Turn back time

Turning back the clock finds these individuals enjoying these special moments: 1) Sebrina Meeker is caught by surprise at a mixer, 2) Pausing for a drink between frames is Mike Waldron, 3) Kristina Garber and Dave McDill are all smiles following a Westside performance, 4) Heather Jones gets into the music at a mixer, 5) Girls' Basketball Cheerleaders and Ms. Walton show whose number one, 6) Joanna Orman and Barb Snitker display a "Veg in '89" sign, 7) Anthony Johnson gets ready to cheer at a powderpuff football game, 8) Jody Kloubec clowns around with Stephanie Hathaway, 9) Sue Anderson, Brian Barth, and Tammy Burrows slow dance, 10) Amber Miller escorts Dave Konigsmark at the WPA assembly, 11) Governor and Mrs. Terry Branstad attend the Jeff. vs. Waterloo Columbus game, 12) Todd Hauskins is caught relaxing during play practice, 13) Mr. Tesar and Mr. Goettel enjoy the action at the state basketball championship, 14) Kendra Wright appears astonished, 15) Showing off their new sweaters are the Boys' Basketball Cheerleaders, 16) True J-Hawk spirit is what Angie Becker promotes, 17) Dressed alike are Tracy Moomey and Cory Meier, 18) Scott Herdlika is all dressed up for his part in Jabberwock, 19) Suede Wyatt and Stephanie Fleischacker await the lighting of the bonfire, 20) Angie Toomsen takes a breather between acts, 21) Vince Sabotta shows off his lung power, 22) Displaying his sore knee is Jason Mrozinski, 23) Jason Maiers acts out his part in Jabberwock, 24) Cuddling her cat is Christine Sweet, 25) "Ta-da" smirks Becky Kruse, 26) Tim Golay makes Amy Zeller smile, 27) Brian Schaufenbuel gets caught up in his work, 28) Ellen Bos and Kim Bronson take to the slopes.

Let the memories begin

Once again summer has ended and another great school year has begun. Friends have reunited and those familiar faces have reappeared. Gossip and laughter were heard in the hallways. New clothes, shiny folders, and notebooks yet unwritten in were seen. As the freshmen were quite busy adjusting to high school life, the seniors were also quite busy preparing for graduation. Senior Cory Meier stated, "I'm sure this is going to be my best year yet and even though I can't wait til graduation, I know that when the time comes, I will hate to leave this fine school and all my friends." Yes, the J-Hawks began the year on a fine note.

With the start of a new school year on August 28, these scenes became familiar: 1) Kathleen Hikiji and Kate Galligan display their love for the J-Hawks, 2) Shane Hickey and John Thompson show the lighter side of Jefferson, 3) Football fans display their spirit, 4) Senior guys take a breather, 5) Debbie Kennedy, Kris Young, and Kelly Butler prepare for the tailgate party, 6) Diane Nelson takes a break from her photo duties, 7) Tamara Wienieke and Kris Young serve thirsty MORP guests, 8) Mr. Smrha finds his "better" side, 9) Seniors show their pride, 10) Even Bos enjoys American life at a mixer, 11) Ann Koepke has a fun time at a mixer, 12) Sara Hefflefinger and Todd Hoepfner enjoy each other's company, 13) A student pokes fun at the new Staff Parking Only rule, 14) Trevor Tomney gets ready for the tailgate party, 15) Gary Greiner waves eagerly at the MORP mixer, 16) Junior guys attend the tailgate party, 17) Darlene Elkin gets caught by a photographer as she leaves the restroom, 18) Danette McClurg and Tara Albaugh strike a pose at a fall mixer.

If I could turn back time

As time ticked away, students and staff reminisced about the memories they created during the 1989-90 school year.

The Fine Arts department shined, the athletic teams excelled, the clubs had many accomplishments, faculty displayed innovative teaching techniques, and high school students experienced fun times while striving for an education.

In the Fine Arts area, the productions of Noises Off, Jabberwock, Tales From Hans Christian Andersen, Who's Life Is It Anyway, and Bye Bye Birdie were successful, West Side Delegation placed first in the Urbandale competition, and the Band of Blue received a division I rating at the State Marching Band Competition in October.

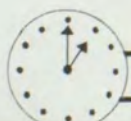

Athletically, many Jefferson students excelled this year. The girls' basketball team and the wrestlers placed second at the state, and the volleyball team was second in the MVC.

Clubs around Jefferson were involved with many activities in the community. DECA was involved in Toys for Tots, International Club collected food for HACAP, and Student Council made several trips to the hospital and nursing homes during the holidays.

Faculty continued to teach students values and concepts for later in life. Students absorbed these values and concepts as well as established relationships and lasting memories.

J-Hawks spend their time in a variety of ways: 1) Kyle Holmgren shows his J-Hawk spirit by waving the school flag at the state tournament, 2) Foreign exchange student, Emma Homes, enjoys being a true J-Hawk at the state tournament, 3) Taking time out of his daily routine, Mike Short smiles for the camera, 4) Jamie Locker shows her excitement after West Side's outstanding performance in Urbandale, 5) Trisha Firzlaff, here with Eric Huff, shows her broken strap after a West-Side performance, 6) Seniors enjoy the friendships they've established over the past three years, 7) Students pass under the arcade between classes, 8) Student Council members visited children at St. Lukes Hospital in October, 9) Coach Larry Niemeyer instructs his team during a state tournament game, 10) During the Andrews' Memorial Race, Mr. Jack Pilling pushes to the finish line, 11) Kristina Garber, Michelle Haight, and Dana Schulte model their new "band fashion", 12) Sophomore WPA candidate Pete Carr is escorted to his seat by Nikki Uelze, 13) Mike Heindelsman, Wendy Staton, and Larry Dolash work diligently during a word processing class.

