes a stop at her locker after a long day of classes.

Spending time at school can be fun if you make it.

Being with friends always seems to make the day go faster, like walking down the halls together, sitting in the lunchroom, or hanging out in the IMC.

Working on schoolwork is another important part of everyday. To have fun on the weekends, students must finish their work at school, but then they can have fun.

Senior Kelly Smith takes a minute out to relax during the hectic school day rush.

Seniors, Mark Hartman, Brian Kaliban, and Mark Weber ham it up before the start of the beach party mixer.

Senior Jake Wyatt speaks quietly to Dave Hruska, junior, in the IMC.

Unforgettable time

It's getting close to 8:20, and there's a hectic rush to get to class. It's the start of another school day.

A few lost students straggle behind and are left to wander the halls.

In the foyer, late comers congregate around the vending machines and once rewarded with their food move onward to their lockers. Rows of endless lockers stand waiting for students, jam-packed with pop cans and plastered with their favorite pictures.

As the day wears on, students move to the library to work on homework or sit quietly reading magazines to take their minds off their troubles.

Moving down the empty hall the sounds of language arts, science, and art classes can be heard.

Back downstairs, the cafeteria is slowly filling up. Keeping a good sense of humor always helps in the cafeteria. Whether you congregate there to talk about the latest gossip or eat a nutritious meal, the lunch room is the best place to meet your friends.

We've reached the end of our tour. You've seen all of Jefferson in a few short lines. Go ahead and look around.

Liz Zentz, Michelle Skvor, and Sharlene Moss find it easy to study with friends in the library.

Caught by surprise, Stacia Meade's smile is captured by the photographer.

Lunch is that special time to enjoy the company of friends. Here David Quentin, Brian Severson, Marty Happ enjoy each other's company.

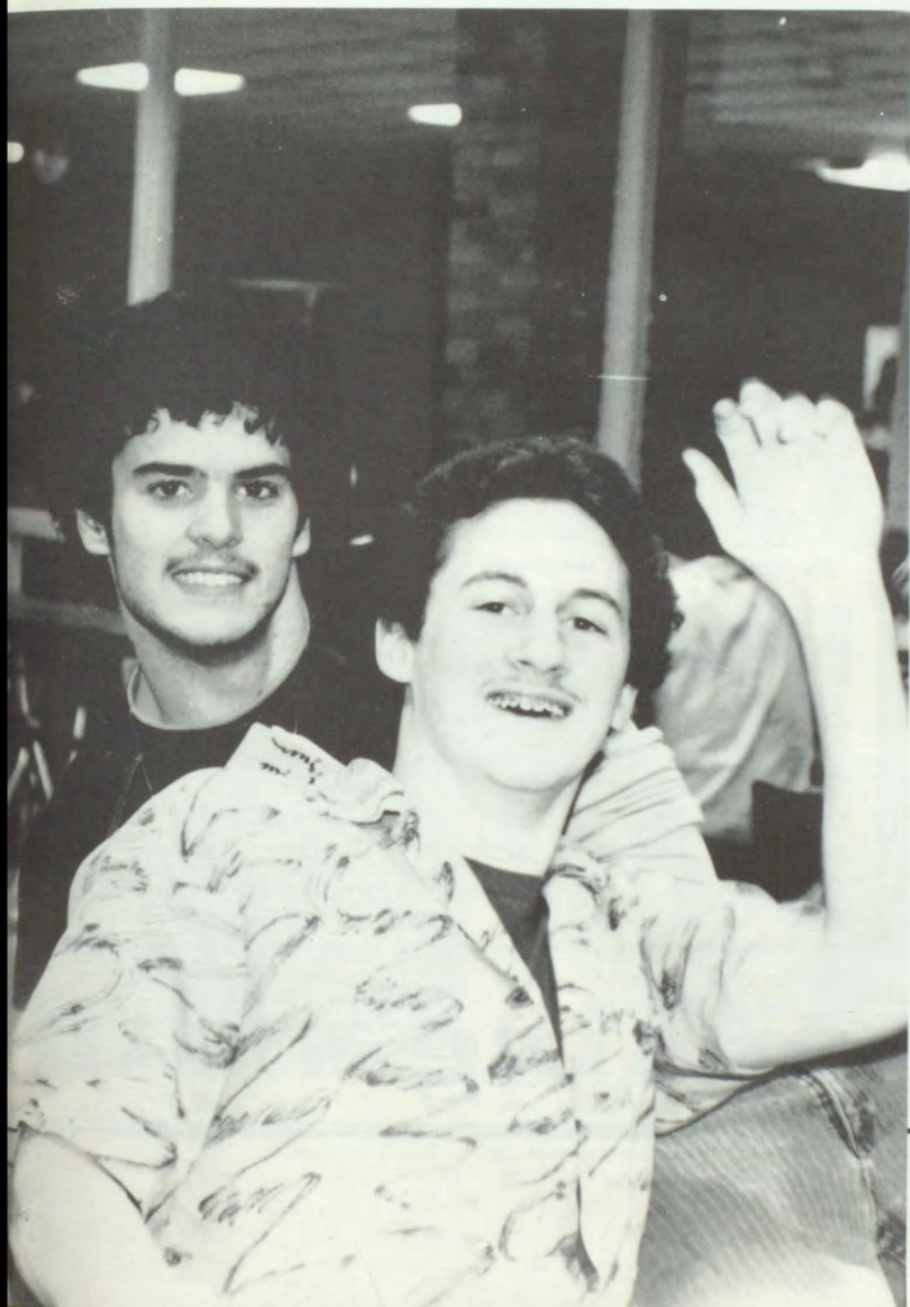

Steve Haugse and Mr. Robert Becker discuss the findings of an in-class chemistry experiment.

Mr. Jim Gibbs demonstrates a scientific principle to his Physics students.

Finding a way to relax, junior Don Gandy sits comfortably in the library while reading for enjoyment.

Books open many doors

As the bell rings signifying the beginning of another school year, many sophomores check their class schedules. If they're lucky they might be able to fit in one elective class a term. Juniors can wipe a little sweat off their brows, but the majority of their classes are still required subjects. Seniors worry least about required classes because they have most of them safely tucked away.

Elective classes expand students interests. An elective class can help a student make a career decision. There are many different electives one can take such as Yearbook Design, sewing, and typing. Seniors and juniors have to take 90 hours of additional elective courses. Starting this year, sophomores have only 50 hours of electives.

A new school year brings many challenges to students and teachers attending Jefferson: 1) Mike Everhart 2) Kathy O'Connell 3) Mr. Dirk Dunbar 4) Sandy Mercer 5) Dave Simmons and Joe Alderman 6) Clayton Black, Darryl Bondorf, and Mary Baloch 7) John Rinderknecht, Ed Quentin, Heather Merrick, and Maria Sasek 8) Brian Martin 9) Members of choir 10) Shelly Bozanek 11) Annette Sloan 12) Kristan Dalecky

Mr. Gorden Maney watches over Brian Martin as he checks for a brake problem in his automotive class.

Kerry Danford, Jennifer Saathoff, and Wendy Saylor took a sewing class to improve their skills in this area.

A new policy allows these seniors in Mr. Dick Briggs' homeroom to enjoy homeroom twice a week.

During their physics class, Steve Haugse and Matt Zentz work on an experiment involving the wheel.

Extra hours added

Juniors and seniors consider yourselves lucky, you only have to take 112.5 credit hours. Sophomores, however, have to take 152.5.

Required classes are those courses that the school board demands all students take to graduate from high school.

Board members have stated that students are receiving diplomas, but are not learning things to help them later in life.

This year's sophomores have an added 15 credits to language arts, 10 credits to social studies, and 15 credits to any other classes.

Mr. Robert Vrbicek and his wife help collect $200 at the T & I mixer, which was donated in part to the Taylor Rehabilitation Center.

Students flood the main hallway of Jefferson High School as they pass to classes after lunch.

It could be said that the 1985 edition of the "Big Blue Wrecking Crew" fumbled away its dreams of becoming Mississippi Valley Conference champions, thanks to Mother Nature.

When asked what comes to mind first from the season, Head Varsity Coach Bill Calloway replied, "I will remember most the hard work and effort put into the practices." The varsity team definitely worked hard to end up 3rd in the Valley. Despite the tough season, the J-Hawks pride shown through.

Seniors Matt Usher, quarterback, Randy Meier, halfback, and junior fullback Damon Robinson combined for an average of 166.4 rushing yards per game, which ranked second in the Valley. Meier was chosen first team all-conference.

The defense consisted of nine starting seniors, with two of them, Brian Kaliban and Jason Hunt, being selected for the first team All-Conference. Calloway thought inexperience played a major role in the inconsistency of the team.