Mixers are fun

for students who enjoy dancing

Mixers have always been one of the main highlights for Jefferson students. They give us a chance to realize how fun and crazy our friends can be.

Seniors Mindy Janda and Eric Huff stated they like going to the mixers to be with their friends and have a good time! They both like to dance and act "off the wall." The two main things they dislike about the mixers are some of the music and the breathalizer.

It's hard to please everyone but we all know it's a good idea to have mixers. It gives us time to spend with our friends and make new ones too.

From tricycle races, to the powderpuff game, and on to the choosing of the queen, excitement was the ingredient of all these Homecoming events: 1) Jeff Horak escorts Jamie Locker at the Top 10 Homecoming Assembly, 2) Lori Wilwol "high fives" Jill Clarke at the powderpuff game, 3) the Homecoming castle surrounds the candidates and escorts, 4) Jefferson's first "honor guard" salutes Janeen Shields, escorted by Ed Threatt, 5) Jefferson's softball field goes "up in flames" at the bonfire, 6) the baby bottle contest was a hit at the bonfire, 7) the tricycle races begin, 8) Jeff Popenhagen and Carrie Sullivan had fun at the dance.

Who shall reign?

On September 8, anxious students crowded into the gym wondering who would be named as the 27 candidates for Homecoming queen. The highlight of the assembly was the addition of the honor guard, made up of teachers. Mr. Denny Goettel, one of the honor guards, said, "It added a neat touch to the assembly. I was glad to be a part of it."

On September 15, at the second Homecoming assembly, the semi-finalists were narrowed down to 10. These girls were greeted with a flower and a hug from their families. The gym, which was decorated with a medieval castle, depicted the theme, "Shower Me with your Love".

That next week, during halftime of the football game, the 1989 queen, Lori Wilwol, was crowned. Concerning how she felt at that time, she responded, "It was unbelievable. I was astonished and I could not believe that I was the one being crowned."

It was a triumphant night for everybody. The J-Hawks beat Dubuque Senior 27-25. The Homecoming dance that was held that next evening from 8-11 p.m. in the cafeteria was a night showered with love.

Women Pay

Turning the tables around, it was the guys turn to be in the spotlight: 1) Jason Hess is at ease in front of the student body, 2) Jarod Young imitates a dog, 3) Biting his lip is Derik Stauffacher, escorted by Regena Schlemmer, 4) Matt Giddings forces his way through the crowd, 5) Danny Allen patiently awaits his turn, 6) Jeremy Lewis after an award winning somersault, 7) Anxiously awaiting the end of the assembly is Matt Ironside, 8) Kelly Butler reveals Chad Gallagher's question.

All a success

On March 12, 1,800 people gathered in the gym to await the announcement of the 1990 WPA (Women Pay All) candidates. Fifteen underclassmen and ten upperclassmen were announced, then escorted down the length of the gym and over a bridge. This took place with the song "Everything But My Pride" playing in the background.

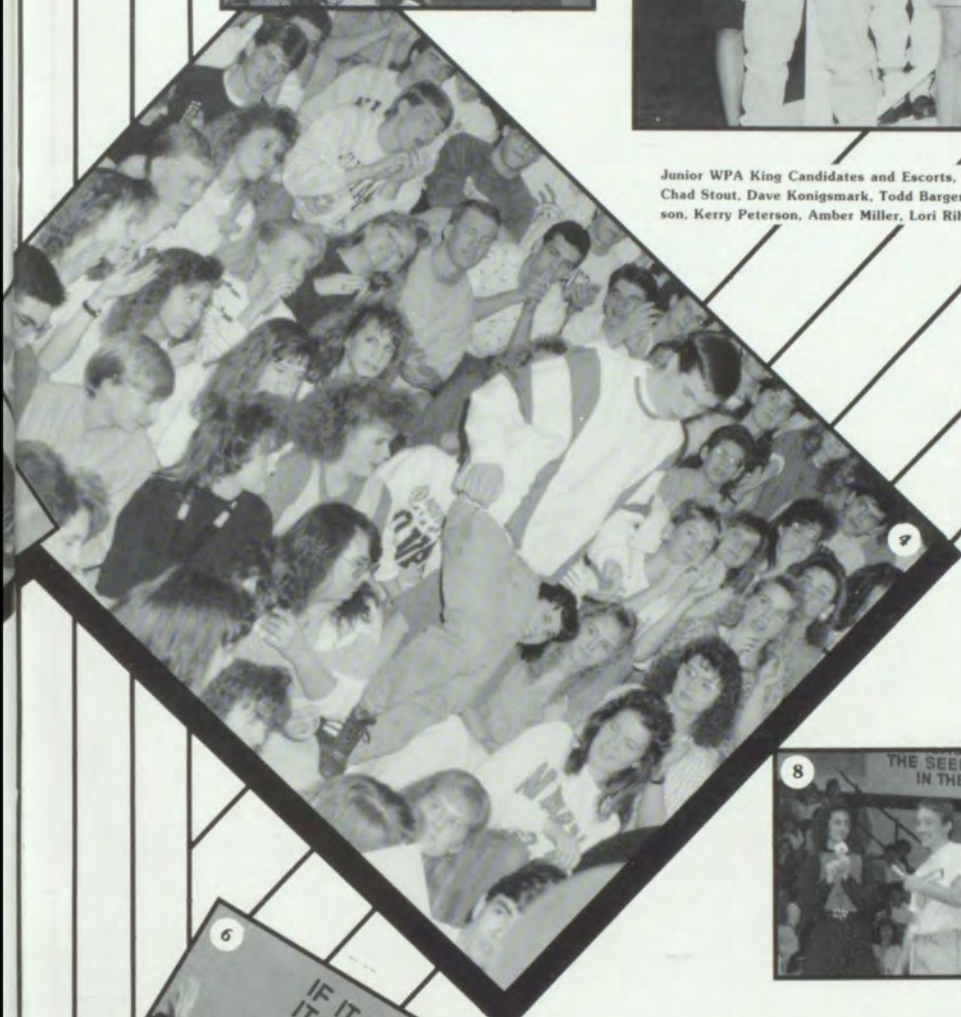

Each candidate popped a balloon to find a command which they would attempt to act out or answer. These messages ranged from, imitate your favorite animal to the ever popular give the girl of your choice a flower.

Todd Barger, a junior, revealed that he was very nervous but excited to be chosen as a candidate. He added, "I think WPA is a good idea because it encourages girls to ask guys out once in a while."

WPA always seems to be a highlight for the guys and girls because they get to switch roles. The girls have the power to choose who they want to take and the guys get to sit back and let the girls treat them to the dinner and dance.

Girls date guys

When you think of spring, what do you think of? Green grass, the first robin, guys on motorcycles? What about W.P.A.? That's right W.P.A.

Every year at the end of winter along comes a glimmer of spring. Warmer weather arrives, it rains instead of snowing, and the days get longer, but that's not the glimmer of spring that this is about. The Women Pay All dance is the sure tale sign that spring is upon us. Many people think that the W.P.A. dance is a reversed Homecoming dance. Others think that W.P.A. is a practice prom for some of the seniors. And some think that it is just plain fun and dancing.

Senior Leann Krueger agreed by saying, "The free pop and mints were nice, the pictures were nicer, and the dinner at Nan Kings was great. I enjoyed the evening."

Most students agreed that the dance was a tremendous success, and it was a very nice chance for girls to try to get to know some boys. As you all know, the W.P.A. dance is the only dance where the women ask a guy of their choosing to accompany them to the dance, as well as spring for the bill, including dinner.

Read Photography was at the dance to capture the memories of the night on film. The colors of the 1990 W.P.A. dance were teal, navy, and white. The theme song was "Everything But My Pride" by Cory Hart.

Another student, Clancy Champanois, remarked about the W.P.A. dance, "I think it is sort of fun to get all dressed up and slow dance with girls. I believe that I was well worth the eight dollars that my date, Stacie Klein, spent on me. Then again, any money that anyone spends on me is very well worth it," he jokingly said.

The 1990 W.P.A. dance will be remembered by many students this year. From picking up the perfect date, to taking him or her home, the 1990 Women Pay All dance will live in the minds of those who attended for a long time.

The annual dance was once again sponsored by Student Council, under Mr. Mark Stewart's supervision. It was held March 17.

The true colors of the W.P.A. dance show in the faces of these students: 1) Danny Allen and Carrie Kirby anxiously wait to see who the king will be, 2) Jeremy Lewis looks calm, cool, and collected, 3) Carly Slife and Casey Fleming snuggle to the music, 4) "Ladies and Gentlemen, your 1990 W.P.A. kings are:" Senior Ali Igram, Junior Dave Konigsmark, Sophomore Matt Giddings, and Freshman Mark Ironside, 5) Senior Ali Igram, 6) Junior Dave Konigsmark, 7) Sophomore Matt Giddings, 8) Freshman Mark Ironside, 9) Kris Young and Sara Hefflefinger show off their new outfits, 10) Kim Bronson and Bobby Slaton slow dance the night away.

True spirit is displayed by staff and students at pep assemblies: 1) Mr. Feuerhelm and his elves explain the rules of sportsmanship to the student body, 2) Parking is demanded by upperclassmen, 3) Brian Barth shows his true J-Hawk spirit, 4) Larry Gilmore, Jeff Young, Ms. Walton, and Angie Koehler present the girls' All Sports Award, 5) Senior class shows its seniority, 6) Freshman class shows it doesn't take a back seat to anyone, 7) Darcie Usher lets her spirit show, 8) Mike Short and Derek Pendergast are all smiles, 9) Seniors make their mark at a football assembly, 10) Coach Taylor and his swim team make a grand entrance, 11) Carrie Kirby and Sabra Schmidt enjoy themselves during a spirit assembly.

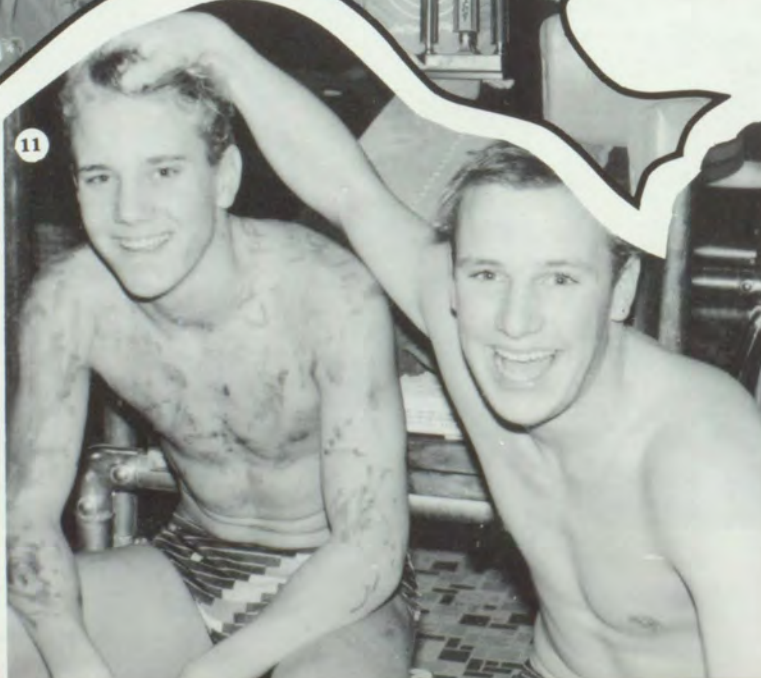

Let's cheer

Pep assemblies are periods of the day when time is taken out of school to give the students a chance to get crazy while the number one pep band in this state plays. During the pep assembly, several athletic teams are recognized and the students organize cheers the night before the sporting event takes place. Excitement fills the gym as the student body prepares itself for the competition yell. The competition consists of the freshmen, sophomores, juniors, and seniors. As the rule says "The loudest class can win the stick." This is the spirit stick, an easy way to get the student body involved in all the fun. Very few pep assemblies are held throughout the year, and some people feel we should get rid of them. The students of Jefferson look forward to chanting and letting other classes know just how much excitement our school has.