The sophomores' season was much the same. As Head Sophomore Coach Jack Fisk said, "There wasn't a game we played that we were completely out of."

Their tough luck was proven in their seven games that were lost by one touchdown or less. There will be many players who will help next year's varsity squad. Although Coach Ron Schirm was not satisfied with the win-loss record, he commented, "If they learned enough, then they will help make the J-Hawks conference contenders in 1986. I'm satisfied. The team started the season selfish, expecting the coaches to do all the work. As the season progressed, the team became less selfish and showed good desire and stamina to win. Never giving up, the entire team was eager to compete and did well in most every game."

During the 1985 football season, the J-Hawks struggled through many tough elements and opponents. The Mississippi Valley Conference proved to be one of the toughest in the state once again this year. With a schedule that included three top-rated teams in writers' and coaches' polls and weather that ranged from the mid-90's to the wet, rainy mid-40's, it was a very tough year.

Although the win-loss records were a disappointment, through the eyes of both the sophomore and varsity coaches, the seasons were successful.

Hustle pays off

Hustle—an energetic effort to accomplish a common goal. For the 1985 volleyball team, a successful season was the product of sacrificial attitudes and great improvement during the off season.

During the season "We can and we will" was often heard as the slogan for the volleyball team. Dedication, defense, work, sportsmanship, and the ability to never give up were qualities that this "family" possessed, proving that these J-Hawks were winners.

Coach John Weld commented,

"At the end of the 1984 season I was pretty optimistic about the 1985 team." However, there were improvements made from a year ago. The idea that all of the players worked hard during the off season was a common feeling. This year's team was very defensively oriented overall.

The varsity squad earned a lot of honors. Lisa Sonka captured the MVP award while also being named captain. Cheryl Ludvick and Lisa Skaggs led the J-

Hawks defensively, while Karen Bowden had the best attitude throughout the year. Sonka recorded 158 blocks and Penny Potter had a 72.4 per cent serve reception which stood for school records.

Meanwhile, the sophomores had their work cut out for them. With a rough schedule and a few bad breaks they still managed to finish third in the conference with rival Washington.

"Potentially this was probably the best team I've ever had even though we ended up with a losing record," commented veteran Sophomore Head Coach Jim Cox.

Like most competitors Coach Cox had his goals. He set major goals as the season progressed. His main goals were as follows: going undefeated, and winning the Metro tournament. Even though neither of the goals was met the season was still a success.

Four hours and 320 laps a day, six days a week, adds up to about 32,000 yards swam by the girls' swim team in an average week of practice. But all of these yards and early morning practices really paid off at the season's end.

The J-Hawk swimmin' women swam to a seventh place spot at the state meet. This ranking pleased Coach Taylor, who was hoping for a place in the top ten. "I think we had a good season and also good attitudes," Coach Taylor reflected.

School records were broken by Chris Simmons, diving; Karla Freshour, 500 free; and Keri and Karla Freshour, Heather Merrick, and Kim Blackwell, who teamed up to break the 400 free relay record with a time of 3:48.34.

A lot of hard work and loyal dedication really paid off for the Jefferson swimmin' women, who had one of the most successful seasons in years, as a result of their hard work and dedication.

Teams' motto is 'run to victory'

Exhaustion and excruciating pain are two favorite words of a self-disciplined cross country runner. What does a runner get out of it? It all boils down to "Pride". A sense of achievement, and knowing that they have finished a two mile course, even though they didn't place in the top ten.

The season began with only six girls determined to be number one. Although they were the underdogs, Coach Larry Nolting replied, "Size doesn't matter, we had the right four runners out." Returning lettermen Lisa Shaver, senior, and Denise Campbell, junior, led Jefferson to a victory over Dubuque Wahlert.

With the goal of becoming conference champions, the mens' cross country team accomplished the unexpected. The men captured a third place finish at the MVC meet, and placed second at the district meet, not to mention a remarkable fifth place finish at the state meet. The J-Hawks were led by returning lettermen Rick Jacobs, senior, and Jerry Ernst and Jeff Wright, juniors.

Beat 'em

"The J-Hawk team means victory; any way you spell it! V-I-C-T-O-R-Y . . . Yell it!"

Cheerleading, there's more than meets the eye. Cheerleading is a time consuming sport. There are many responsibilities to being a cheerleader. Each squad, ranging from 6 to 12 girls, practices every week.

Smiles shine on each face as the sparkling pep and spirit of the cheerleaders encourage the crowd at pep assemblies and events to support the J-Hawk teams.

Junior Penny Potter stated, "I had a lot of fun. It's worth the time when the team does well."

These cheerleaders show their school spirit in a variety of ways: 1) Kelly Rowles, 2) Sophomore football cheerleaders, 3) Sophomore boys' basketball cheerleaders, 4) Varsity girls' basketball cheerleaders, 5) Varsity football cheerleaders, 6) Varsity wrestling cheerleaders, 7) Shelly Hewitt and Kris Pilling, 8) Joni Eirp, Debbie Hulbert, and Dawn Augustine, 9-10) Varsity football cheerleaders, 11) Denise Musel, 12) Shelly Van Bogart, 13) Amy Fulton.

Three make state

Despite a 6-6 dual meet record, head coach Dick Briggs believed the 1985-86 team was one of the hardest working he has ever coached. Briggs stated, "They were outstanding workers, but certain circumstances occurred that were out of the wrestlers' hands and out of my control."

One of these circumstances was the loss of three time letter winner Scott Mihal, who sat out most of the season with a broken collar bone. The dependable 145 pounder Dean Spicer also had to sit out at districts because of an illness. The season had many ups and downs, but everyone managed to come out of it on top.

The demand for leadership was shared by many wrestlers. Seniors Paul Arthurs, Mark Hartman, Scott Mihal, and many others, kept the team right on track throughout the season. Arthurs was in his first year as a varsity line up regular and spent the whole season rated in the top three in the state.

Pin for a win

"I finally got my act together this year. I worked hard in the off season and when it came time for the season, things just started going my way," Paul said.

Junior Greg Garman also had a good season. Greg was the district champion and coach Briggs was very impressed with his trip to the state tournament.

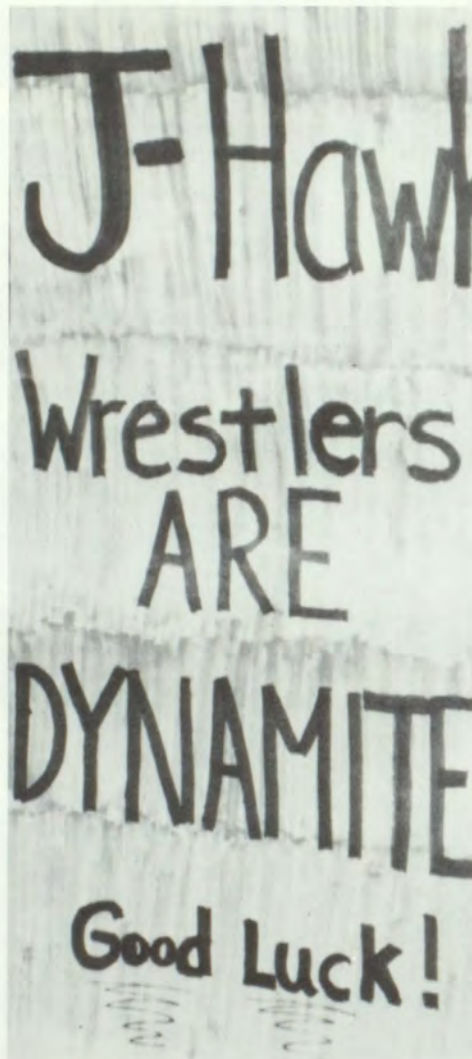

"It's unbelievable how tough he was when it came to the district tournament. He manhandled a kid that had beaten him by 15 points during the season. That's rising to the occasion."

Once again the J-Hawks carried on a winning tradition. Dedication and a positive attitude surpassed the hard times felt by the team. Many goals were reached and many tough opponents were defeated. Each Jefferson wrestler will have memories of a winning team and will keep an endless winning attitude.

Will to win

If one word was chosen to describe the 1985-86 boys' basketball squad, that word would be "EXCITING."

Although their season record wasn't perfect at 9-11, the majority of the games they lost were close or almost heartbreakers.

"There were several games when we had a chance to win, but we never seemed to get over the hump," stated head coach Don Ziegler.

Senior Mike Ivester was unanimously named to the first team in conference and Metro play. Ivester was also selected fourth team All-State by the Des Moines Register. While Matt Wall was named to the second team in Metro play, Matt Usher was noticed as one of the top defensive players.

The J-Hawks finished tied for fifth with City High with a 7-7 conference record. They finished third in the Prairie Tournament.

They also posted impressive wins over Dubuque Hempstead and Washington. "Those wins led to a higher level of play for us for the remainder of the season," remarked coach Ziegler.

The J-Hawks were very competitive and an exciting team to watch, which resulted in increased attendance at the games. The largest crowd to see a J-Hawk game in recent years was this year's Kennedy-Jefferson game which attracted 2,400 people.

Two of the most exciting games of the year were the Linn-Mar and Kennedy district tourney games.

Although the J-Hawks dropped the Linn-Mar game in the final forty seconds by two points, most fans would agree it was a thriller. In another barn-burner against Kennedy, the J-Hawks put up a shot with seven seconds to go, but it didn't fall and Jefferson went down to defeat by only one point.

The sophomore boys' basketball team, coached by Joe Benedict, had more success than their record revealed. "We seemed to practice well, but were unable to carry it over into our games. This was my first team that had thirteen guys compete in practice and make each other work harder."

Girls come close

Ending the regular season with a 20-2 mark was just the stepping stone for the girls' varsity basketball team. The lady J-Hawks also won the Metro Tournament and shared the Mississippi Valley Conference title with Dubuque Wahlert. They ended up with a 10-2 record in the Valley.

There were many high points during the season, one coming when the girls came from behind by thirteen points to defeat cross town rival Washington by three points. Another was Robin Becker's desperation shot at the buzzer to give the J-Hawks a victory over the Kennedy Cougars, 56-54. "Winning the conference title was my favorite high point of the season," commented Robin.

Robin Becker made the All-Conference and All-Metro teams for the second year in a row. Robin Threatt and Roxanne Lee made the second team All-Conference, and Threatt also made first team All-Metro. Juniors Hope Haidin and Kari Stieger received honorable mention in both areas.

Toward the end of the season, the team had a bout with the flu. Coach Larry Niemeyer stated, "During the week of illness we had to recruit some softball players. There just weren't enough girls to practice with or do any drills with."

The sophomores unfortunately didn't have the same luck as the varsity girls. Finishing with a 2-15 record overall and 2-10 in the conference, the team may not have had the greatest record of past teams, but they had tons of determination. The girls never gave up, even when they were behind by a large margin. That dedication made the season less disappointing. The girls were coached by Mark Stewart.

Great!

Jim Taylor's 13th year as the head coach of the J-Hawk men's swim team proved once again to be a good one. The J-Hawks finished second at the conference meet in both varsity and sophomore categories behind number one rated Cedar Rapids Washington. The J-Hawks finished their dual meet season at 6-3.

It was only through hard work that the team made it that far. Practice started at 6:30 a.m. and then again at 3:30 p.m. It totaled over three hours of actual swimming per day, five days a week, plus two hours on Saturday.

This went on for about four months with each swimmer doing over ten thousand yards of actual swimming, plus 40 hours of weight training.

Head coach Jim Taylor, with his three assistants, Les Santee, Terry Strait, and Brian Reeves, had to deal with a few problems along with all the glory, however. The team lost three varsity swimmers for various reasons.

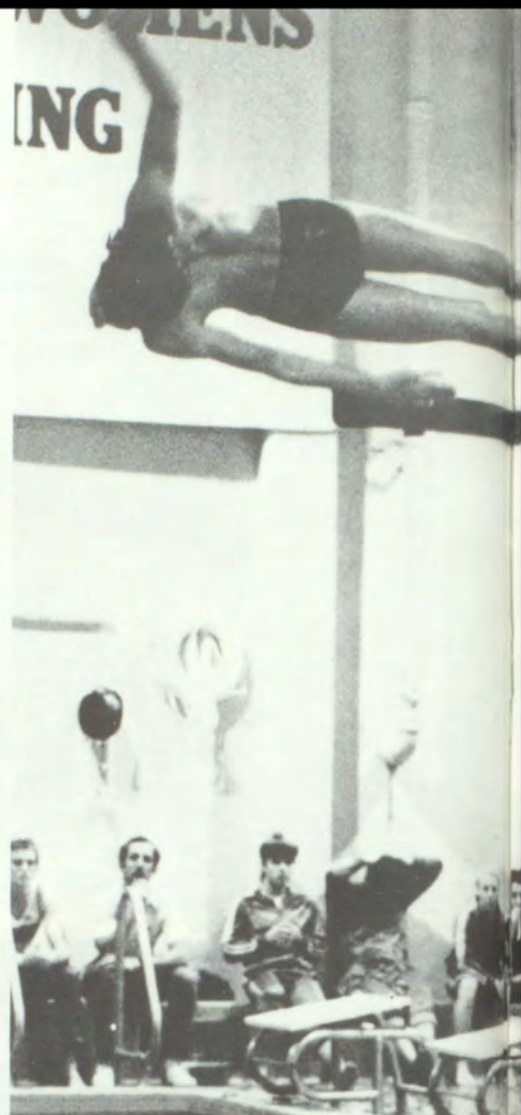

Taylor stated that out of 24 swimmers, 15 are freshmen and sophomores which promises good swimming in the years to come.

"In spite of the loss of three varsity swimmers, our team had many great accomplishments. This is what is considered a banner year," head coach Jim Taylor remarked.

Ask your average student if he or she is going to Tuesday's gymnastics meet and you may meet with a shocked stare.

Led by third year head coach Rhonda Frey, the girls soon found themselves as high as eighth in the power ratings. When asked what the power ratings meant to her, Frey said, "It gives you an idea how everyone is doing. We were up there, but we could have done better."

With the team consisting of not one senior, Frey was very happy with the girls overall performance. "We always gave it our best shot."

Showing their talents in the Metro meet, junior Wendy Feiereisen placed first in vaulting. Junior Tina Cameron finished atop her competition on the uneven bars. The girls finished fourth in the meet. With not much experience going into the season you might say the girls did rather well.

Guys work hard

With fifteen returning lettermen, the J-Hawk men's track team looked to be on top of things. At the beginning of the season, the J-Hawks were expected to finish within the top three in the MVC. They started off by capturing the Loras College Invitational title, and then went on to place seventh at the UNI Dickenson Relays. With the indoor season over, the team lost some momentum entering the outdoor season. Senior Joe Schumacher commented, "I feel we did well early, but then things started to fizzle."

After being picked as one of the top finishers in the conference meet, the team finished a disappointing sixth place. The only conference winner was Dave Vanous in the 400 meter low hurdles. Head coach Ron Schirm remarked, "I feel this year was a disappointment because the kids didn't work up to their capabilities. As a team, we lacked leadership from both seniors and underclassmen. I think we were just shy of being a great team, and we'll plan on a better season next year."

Girls strive

School, metro, and district records all tumbled during the 1986 track season. Lisa Shaver, with a throw of 140 feet 7 inches in the discus, broke the school record, and the metro one as well. Robin Threatt broke the 100 meter dash school and metro records too. The 4x200 and 4x100 relay teams, made up of Denise Campbell, Robin Threatt, Angie Facion, and Julie Davis, broke the school records in both relays and set a new district record in the 4x200.

At Drake, the J-Hawks upset the defending champs, Pleasant Valley, to capture the 4x100 title. Later in the season, the J-Hawks qualified five girls for the state track meet and came home with a third place finish. Senior Lisa Shaver placed 4th in the discus with a throw of 122 feet, senior Julie Davis finished the season with a state title in the 200 meter dash, and sophomore Robin Threatt captured the 100 meter dash state title in 12.49. The 4x100 relay team tied Iowa's all time best at state.

Teams try

The 1986 edition of the J-Hawk men's soccer team finally ended a two year drought without a victory. Davenport West fell victim to the squad in a hard fought 3-2 battle. Under the direction of first year Head Coach Terry Strait the team did slump to a 1 and 13 record though.

Coach Strait was quoted as "confident" about the up and coming soccer program at Jefferson High School. Coach Strait's premonition may become reality in the future due to the J-V squads more impressive 4-6-1 record.

The female soccer team collected one more win than the men's team and ended with a 2-8-1 record. Their victories came against cross town rival Kennedy and newly opened Davenport North. The J-V squad didn't collect a single victory and ended up with a 0-8 record. Senior Dulce Hutton was selected as the top performer on the team which was coached by Mr. Dick Briggs. Things will be looking up for this squad too. They were fortunate to have 17 sophomores and 7 juniors.

Miss Sandy Walton led a very inexperienced group of young female golfers, who recorded a disappointing 0 and 8 record. The extent of the experience was three juniors, none of which had lettered before. Five of the golfers earned a varsity letter. This was Walton's first year as the head coach of the J-Hawk women's golf team.