Moments of glory are shown in these pictures: 1) At State, Jeff Horak adds a first place win to his record, 2) Bill and Nikki Uelze share their moment with Mr. Bowen, 3) Dick Briggs was interviewed as Coach of the Year, 4) The drumline performs at the Talent Show, 5) West Side members pose after winning the Urbandale trophy, 6) Dusty Burkle escorts Homecoming finalist, Jamie Locker, 7) The Special Olympics team marches proudly around the track, 8) Ali Igram returns from state with a first place win, 9) Ovation performs another fabulous show, 10) The girls' varsity basketball team poses for a picture after placing second at state, 11) Jay Raabe smiles after being "all marked up," 12) Kate Galligan shines with her father, 13) Jennifer Charlier receives an award following the State Speech Contest.

Recognizing the proud

"State" triggers different ideas in different people. Amber Miller, a junior, said that, "State meant a whole lot to me." She also said, "It was the best feeling in the world." Amber, a member of the girls' varsity basketball team, helped to bring home the second place trophy.

Senior Kendra Wright, who went to the state speech finals, felt differently. She stated, "Speech contest was scary but it was also exciting. The competition was a lot tougher than before. At state, you compete against the best."

Another exciting moment for the Jefferson J-Hawks was when Jeff Horak and Ali Igram were awarded the state wrestling championships for their weight divisions at the state tourney.

However, moments of glory aren't just winning and going to state, it's many things. A moment of glory is being involved in a drama production, or competing in a vocal, band, debate, or writing contest. Competing in the Special Olympics is also a glorious moment. Then, being a member of an athletic team is a moment of glory too.

It also doesn't matter if you win or lose. A glorious moment is whether or not you give it your best shot. In all these cases, Jefferson J-Hawks always do their very best.

Vince Lombardi, Green Bay Packers former coach, once said, "Winning isn't everything, but the will to win is everything."

Forever and always, J-Hawks are and will remain WINNERS!

JTV talent shines

At first there was Jefferson... then came JTV. With this year's talent show came a variety of acts, from the Walking Disasters to the Theory of Power. As master of ceremonies, Mr. Kenney felt the second annual talent show was a success due to cooperation between the PTA, students, and faculty. This year's show was a good way for people to get involved with the desire to perform and to please. Senior Melissa Abram said that, "It's a change of pace from the every day Jefferson thing."

What made the night go smoothly was the help of the outstanding stage crew behind the scenes. Without the help of these efficient members of the stage crew, this year's talent show wouldn't have been successful. Melissa Abram agreed that "they don't get enough credit."

A lot of hard work and planning was put in by the PTA. Headed by Talent Show chairman Ms. Marilyn Butler, the PTA "proudly dedicated this Talent Show to the senior class of 1990." Many of the students and faculty who were involved in this year's talent show stated that one act stands out in their minds, "The Walking Disasters." Brad Bodin, Matt Pealer, Brad Poock, Matt Powell, Todd Reves, and Chad Stout displayed the art of practical joking by throwing pies, removing chairs, and hitting each other with boards.

All of the acts that were presented this year were crowd pleasers. From practical joking to solos, this show touched the heart of every individual. Mr. Kenney stated that he hopes JTV remains an annual event at Jefferson.

From a new principal to graduating at the Five Seasons, these moments will live on for these J-Hawks: 1) Mr. Tesar speaks at the assembly honoring girls' basketball, 2) Scott Herdliska "dresses" up for his AP English class, 3) Kris Young, Debbie Kennedy, Krista Matt, and Shelly Duncan show some skin, 4) Patty Barnes enjoys herself at the MORP dance, 5) Ms. Walton does the Pee Wee dance at a pep assembly, 6) Sean Tighe looks surprised, 7) Danny Allen and Alan Fear show off their skill at the talent show, 8) Melissa Abram performs with Poms during a wrestling meet, 9) Joe Brokaw enjoys his word processing class, 10) Kim Bronson works on the ads staff for the Outlook, 11) Sabra Schmidt waits in the lobby for school to start, 12) Latiffany Jimerson has a good time at one of the school mixers.