The men's golf team was also led by a first year head coach, that being Ray Hinkley. The team collected a 3 and 14 record which included a seventh place finish in the metro tournament. Five golfers earned varsity letters, and two were only sophomores. The highlight of the season was a victory over metro rival Prairie.

As the 1985-86 school year came to an end, the J-Hawk baseball team began to prepare for what hoped to be a successful summer season. This year a new rule went into effect that permitted the coach to schedule practices and work with four players one month before the actual first team practice. Also, two seniors and four juniors made the Legion Red Team, so they were working hard for five or six weeks before the first team practice. "So this year's team got a head start on the rest of the competition," noted head coach Joe Kenney.

There were seven returning starters from last year including Matt Usher, Jim Welsh, Chris Kitterman, Chuck Graham, Bryan Craven, Greg Williams and Mike Mims. These are the freshmen who three years ago went 20-1. There were many juniors who had a very successful season as sophomores and were capable of helping out the ball club when needed.

The J-Hawks had a long and tough schedule ahead of them which began with the Metro tournament on May 30. This year's team was younger, but with added experience and some improvement, they hoped to enjoy a very exciting and victorious season.

Catcher Jay Melichar awaits a pitch as the umpire looks on during a second round game in the Metro Tournament.

Play ball

Head coach Larry Niemeyer and the girls' softball team fought to overcome the obstacles of a small roster and a club of newcomers. Even though the team had approximately two weeks to prepare itself for the upcoming season, the girls pushed themselves to reach coach Niemeyer's expectations.

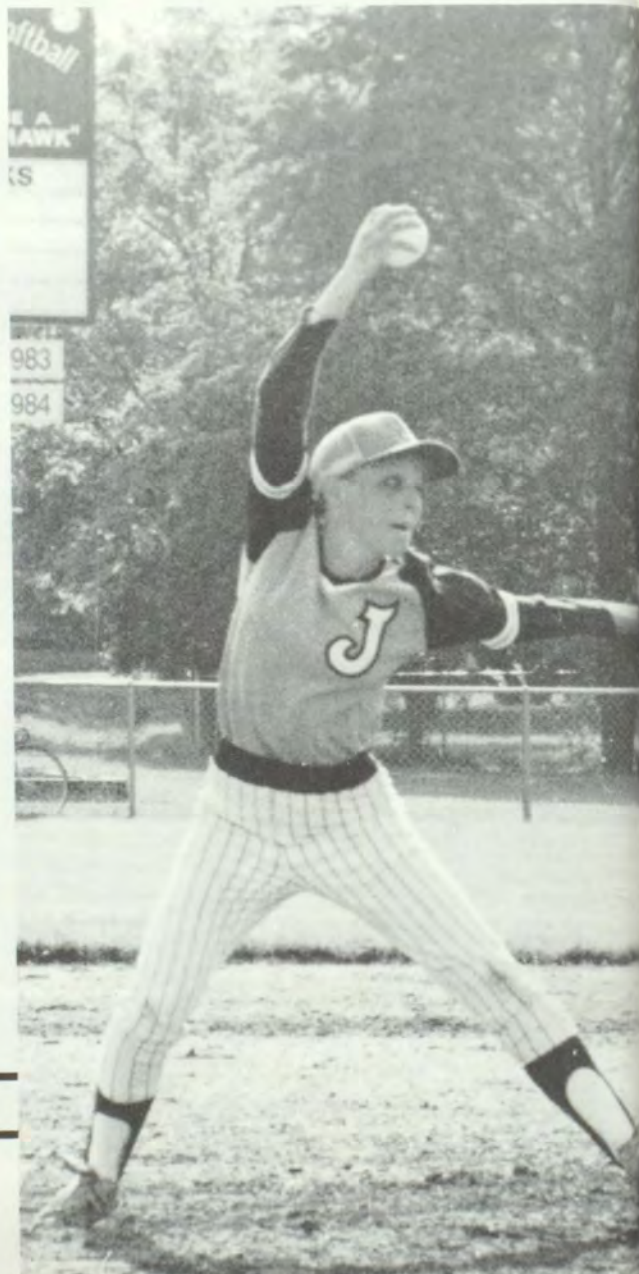

"I believe the major goal for this softball season is to make it to the state tournament," Niemeyer remarked.

He continued, "If the players stay away from injury and if the pitching and catching go as planned, the outlook for the season will be very good."

The varsity girls' softball team played about 70 games this year. When asked why so many games, coach Niemeyer commented that the softball team is two years behind the highly successful softball programs found in smaller towns. He also stated there wasn't a junior high program this year, therefore the eighth and ninth graders needed time to learn how to play the game correctly.

During the season, the J-Hawks hosted three major tournaments, two of which were named after the seniors, Robin Becker and Lisa Shaver.

Dedication, determination, and team spirit were the key factors in the success of the summer campaign.

As Robin Threatt approaches the batter's box, Coach Niemeyer gives her some timely advice.

Desire to win

From cold and frosty football games to hot and humid track meets, J-Hawk athletes and spectators witnessed many successful seasons. Diehard fans provided the support that was necessary in each team's success. Many Big Blue teams ruled the courts, fields, pools, and mats, and everyone associated with Jefferson's sports program had a reason to feel proud.

Points were scored and records were broken. By meeting these goals, these enthusiastic J-Hawks kept the tradition alive of being winners.

Whether it was on a field, court, or in a pool, these J-Hawks had the desire to win: 1) Dean Spicer 2) Shannon Lafferty 3) Chris Kitterman 4) Liz Zentz 5) Damon Robinson and Matt Usher 6) Kari Stieger and Roxanne Lee 7) Tina Cameron 9) Lisa Sonka and Penny Potter 10) Roxanne Lee 11) Chris Cummings and Jay McBurney 12) Becky Betterton.

Clubs

Angie Bucklin

Editor

For those students who were not sports oriented, the clubs at Jefferson were there to satisfy their needs. For the linguistic-minded students, the International Club gave them a chance to study such things as customs from different countries. An added touch to this club was going out to eat at various restaurants which provided a more global view of the world.

The Spirit Club also shined brightly during the year. These students promoted school spirit through making posters and locker signs to bring recognition to the athletes. Mat Maids and Swim Timers also played important roles in boosting team spirit.

Any way that you view it, clubs played a very important part in the school year. J-Hawks demonstrated the undeniable fact that, we really are winners!

Making history...

Before putting down the tooling lines on a final layout, senior Lynn Peacock double checks the preliminary copy.

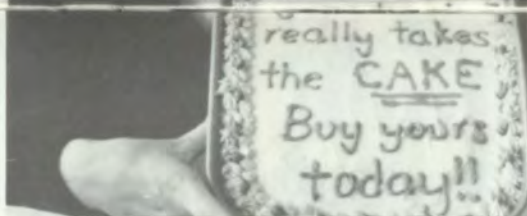

Mr. Ron Smrha, publications advisor, and June Frank, editor-in-chief, guided a staff of 15 editors, 10 photographers, and 65 other staff members through a long, hard eight deadlines.

According to junior Joe Alderman, "The class is hard at the beginning, but as time progresses the class become much easier. If it was another teacher, other than Mr. Smrha, I don't think I would have stayed on the staff; he brings enlightenment to the class."

Designing layouts, creating posters, and typing copy blocks are some of the tasks that each staff member must complete. In order to accomplish these tasks you must use tooling lines, pica rulers, and proportion dials.

According to senior William Hruby, "I'm glad I worked on the staff because it made me feel good."

So you see, working on the Statesman staff may be fun, but it also can be long, frustrating work. Just think, you can say that you helped publish a history book about the people who make-up Jefferson High School.

Practice is perfect for top journalists

Again the Outlook was selected as one of the best newspapers in the United States on the high school level by the National Scholastic Press Association. It was the paper's 19th straight year to be saluted by the Association.

Another honor was that six staff members were selected for membership to Quill and Scroll, an International Honor Society for Journalism Students.

The position of editor-in-Chief was held by senior Maria Elmshaeuser. Maria shared her responsibilities during winter term with Ted Smith and spring term with Jill Nuehring.

The ads staff, under the direction of Karen Moseley, met over and above the quota needed for expenses of the Outlook.

Editors of eleven pages kept track of designing layouts and selecting photos for each page.

Jefferson's other publication was the Offhand literary magazine. Senior Tim Driscoll was the editor with Mr. John Wojtowicz serving as the group's sponsor.

Many events are planned

Lending a helping hand, Sonya Colbert and La Visa Green work at the coat check during the Council sponsored W.P.A. dance.

Planning the activities that take place at Jefferson is up to the Student Council. Many activities must be planned each school year. The main events Student Council plans are all of the pep assemblies, Homecoming assembly and dance, and the WPA assembly and dance. There are other happenings that are also important: planning the elections for the upcoming year, the leadership breakfast, the J-Hawk of the Day, the volleyball tournament, and many mixers. A lot of time is given to planning these events.

President of the Student Council, Kris Brouard; vice-president, Jill Sommers; secretary, Sonya Colbert; and treasurer, Jeff Sharpe all played an active role on the executive board. "All three grades worked very well together," commented Kris Brouard.

"A lot of hard work and time is put in by the students on Student Council."

Junior Julie Miller said, "I really liked being a part of Student Council. It makes school a lot of fun because you get to plan and be in many school events."

Induction gives students reward

National Honor Society is known for recognizing students who have attained leadership, service, character, and scholarship. The Aristotelian Chapter inducted 28 senior and 35 junior members April 21 in the auditorium.

Paul Young opened the night with a welcome, Jody Linscheid spoke words of appreciation, Rick Kellogg gave the history of NHS, and Larry Studt explained the NHS key. Then, Todd Cronbaugh and Alice Means made the inductions, Dr. William C. Jacobson gave remarks, Kelly Smith introduced the speaker of the evening, who was Gary A.

Andy Boysen, one of the new junior Honor Society inductees, receives congratulations from Dr. Jacobson.

Ed Quentin and Heather Merrick were the escorts for the seniors. Dave Wright and Cheryl Ludvick were junior escorts. Pins and cards were handed out by Theresa Tedesco and Tammy Winkler.

The ceremony, which was held on April 21, was hosted by the 31 current members, who were inducted during their junior year.

Being chosen as a member of National Honor Society is a great honor. The present students and the inducted students worked hard to attain this honor.

OE and DECA ... Using skills

Many students at Jefferson are employed by businesses, and also receive grades and credits for working. Students receive specialized training in classes and then use these skills after school at work. In addition to this, Office Education and Distributive Education students organized many charitable activities throughout the year.

Office Education sponsored a Christmas party for the disabled children at Taylor School. While OE students also sponsored a spring tea for their employers.

Distributive Education began this year under new director, Ms. Bev Tesar. DECA participated in a MDA ski-athon and were the top money raising organization.

Versatile

Three groups that met the needs of students were Trade and Industry, International Club, and Media Assistants. These groups helped prepare the student with skills that they could use later in life following graduation.

Trade and Industry is a class that meets daily. The purpose of this group was to explore careers in the work field. A very important part of the class was having speakers and taking field trips to such places as Bruce more and Lefebure. Some speakers that came ranged from the Armed Forces to lawyers. In early December, Trade and Industry sponsored a mixer from which they donated their proceeds to the Taylor Rehabilitation Center.

International Club explored customs and lifestyles of different nations. Fund raisers such as selling calendars and candy bars took place during the year. Outings were taken to restaurants representing different countries.

Media Assistants are students who helped out in the library. They checked out books along with doing a variety of other things. Although they aren't recognized very often, they did play a very important part in helping the I.M.C. run efficiently, noted Mrs. Sharon Miller, librarian.

J-Hawks help out

One way to become involved in school activities is to become a loyal member of a club. Spirit club, Timers, and Mat Maids interest students who are willing to devote extra time to help athletes and their sports. "Mat Maids are very helpful and supportive. They are always at all the meets. They must supply their own transportation to these meets, even if it is in Dubuque," stated wrestling coach Dick Briggs. The responsibilities of a Mat Maid consist of keeping stats, cheering on the wrestlers, and giving each wrestler an orange after their match.

Members of the Spirit Club have the pleasure of being pep pals for many athletes. They decorate their lockers, buy them treats, but the most important thing they do is motivate them to perform to their full potential. Long hours and tedious work were phrases well known by these J-Hawks.

In swimming, every .001 of a second counts. This accuracy falls upon the shoulders of timers. Disqualifying a relay, keeping score of diving, and announcing the events are important duties. Timers also have their own secret pals, which they give little presents or candy.

Although these clubs get little recognition, they are invaluable to the teams. They are not just helping the teams, but they are having fun while doing it. Mat Maids, Spirit Club, and Timers combine for the winning combination.

Fine Arts

Lisa Sopousek
Editor

From Westside Delegation's, "Somewhere Over the Rainbow," to the marching band's Carnival, the sounds that came from these performers were sounds to be heard by all. And if sound wasn't enough the plays put on by the Thespians, and the colorfulness that the Colorguard gave to the band, added a pleasing sight for the eyes.

A single word describes this year's entertainment by the performing arts department and that word is "extraordinary." The actors in each play devoted endless hours to make their characters real to the audience.

"Flowers for Algernon," "Harvey," "Jack and the Beanstalk," and the musical "The Music Man," were all big hits. West Side Delegation sang and danced its way into all our hearts.

Potential is a word that describes all of Jefferson's performing arts students for all have the "potential" to be stars someday.

The Performing Arts Department excelled this year in drama and music: 1) Bedora Sheronick and Dan Clark 2) Cheryl Lane and Sherry Ernst 3) Paul Young 4) Nicola Tomney and Cathy Covington 5) Sondra Steggall 6) Paul Young, Greg Butz, Mr. Geuder, and Jeff Priborsky 7) Darcey Wells 8) Jeff Hegland, Julie Wilson, and Darin Nelson 9) Mary Baloch and Michael Kellerman 10) Tracy Zaiser 11) West Side Delegation.

Work pays

The 1985 Band of Blue was rewarded with top honors at all contests they entered. They received first place at the Marion Invitational, first at the University of Iowa Homecoming parade, and received their seventh straight division I rating at state contest, as well as the highest score of all the 40 bands in attendance.

Drum majors Nicola Tomney and Karen Foster also led the band at five football games, the second annual Five Season's Invitational, and the Band-o-Rama.

Junior Scott Stevens remarked, "The early morning practices got old, but it all paid off!"

Super duo performs together

"Rain, rain go away come again some other day!" This could have been the motto of Jefferson's poms and flags for the fall marching band season. Despite practicing on a muddy field and performing in the rain, the two groups combined to make a winning colorguard.

Practice began for the flags in late August at band camp for three days. Practice continued in the mornings before school throughout first hour during the season.

One major change made this year was the colorguard's outfits and flags made by the parents of the band. The new uniform included a light blue shirt, white pants, and a glittered belt and head band. The pom poms also wore the uniform instead of the usual skirt and sweater.

Many awards were achieved in the 1985-86 year, beginning with pom camp where the squad received the spirit stick and second place. The colorguard and band received a division one ranking at state, were high colorguard at the Marion Invitational, and also performed at the Iowa Homecoming parade. Mr. Dickinson stated, "The record speaks for itself," as he reflected upon the outcome of the season.

Bands add spirit

The crowd stands and begins clapping to the rhythmic beat of the music. Players run onto the court and start doing layups in time with the claps. The pom pom girls perform their routines in the midst of it all. But what is making all of this happen? It is the heart of the Jefferson spirit at home games—it is the J-Hawk pep band! What would any game or assembly be without them? The pom poms would have to hum "Rocky." A static-filled version of the National Anthem would be played over the public address system, much to the fan's dismay.

To be in the Jazz Band one must be a member of the regular band and also have enough time to give to early morning rehearsals. Senior Ed Quentin stated, "I feel that Jazz Band has helped me in working with others to reach common goals."

Both groups have worked hard to make students proud.

Precision

Have you ever pulled into the parking lot by the fine arts wing and began to wonder if you had overslept? Then, as you get out of your car and near the school, you suddenly realize that you have nothing to fear—the Concert Band is just having another early morning rehearsal.

The band returned to one large group again this year after splitting into smaller groups last year. This decision was popular with most band members because it gave them more of a group feeling and promoted unity.

An outstanding Marching Band season led to great expectations for Concert Band. After months of hard work the 100 member band received their award at state contest by achieving their eleventh consecutive Division 1 rating. The band finished the year by playing at graduation on June 6.

Senior Karen Foster commented, "Out of the past three years in band I feel that this year has been our overall best. The friendly atmosphere within the group helped us to pull together and to achieve success."

Musicians excel by using talent

Music is the universal language. Whether it is classical, country, or pop, music has played an important role in the development of students. Orchestra and All-State members had the talent, dedication, and intensity to reach their full potential.

Orchestra has performed at many functions under the direction of Ms. Jackie Halboom. Some of their performances included a concert at Westdale Mall, and appearances at the Metro Orchestra Festival, and the state contest. The Orchestra also toured with the marching band to Florida and on Easter Sunday, they played at a Methodist church. With twenty-four winds, nineteen strings, and the help of 7:30 a.m. rehearsals, the members of orchestra had a very successful year.