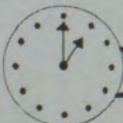

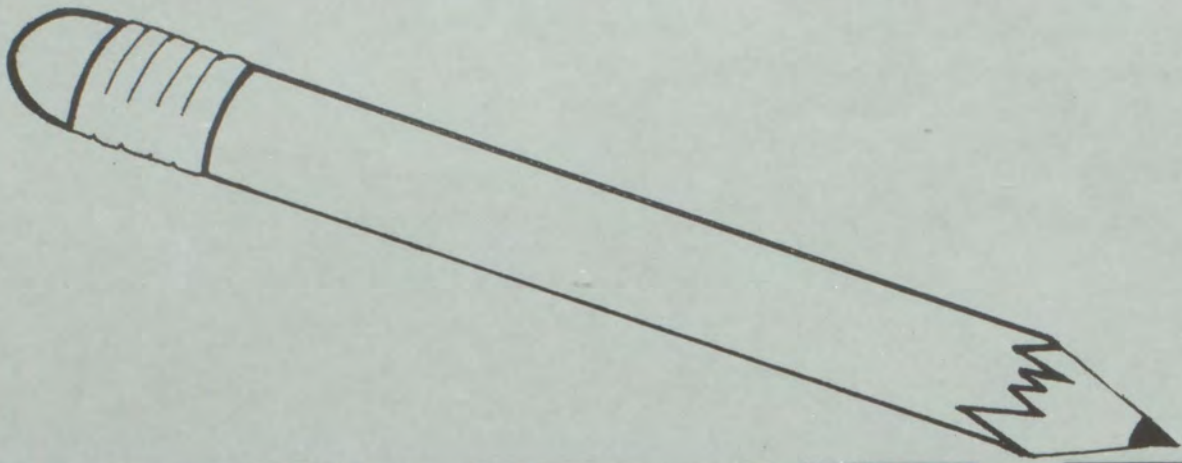

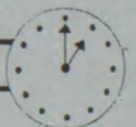

Dreams became reality in 1989-1990, as miracles occurred before the world's eyes. 1) Everyone's favorite hero came to life this year in the summer hit, Batman. Jack Nicholson captured audiences with his portrayal of Batman's enemy—the Joker. 2) In January of the new year, the United States was finally successful in capturing Manuel Noriega, who will be brought to trial for drug-trafficking. 3) Not since August 13, 1961, have East and West Germans been able to freely cross their border without fear of being tortured or shot down. All that changed on November 9, 1989, with the falling of the Iron Curtain. 4) With years of "read my lips" politics, Bush may soon be eating his words as Congress faces a $268 billion debt for this year. 5) At the age of 10, very obnoxious, and regularly kept after school for calling his teacher 'hot cakes', this cartoon character has spread across the nation. Bart Simpson and his family are a true success in the minds of children and adults alike. 6) 1989 was a year of disaster as Hurricane Hugo claimed the east coast and 7) an earthquake trampled California. 8) Many South Africans have invested their hopes in Nelson Mandela, shown here in the 1600's as he served time in jail for sedition. This year State President F.W. de Klerk released Mandela unconditionally. 9) "We no longer think that we are the best and are always right, and that those that disagree with us are our enemies," stated Gorbachev. His policy of glasnost has opened doors for his country, and what he does to save his empire will not only affect his country, but the world.

Facing your future

During Jefferson's 33 years, students have been faced with a lot of changes. Among these improvements are new classes, meeting different people, and facing new challenging goals. Inside the classroom, students try to maintain good grades while taking required classes for graduation.

Attending Jefferson not only means going to classes Monday through Friday, but also participating in other activities. Students at Jefferson strive to be the best in these activities: fine arts, athletics, clubs, and most importantly, academics. Karen Sylvester stated, "While being involved in extra curricular activities, your spare time is devoted mainly to your schoolwork. There really isn't much time for anything else." By participating in activities, students show that they are winners.

Every student is aware that high school is the beginning of their future, and preparing for their future is a vital part of high school. Teachers and students work hard together to achieve the goals students set for themselves. Jefferson has a stimulating academic atmosphere. The teachers and administration try to help all students excel as much as they can, especially with their grades and their future. Everything you strive for begins in the classroom.

Even though school may seem boring at times to some students, they try to make the best of the year: 1) Suede Wyatt joins in a discussion during her third hour newspaper class, 2) Seniors look forward to the end of the school year, 3) Larry Gilmore finishes up his homework in the computer room, 4) Caution: be on the look out for Journalism instructor Mr. Smrha, 5) Instead of doing his assignment, Jason Shaw chooses to daydream, 6) Alan Wright glues a layout for his yearbook project, 7) Confused about the assignment, Eric Hamilton asks for some help, 8) Barb Snitker, Kim Bronson, and Linda Timm discuss their plans for the "big weekend", 9) Scott Kruger "looks in" on Mrs. Novy's Debate and Discussion class, 10) Alan Kloos and Anthony Johnson take a break in stride by getting comfortable.

Thinking creatively

Student creativity? What is considered creativity? These are just a couple of questions that some students ask when they hear the words "creative effort."

Creativity has to do with "hands on" projects such as drawing, painting, ceramics, or pottery. Typing also is creative. But creativity is not just the use of hands, it's also the way students can express themselves.

Students are offered many classes that deal with creativity. A few that deal with the hands are drawing, photography, ceramics, and wood working. "I think that drawing is the main form of creativity," explains Nita Clay. "I also think it's a good way for me to express myself. Because what I put down on the paper, is the way I see a particular object, comes from me. Sure we can copy art work, but you never have the feeling of what the artist feels as they do it." Nita, along with many other students, has gone into drawing. Photography is also considered creative. "Photography brings out something in people," states sophomore Sandra Betts.

"When we first started class we were not all quite sure about how creative we could be with a camera. But with the help of Mr. Cox and faith in ourselves, it ended up great. Everybody has their own views of the world, and photography class lets us express our creativity."

Creativity is in everything that we do, from the kid in the hall, to locker posters. No matter what students take for classes we all are creative in some aspect.

Creativity is readily apparent in our school and it flows through these J-Hawk students every day: 1) Cheerleaders demonstrate their artistic ability with this popular "MORP" poster, 2) Looking for a layout idea sends Todd Barger searching through a yearbook, 3) Martial arts is how Tommy Jung displays his talent, 4) Lori Riha mixes chemicals for a chemistry experiment, 5) These Jefferson swimmers have talents in more than one field, 6) August Severt shows how Bat Mania can become an art form, 7) Physics is certainly a breeze for Kelly Butler with the help of her boyfriend, Mike Vifian, 8) Dennis Douglas works on a paper for Mrs. Madden's class, 9) Speech class opens new career opportunities for Scott Kruger, 10) Trent Andrews sets up scenery for one of Jefferson's many plays, 11) Sculpting class brings out "art" in many students such as Martin Kelsey.