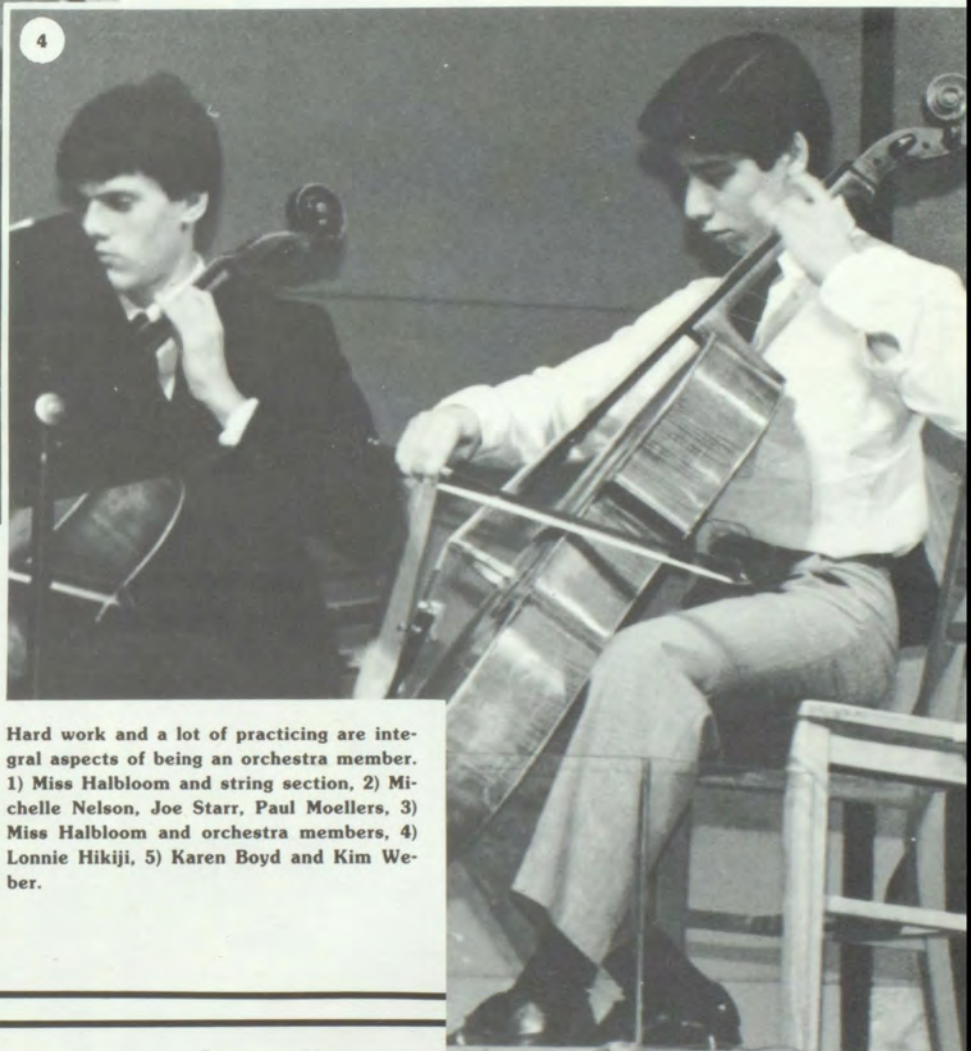

All-State members represented the fine arts department with sixteen students receiving this honor. There were six from band, nine from choir, and one from orchestra that performed at the All-State music festival on November 16. Each member put in several hours of practice and many rehearsals to attain their goal. The talent and determination that they possess make them the top in their field.

Hard work and a lot of practicing are integral aspects of being an orchestra member. 1) Miss Halbloom and string section, 2) Michelle Nelson, Joe Starr, Paul Moellers, 3) Miss Halbloom and orchestra members, 4) Lonnie Hikiji, 5) Karen Boyd and Kim Weber.

Choir excels

As the school year got underway, so did this year's Concert Choir. Under the direction of Mr. Pete Eklund, these gifted singers worked on numerous projects. In October, the choir produced a Christmas album full of popular, oldtime holiday songs. Junior Kori Foss said, "Working on the album was something I'll never forget."

The choir also went to Decorah and participated in a Historian Festival at Luther College. They didn't compete, but listened to some of Iowa's finest choirs. This was an honor for them to be invited.

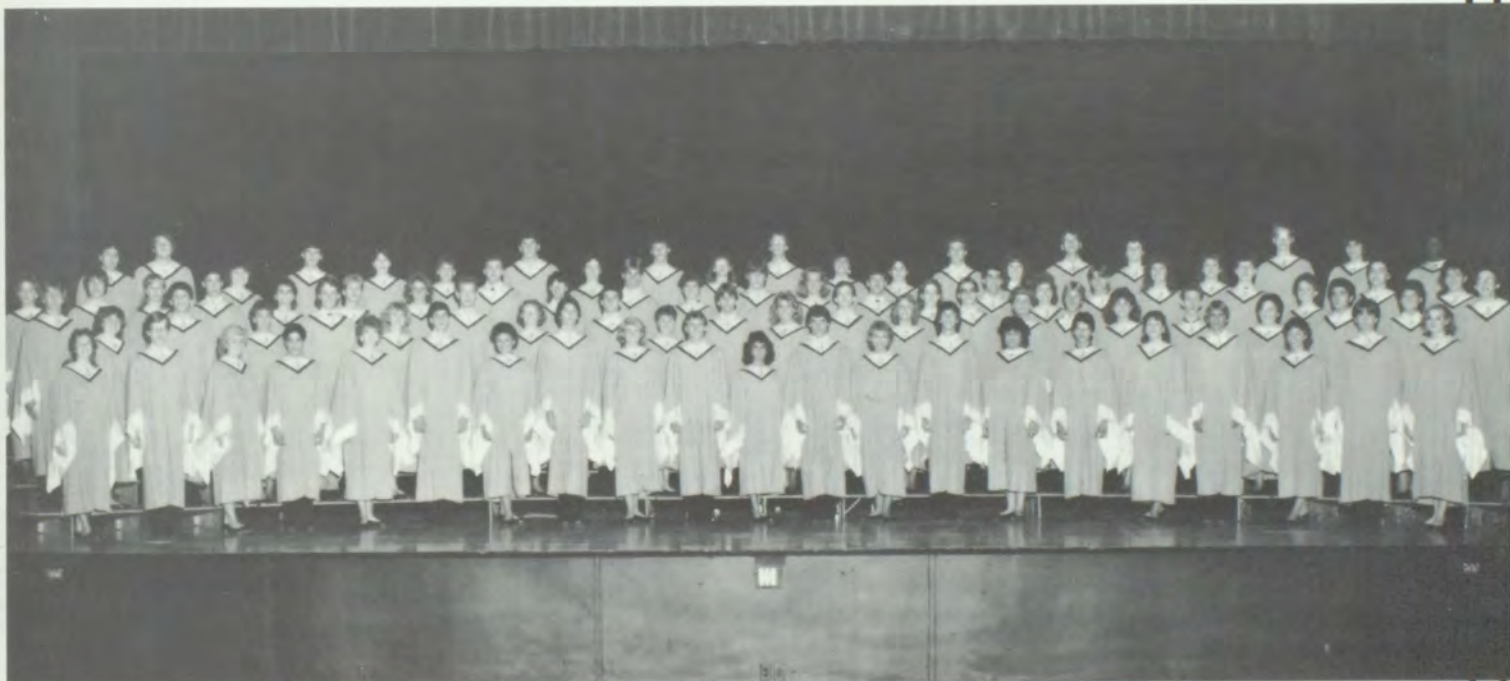

Concert choir also took part in the state large group contest where they received a 1 rating. At state solo and ensemble contest, many students also received 1 ratings.

And who can forget the choir in "The Music Man"! This musical offered many parts for the largest (100 people) choir in Cedar Rapids. Practice and determination produced success.

From recording their Christmas album to presenting the spring musical, "Music Man", these are memories shared by the Concert Choir members: 1) Jenny Koehn, Julie Hearst, Dawn Rogers, and Sherry Ernst 2) Student teacher, Diane Crawford 3) Paul Moellers, Codi Wilkinson, and Mary Novy 4) Jodi Linschied and Mike Kellerman 5) Michelle Hebert and Mike Carney 6) Altos and tenors 7) Sopranos and baritones 8) Greg Morningstar 9) Wendy Hanover and John Tomkins.

Performing at the Christmas Concert, Westside members sing, "Somewhere Over the Rainbow."

Giving it her all, Kelly Smith performs at the all school assembly.