STUDENTS CREATE

A typical school day for teachers finds them doing these activities: 1) Mr. Allen discusses World War II, 2) Mr. Taylor takes time out for a quick smile before a swim meet, 3) Mr. Strait relaxes between classes, 4) Mr. Hegarty is proud to be a science teacher, 5) Dr. Jacobson talks to Mr. Pilling, 6) Mr. Garlock sports his "J-Hawk Are Winners" T-shirt, 7) In Mr. Goettel's spare time he takes "time out" for college football, 8) Winning a volleyball game put a smile on Coach Cox's face, 9) Mr. Houk confirms plans on the phone, 10) Mr. Smrha portrays the "Grouch", 11) Santa and Mr. Stewart are still kids at heart, 12) Ms. Walton shows off her most colorful suspenders, 13) Mrs. Novy ponders a question from Scott Hermanson and LeAnn Krueger, 14) Santa and his helpers (alias Jeff teachers) entertain students.

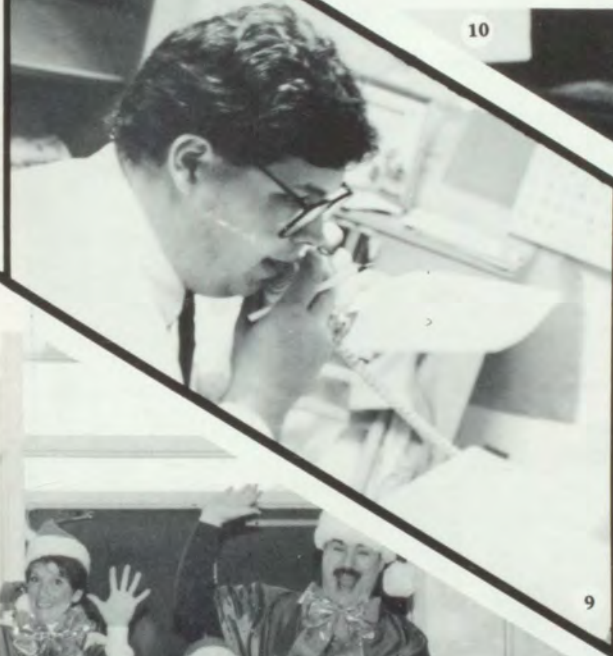

Staff at their best

"A teacher effects eternity. He can never tell when his influence stops," is how Henry Adams stated it. Teachers do play an important role in our lives. They do their best to prepare us for the future.

Ms. Sandee Walton, physical education instructor, feels that, "Students just can't get the know-how they need out of their textbooks." She added that "it is sometimes too easy for kids to drop out of their classes."

Mr. Bob Allen, history teacher, noted that, "The only students who are getting prepared for life are the ones who are trying, attending classes, and taking part in school activities after classes."

Dr. William Jacobson, principal, is one person who has affected everyone's lives. This year is the last of his 20 years as a principal. Both Ms. Walton and Mr. Allen agree that Dr. Jacobson will be missed because of the difference he has made in our lives and also at Jefferson during his tenure.

Statesman staff shows how busy they were putting together this year's book: 1) Editor Kelly Butler plans the arrangement of this year's Statesman, 2) Seniors Nicole Denly and Ann Crawford work on designing layouts, 3) Senior Julie Farris reads an article from a previous yearbook to get ideas, 4) Senior Sally Meyers listens to Mr. Smrha's advice, 5) Junior Kris Matson sorts through sophomore class pictures, 6) Michelle Welsh blows a bubble of relief after completing her section, 7) Junior Dave Konigsmark assists Kelly Coonrod with her work, 8) Senior Jenni Popenhagen works at the light table.

Making year last

Mr. Ron Smrha, publications advisor, senior Kelly Butler, editor-in-chief, and junior Kris Matson, assistant editor, led this year's yearbook staff of 100 members to success. Designing layouts, selecting photos, and writing and typing copyblocks was what creating a yearbook was entirely about. In addition to the many fun times, there were also times of frustration and even anger. Rushing to meet deadlines was a common practice. Long hours of hard work and extreme dedication was what it took. Editor Kelly Butler commented that, "Putting together the yearbook was not only a good experience but also lots of fun. When the Statesman is completed it's enjoyable to look back at a year that will never happen again."

From conducting interviews to selling an ad, these Outlook staff members were kept busy meeting deadlines: 1) Scott Herdliska and Jim Anderson kill time while waiting for story ideas, 2) Angie Koehler takes a breather from working on her latest article, 3) Karen Sylvester sells ads during the winter term, 4) One of the Outlook's talented editors, Augie Severt, takes a break from pasting up his page, 5) Matt Donner examines a page layout for crooked lines, 6) Jenni Charlier sighs after meeting another Outlook deadline, 7) Scott Herdliska and Scott Kruger battle it out over an unfinished centerspread, 8) With deadline a mere 3 hours away, Jim Anderson relieves his stress, 9) Mr. Ron Smrha sits behind his throne as he celebrates another birthday, 10) Jason Sterns and Mark Strand discuss an article.

Staff edits 10

Paper covers issues for teens

Locked away in 206, the Outlook staff frantically works to beat yet another deadline. As ads staff members sell and paste up hundreds of inches of advertisements, reporters give their articles the few finishing touches. Page editors create eye catching layouts while photographers shoot everything from candid to swim meets. The clock winds down and tension increases, but everything falls into place and the paper goes to press.

Under the editorship of Scott Herdliska and advised by Mr. Ron Smrha, the 1989-90 Outlook staff produced one of the best series of papers in Jeff's 33-year history. With excellent members such as photographer Greg Joseph, artist Augie Severt, and feature editor Darci Hermanstorfer, it's no surprise that the Outlook attained national recognition again.

Perhaps our paper was top notch because of the close knit relationships developed among the staff members. "It was like we were a family," commented Scott Gladwin. Strangers became friends and friendships grew stronger. While personalities were as different as story ideas, everyone got along, if not tolerated each other, which gave the Outlook varying viewpoints and ideas.

Third hour Journalism Lab was not just another class. Instead, students found reasons to work on the newspaper extra hours outside of the class. Outlookers could be found after school in the publications room either typing or just hanging out. The "Lunch Bunch" dominated room 206 during C Lunch and certain members even skipped their lunch to finish a project to meet the deadline.

They tried their hardest to act like professionals at all times. Nobody expected special recognition or even a thank you, as Linda Timm put it. "It was fun and so we gave it our best effort!" This effort was apparent in the 10 issues printed.

Several activities kept the Student Council on the go: 1) Council members dressed up for a visitation to St. Lukes Pediatrics, 2) Eric Jones, Natalie Serbousek, B.J. Calloway, Jason Shaw work at Night of Many Prizes, 3) Spring members show a sense of accomplishment as the year ended, 4) Spirit Award winners Joel Duffy, Kelly Butler, Darrin Crow 5) Members of the year Natalie Serbousek, Amber Miller, Kris Vanous, 6) Mr. Stewart's going away party was celebrated at Chi Chi's, 7) Council and Choir members sing Christmas carols at Westside Estates Nursing Home, 8) Fall Student Council members, 9) Officers Jenny Charlier, Eric Jones, B.J. Calloway, Kelly Butler, and advisor Mark Stewart take a break from decorating for the Homecoming assembly, 10) A visit to St. Lukes Pediatrics for Easter was enjoyable for Council members, 11) Visiting Monroe Developmental Center, 12) Ellen Bos, Kim Bronson, Angie Koehler enjoy a baby they visited at St. Lukes Pediatrics.

As the 1989-90 school year got underway, the incoming Student Council was planning the many activities they were going to organize during the year.

Advisors Mr. Mark Stewart and Mr. Jim Dostal, President Kelly Butler, Vice President B.J. Calloway, Secretary Jenny Charlier, and Treasurer Eric Jones had their hands full planning events. The first activity which the Council began in September consisted of planning for the Homecoming powderpuff game, bonfire, assemblies, and dance. The WPA assembly and dance were other major projects undertaken in March.

In order to display unity, Council members purchased sweatshirts and took a "break" in February to go skiing at Chestnut Mountain.

Recognizing the staff was another goal of the Student Council. Staff birthdays were displayed monthly along with special events for cooks, secretaries, and custodians. Breakfasts were given for Halloween, New Year's, Easter, and Dr. Jacobson's departure, as well as a luncheon in May for the staff.

The Council also kept busy with community service projects. Trips were made to the St. Luke's Pediatrics Ward for Halloween, Christmas, and Easter, Westside Estates Nursing Home for Christmas, and Monroe Developmental Center in the spring. Council members organized the Second Annual Metro Leadership Conference held at Kirkwood in May.

The endless hours of work spent planning for these events paid off once Council members received positive feedback.

Senates in motion

Members busy raising funds for prom

As the year ends, Senates reflect back on all the hard work leading up to prom. In the fall Senior Senate kicked off the year right by holding an all school mixer. The funds that were collected went towards the class gift and prom. Later on in the year seniors sold coupon books from the Video Station. This fund raiser also proved successful.

Throughout the past three years, the classes have held fund raisers to help raise money for prom and class gifts. The fund raisers have ranged from holding mixers to selling candy. The extra money raised will be used to buy awards for Senior Recognition Night.

There are many important people involved in the four Senates. Without the help of our fellow student leaders and sponsors to take on some of the responsibility, the whole process would never have gone smoothly. We would never have been able to remember our prom as a success, full of memories which we will all look back on and remember with a smile years from now.

It may have seemed the Senates were nothing of importance, but without them nothing would have fell into place the right way.

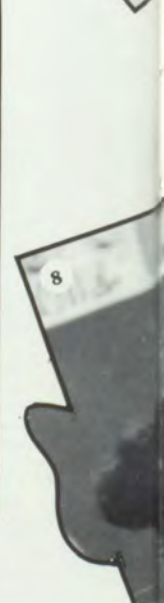

Darrin Crow, our Senior Class President, explained, "We didn't move mountains, but we did our very best. We had a group of dedicated individuals."

While the seniors minds drift towards graduation, underclassmen start to plan their next money maker.

Throughout their high school days, members of Senate participate in fund-raisers for prom, class gift, and color pictures. Here are some of the more active Senate members:

1) Kris Vanous 2) Shelley Duncan, Kelly Butler, Ann Simon, and Jenny Popenhagen 3) Senior class meeting 4) Jenny Popenhagen and Todd Heald 5) Darrin Crow 6) Erin McLaughlin 7) Jenny Charlier 8) Michelle Jones 9) Kristy Horak

Honorable students recognized

Senior Erik Plaht describes National Honor Society as a group of compatable students with similar goals in life.

The N.H.S. consists of over 20,000 members nationwide. The chapter strives to recognize students who exhibit the four qualities stated on the N.H.S. key.

The four qualities that members must possess are good character, leadership, service, and scholarship. Members are chosen by a faculty committee.

On a single night students are honored for excelling in those four areas and working hard. The evening consisted of awarding outstanding students, the orchestra played, and the choir sang.

Darrin Crow, also a senior, says, "It's an opportunity for students to meet other students with similar qualities."