Group sparkles

Once again, the 1985-86 Westside Delegation proved to succeed with another award-winning year. By placing first in their class and by receiving the sweepstakes trophy, they beat over 50 groups in Maryville, Missouri. Westside sparkled in Iowa, too. It was the third year in a row that Westside received another overall sweepstakes trophy at the McDonald's Show Choir Invitational.

After last year's accomplishments with the show choir invitational at Jefferson, director Pete Eklund decided to try it again. The group hosted 20 groups this year, compared to the 12 last year. Westside didn't compete, but performed as the judges were casting their ballots.

Michelle Schroeder, a junior and a first year member stated, "I enjoyed making a lot of friends."

The group caught our attention with sparkling outfits and a fantastic band and crew. So good night, sweet dreams, bye-bye too. This is the finish of our show.

Performing at the PTA Founder's Night banquet, John Cutler and Alice Means prove to be crowd pleasers.

Preparing to sing his solo, "I Heard the Bells on Christmas Day," at the Christmas concert, Jeff Wright awaits his cue.

The halls of the fine arts wing were filled with beautiful sounds during the 1985-86 school year. Jefferson Singers, previously known as Mixed Chorus, met on an every other day or daily basis, depending on one's schedule. This is a group made up mostly of underclassmen and students who like to sing for enjoyment.

Meistersingers had 17 students involved who sang a variety of styles. These styles varied from seventeenth century madrigals to a selection of French pieces. The group entered a contest in Ogden and received two awards, one for getting a number 1 rating and the other for first place. They were selected to perform at the Iowa Choral Directors Convention in July.

Senior Dawn Rogers stated, "I am excited about going and representing Jefferson."

The group performed a lot this year and became well known.

"Perfect Practice Makes Perfect" is the motto these singers strive for: 1) Greg Butz, Victor Patron 2) Jefferson Singers hard at work 3) Julie Doebrmann, Don McDill, Ana Dudley 4) Boys sing out 5) Steve Ehrenberger, Julie Wilson.

With dedication and a smile, these Thespians devote their talents preparing for another excellent season on the Jefferson stage: 1) Dan Swenson, Julie Wilson, and Bedora Sheronick, 2) Paul Young, 3) Paul Young and Kori Klobberdanz, 4) Paul Young, Jodi Ahrens, and Mr. Gueder, 5) Tara Klobberdanz and Linda Hein, 6) Eric Ring, 7) Mr. Gueder.

Together as a team with outstanding talent, the 1985-86 Thespian Troupe 561 set the stage for a successful year. Under the direction of Mr. Bob Geuder, these performers were supported with skillful training during the long hours of rehearsing and perfecting each show.

The group began the year with a trip to Minneapolis where they attended the musical "West Side Story." The induction of new members took place in the spring, and several from the group were honored for their excellent performances on Drama Recognition Night.

The actors displayed dedication in bringing to life four major productions, and applying their skills off-stage helping with make-up, props, and set construction. A dedicated technical crew, led by Mr. Jim Erbe, supervised lighting, sets, and other important behind the scenes tasks.

Play shows hard times

The actors at Jefferson took on a challenge this fall with the production of "Flowers for Algernon." It's a story of a retarded man named Charley (Paul Young) who wants to be smart.

With the help of his teacher (Kori Kloberdanz) he gets his chance, an operation that is made to increase his intelligence, even to a genius level. He takes the chance and it is a success—for awhile. Soon he will be retarded again.

Such a difficult play was chosen because Mr. Robert Geuder, director, felt that the high school plays should challenge the actors.

Both the director and lead praised the supporting cast for good characterization and performing a solid show.

With concern, Jodi Ahrens offers tea to a contemplating Paul Young.

Jeff Priborsky, Karen Boyd, and Paul Young intensely watch Algernon race through the maze.

After an upsetting reunion, Christie Dyrland and Paul Young look upon Robin Clifton with sorrow.

Unaware that Paul Young is his son, Greg Lewis prepares to give a nervous customer a haircut.

Tom Valley, Mary Novy, and Kevin O'Brien question Paul Young about his mysterious operation.

Unwillingly, Lori Lehnherr prepares to meet Paul Young at a social gathering.

LaVisa Green explains to a disappointed Paul Young why she had to fire him.

Julie Wilson explains to a disappointed Dan Swenson that he must sell Millie the cow so they may buy food.

Over Julie Wilson's objection, Dan Swenson disguises himself in an attempt to try to fool the Giant.

Dan Clark flashes his golden egg while Bedora Sheronick peeks over the supper table.

Jeff Piborsky straightens out the confusion between Heather Coon and Steve Ehrenberger in this scene from "Little Miss Muffet."

Heather Coon smiles to Steve Ehrenberger as she offers him some curds and whey.

Giant thrill

Members and crews of the Children's Theater production of "Jack and the Beanstalk" found that making a child smile can be a difficult but enjoyable task when they performed this popular story in February.

This classic tale of a young boy selling his cow for "magic" beans held a total of eight performances, boasting a cast of 20 actors.

Julie Wilson, who portrayed Jack's mother, said characterization was fun and, "The cooperation on the part of the cast and crew helped towards the show's success."

Other characters included: Dan Swenson, Jack; Dan Clark, the Giant; and Christie Dyrland as Play Time Poppy.

Cast members were rewarded for their hard work and talent with the delighted reactions of the children and adults alike who visited with the actors after each performance.

Darren Olson, crew member, also noted, "The kids helped the production to succeed and run smoother. It's not only a play for kids, but it involves them."

Towering high above the audience, Dan Clark realistically portrays the nasty Giant.

While Dan Swenson watches on, Bedora Sheronick checks to see if Dan Clark (the Giant) is really dead.

Harvey performs

It can be said that it involves a lot of hard work and dedication to put together any drama production. The cast of the winter play "Harvey" found a new challenge when the lead for their show was to be a mythical character—an invisible rabbit!

The play centered on Paul Young and his friendship with a rabbit named Harvey. The relationship proved to be an embarrassment for Paul's sister (Julie Wilson) and his niece (Linda Hein). Their attempts to commit him to the Chumley's Rest Sanitarium led to the show's humorous ending.

Directed by Mr. Robert Geuder, the 13 member cast performed to delighted audiences March 20-22.

The actors involved stated that working on a comedy such as "Harvey" proved to be a great experience. "Harvey was easy to work with, memorized quickly, and was friendly to the cast. He was difficult to get used to at first, but once I began holding regular conversations it was a breeze," stated Paul Young.

Performing on the Jefferson stage for the first time, Amy Beeson commented "The laughs never seemed to stop!"

A lot of pulling together on the part of all involved helped to create the character of Harvey and make the show enjoyable.

Sharing a smile, Paul Young takes time to tell Nicola Tomney of his past.

Upset about her uncle Elwood's embarrassing behavior, Linda Hein appears nervous.

As a cab driver, Jeff Hegland, junior, explains that he's seen people change after driving them to and from visits to Chumley's Rest.

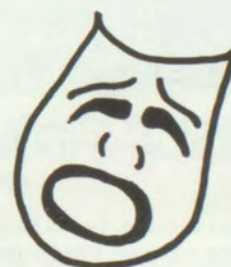

While an attentive Harvey looks on, Paul Young shares a drink and an interesting book.

Paul Young admires a special portrait of himself and Harvey.

Members of the staff at Chumley's Rest Sanitarium look perplexed at an odd hat found by Russ VanderWiel.

Paul Young remains calm in spite of Jeff Priborsky's attempts to hold off an angry Greg Butz.

Professor wins town with song

Christie Dyrland anxiously accepts Russ VanderWiel's invitation to meet him at the footbridge.

After listening to the traveling salesmen, con artist Russ VanderWiel decides to give Iowa a try.

Winthrop, Joe Leavitt, finally receives his long awaited coronet from Professor Harold Hill, Russ VanderWiel.

Russ VanderWiel tries to interest Mrs. Paroo, Tracie Hodina, into starting a Boys' Band.

In an orderly fashion, the Boys' Band makes its first appearance in River City.

The ladies of the Del Sarte Committee practice a Grecian Urn for the ice cream social.

One of America's most popular musicals enjoyed a revival on the Jefferson stage. "The Music Man" conned his way into the hearts of the audience May 9, 10, 16, and 17.

Professor Harold Hill (Russ VanderWiel) captivated the citizens of River City with his loveable antics, only to find himself in love with Marian (Christie Dyrland) the librarian. A spectacular finish—the J-Hawk Band of Blue—marched down the aisles to the tune of "76 Trombones", bringing the packed audiences to their feet.

Russ VanderWiel commented on the show by stating, "It was exciting to act in front of audiences that appreciated the cast and crew's work."

The show was recognized with standing ovations every night. Over 250 dedicated people made this show memorable.

Once enemies, but now friends, the school board sings "Lida Rose" in perfect harmony.

Startled by a firecracker, Eulaine Shinn, Tami Swore, falls into the arms of Mayor Shinn, Paul Young.

Engrossed in the books they're reading, these dancers fail to see the friction between Russ VanderWiel and Christie Dyrland.

Perfection!

What is it that we're livin' for?
Applause! Applause!
And our fine arts department came through—

With memories that ring a sweet tune!

From Flowers for Algernon,

To the Music Man,

Our theater department was really grand.

Our Band of Blue

With the highest ratings in state,

Went to Florida,

For sun and to celebrate!

The orchestra, and madrigal group,
Brought lovely sounds to our ear.

Their classical musicianship,

Was heard throughout the year.

Concert Choir and it's Xmas album,
Was like a claim to fame.

With 100 singers instead of 60,

Mr. Eklund had many to tame!

Songs and sequins seen by

Westside Delegation,
And winning in contests, too.
This jazzy, snappy, show choir,
Was never seen being blue.
So we closed the curtain,
And got off the stage,
Those memories will always stay.
Our terrific fine arts department
Can be remembered as saying:
"Give my regards to Broadway!"

—Mary Novy

Editors

Anticipation! Sophomores are awaiting their junior year and juniors are counting the days to their last year of high school. Although everyone looks forward to moving up, most students will cherish their underclassmen years for a lifetime. The pressures of adult life may start to emerge during your senior year at Jefferson. The sophomores and juniors of 1986 realize this, and are determined to make their underclassmen years their best years ever.

Whether the sophomores and juniors are participating in sports, singing in the Concert Choir, acting in a play, playing in Jefferson's Band of Blue, or cheering for their team, the underclassmen of this 1985-86 school year are giving it their all.

Big smiles and great times with good friends are a common sight among underclassmen around school: (1) Kris Pilling, Kori Foss, Dave Rasmussen, (2) Kathy Foss, (3) Bedora Sheronick, Cory Kloberdanz, senior Dan Clark, (4) Dan Schreder, (5) Wendi Keilholtz, (6) Dawn Augustine, Kori Foss, (7) Juniors at a mixer, (8) Sophomores at a mixer, (9) Sophomores at a mixer, (10) Staci Goff, (11) Jay Melichar, (12) More sophs at a mixer.

Just the beginning

Karen Bowden
Editors

The class of '86 was very active whether in school, at a mixer, or at a game: (1) Rick Jacobs, (2) Jason Miller, (3) Seniors at a basketball game, (4) Julie Krizan, (5) Shelly Topinka and Angie Bucklin, (6) Robin Becker, (7) Eric Ring, (8) Seniors at a mixer, (9) Chris Kitterman and Bob Clark, (10) Ethel Brown, (11) Seniors at the Beach Party, (12) Shelly Krouse and Scott Mihal.

As seniors we have had the chance to experience many things. We've put up with certain teachers, we ploughed through classes for 12 years, and we even managed to work in time for a little fun. We have all been striving for the same goal—graduation.

The great class of '86 has many strong individual leaders; in sports, music, drama, and academics. Even though we took part in many individual activities, we got together at assemblies and other school activities to show that the class of '86 is the best. Many of us don't know what lies in store for us, but whatever it is, the class of '86 will continue to be one.

After graduation day, the class of '86 will long be remembered for its fine attitudes and spirit. The senior class once again has proved to be winners!

Prom '86

Senior class sponsors, Mrs. Jayne Bernhard and Mr. Jim Taylor, admire the results of their fund-raising efforts.

These senior girls were among the 234 people who attended this year's biggest social event.

Greg Williams and Randy Meier model the latest in prom attire for guys.

Angie Bucklin and her date, Rod Zimmerman, enjoy each others company during a slow song provided by Ted Burton Jacobson.

"When I'm With You"
Prom '86
May 3, 1986

Reliving their school years, Chris Dennis, Tim Conger, and Nina Flynn pause to enjoy the slide show.

Nervous excitement filled many seniors' stomachs Saturday, May 3, as they awaited the beginning of their senior prom. Many couples dined at fancy restaurants but some chose a candlelight dinner at home. Entering the IBEW Hall, each senior's attention was caught by the balloons and streamers which were done in blue and white. K101 D.J. Ted Burton Jacobson provided the music and we danced to the theme song, "When I'm With You." This was truly a memorable evening for all.

"When I'm With You", the theme of this year's prom, is captured here as Karen Foster and Ty Harrelson share a special moment.

Graduation brought many smiles and tears to these seniors: 1) Charlie Hasson 2) Recessional 3) Sondra Steggall 4) June Frank and Lori Hupfeld 5) Paul Young 6) Valedictorians: James Burns, Jody Linscheid, Paul Young, Larry Studt 7) John Cutler 8) Ed Quentin, Renee Radeke, Paul Washburn 9) Listening to speeches 10) Brian Kaliban, Jason Hunt, Dean Spicer.

Saying good-bye

Each spring seniors begin to realize that the anxiously awaited commencement ceremony is near. The special events that took place during their school years, whether in classrooms, on the football field, on stage, or in the gym, are now in the past. The diploma now opens the door to infinite opportunities.

Friday June 6 at 7 p.m., the 385 members of the class of 1986 were together one last time. Sweaty palms, the welling of tears, and joyful anticipation accompanied many of the graduates as the ceremony began.

The theme chosen this year was, "Wisdom is not an accumulation of knowledge but an emotional understanding gained from experience." James Burns, Larry Studt, Jody Linscheid, and Paul Young were the four chosen valedictorians. Also representing the class were salutorians Todd Cronbaugh, Karen Foster, and Heather Merrick.

As each graduating senior will follow a different path in life, Dennis Waitley gives some sound advice, "Just grab your dream and then believe it, go out and work and you'll achieve it."

Memories of '86 are ... Cherished

At the start of the school year, many J-Hawks often doubted that there would be a finish. Tasks were many and challenges seemed never-ending, but students, as well as faculty, easily managed to survive another year. Sophomores made the best of all the new and somewhat unfamiliar experiences. They played a vital part in the winning tradition. Juniors overcame the familiarities of another eventful school year by taking part and displaying leadership qualities. Anxiously awaiting their graduation day, seniors took care of some last minute business in order to prepare themselves. The many years of hard work had finally paid off. Another successful year proved J-Hawks truly are winners.

These J-Hawks finish the year on a happy note: 1) Rick Jacobs, Greg Brown, 2) Pam Keller, 3) Brian Frese, Mike Ivester, Debbie Englert, Dan Schmidt, 4) Lisa Sopousek, Dawn Dyer, Mary Novy, 5) Brad Dee, 6) Karen Boyd, Nicole Page, 7) Mr. Ron Smrha.

These students helped end the year on a smiling note: 1) Debbie Greiner, Lisa Smith, Christy Stucker 2) Mike Ivester 3) Sophomores at a mixer 4) Bill Hruby, Rob Hyde 5) Scott Jones 6) Jeff McAllister, Heidi Heese 7) Dan Heiken 8) Lisa Denker 9) Students doing an experiment 10) Mike Achey, Todd Dalecky, Jamie Arntzen 11) Tracie Hodina 12) Ed Quentin, Amy Bowen.

Year ends

The '85-'86 school year was one full of changes and achievements. Sophomores were challenged by the heightened requirements. The efforts and dedication on the part of the student body were rewarded as the school was recognized for its "Excellence in Education". Unforgettable memories were made, records were broken, goals were achieved, and dreams became reality.

This school year was definitely one to build on, and a stepping stone for future J-Hawks to continue when expanding the winning tradition.

Goodbye

The end of the school year meant the beginning of many fond memories for us J-Hawks this year. Athletic events, time spent with friends, mixers, and award-winning performances gave J-Hawks the opportunity to create and share unforgettable times. Breaking records and achieving goals were characteristics of the winning J-Hawks this year.

We did it as a team

Creating a yearbook takes a great deal of time and an endless amount of effort on the part of every participating individual. This year was no exception. Fortunately enough, talent and creativity were plentiful. Together we worked to overcome the trying deadlines that faced us.

Dedication and determination is evident on every page of this book. A big thanks goes to every staff member who worked at making our yearbook the best. And without those special editors, things could not have gone as smoothly as they did. In addition to staff members and editors, a thanks is in order to photographers. Their professional quality pictures insured our book's success.

A special thanks to Mr. Smrha. His patience and caring made all the difference in the world.

YEARBOOKS

Yearbooks are special memories of one's youth gone by.

A time to remember

Relationships gained and those gone dry.

More importantly

To keep in mind,

Of the treasured times

With friends who were dear

But no longer near.