Scott Herdliska, Outlook editor

Students excel

Jefferson has many ways of recognizing students who have accomplished outstanding feats. The All School Award's purpose is to promote participation at Jefferson. Approximately 120 students went through the process of being recommended, participating in four of the six available areas, and then attaining signatures from the necessary teachers. Students must also maintain a 2.0 grade point average to be eligible. "I think it's a worthy program for anyone interested," commented Mrs. Karen Feye, who was in charge of distributing the awards this year. "It summarizes what school should be about and that is, enjoying activities, participating with friends, and being in-involved," she added.

"Quill and Scroll is like the National Honor Society, but it's for high school journalists," Mr. Ron Smrha, director of publications, stated. "It is a means of being recognized for doing exemplary work on the Outlook or yearbook staff."

Each year the files of outstanding Statesman and Outlook students are sent to be judged and possibly chosen for national recognition. From the yearbook staff, only one of every ten students was chosen and one for every six from the newspaper. This year ten students were selected from the Statesman while six were picked from the Outlook. "Carry over" members from last year were Kelly Butler, Ann Simon, and Scott Herdliska, making a total of 19 members from Jefferson.

Working brings smiles

Being turned down for a job because of no experience can be a real let down for most. Office Education can give you that experience you need when job hunting.

In the class a student learns how to work on computers and it's "a prep class for life" is how senior Tawnie Johnson described it.

Tawnie was employed at Cherry Burrell and reported there from 1 to 5 pm Monday through Friday. She enjoyed her job because "she got to work with adults, not kids, and it gave her a sense of responsibility."

During the fall term students were matched up with jobs. Next came winter term when speakers from Metco Credit Union, Cherry Burrell, and a state trooper spoke to the class about certain possible career choices.

During spring term, members competed in a state contest and hosted their employers at a reception.

Mr. Larry Niemeyer, OE instructor, had high goals for his students and was "pleased with this year's class and its maturity."

O.E. offers a work atmosphere for these students: 1) Renee Baldrige 2) Tawnie Johnson 3) O.E. students learn the importance of unity 4) Students have an important talk with Mr. Niemeyer, their coordinator.

Seniors have some fun

Do you want to have a lot of fun your senior year and still learn about the business world? Well, if you like this idea you should join DECA. Scott Hermanson said, "DECA is full of fun and excitement."

DECA gets involved in many different activities. This year the group planned a Ski-a-Thon for MDA. The group collected money and had a lot of fun skiing too. They also visited Methwick Manor and told the elderly people about something in their life. Janeen Shields said, "It was real nice to just sit and talk with them. They have a lot that they can teach us."

Club is active

The International Club has organized many activities this year which include a Christmas banquet, a trip to the Amanas, and the Scandinavian dinner.

At the Christmas banquet the group had lots of fun, food, and Yule log cakes with a hidden surprise inside. The first person to find the prize, which was Kevin Daugherty, was to be king of the evening.

Another important event was the Amana trip when the group went to the Ox Yoke Inn for lunch. After they finished eating they went to the welcome center for a film. The film talked all about how the Amanas was settled and the people that settled there. When the film was over the group went through town and visited the shops of their choice.

One more exciting event was the Scandinavian dinner. It was served in an all you can eat buffet style. The buffet included many food combinations created by our very own foreign exchange students.

Dustin Heerkens, foreign exchange student, said that a person has more opportunities in America. He replied that he liked American people, and our cultures. "American classes are more interesting," stated Dustin. "In school there are more activities to be involved in."

The club had an event of some kind every month, and every month a different country was represented. The person will usually fix some kind of treat for the members to try.

Both International Club and the foreign exchange students experienced a great year, including these moments...; 1) Club students sing at the Christmas banquet, 2) foreign exchange students stand in the winners' circle at an assembly, 3) foreign exchange student, Anita Bimson, at the Christmas banquet, 4) Tricia Lowe and Marsha Bohlen on the trip to the Amanas, 5) Sara McNamara stands on the porch of a gift shop in the Amanas.

Work after class

The 1989-90 school year proved to be a successful year in the area of speech contests. Once again Jefferson had a double all-state performer, Darrin Crow. All-State this year honored the following students: Erik Plaht, Kendra Wright, Kerry Walsh, Jenny Charlier, Scott Kruger, and Andrea Stibal. Speech contestants were active in the University of Iowa Colloquy, and the Lin-Mar Christmas Classics, where Jefferson students were once again, very successful. Julie Hiedeman, a junior, stated, "I felt that we had a good year. It was fun, and I'll continue to participate next year."

The 1990 Offhand staff, consisting of 16 students, worked very hard at perfecting the annual magazine of student literature. With the help of Ms. Peterson, her computer, and her typing ability, the job became much easier. The members spent about two weeks after school reading and selecting papers that were submitted. Janel Nutt stated, "You are able to get a better understanding of other students' writings, and how they express themselves."

CLUBS ARE #1

Being involved in clubs at Jefferson is an enjoyable experience for many students. There are a variety of clubs at Jefferson, ranging from Office Education, International Club, to DECA. Stacie Klein, a senior in DECA, spoke highly of the group. "I have really learned lots of new ideas about advertising and marketing." She also recommends the DECA class to those students interested in business careers. "It is really not like a class; instead we're just like a group of friends." The students feel that being in clubs is a very worthwhile activity. Many students have gained vivid memories by participating in clubs. "It's fun to be in clubs because you don't have to be an athlete or scholar."

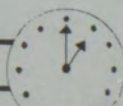

Do these club activities look familiar? 1) Mrs. White clowns around at an International Club meeting, 2) While in journalism class, Carrie Spalding works on her personality profile assignment, 3) Mr. Smrha emphasizes a point to a student, 4) At an International Club meeting, Anita Bimson socializes with her new American friends, 5) At Christmas, Ellen Bos discussed how this holiday is celebrated in her homeland, 6) As editor of the Outlook, Scott Herdliska arranges for an interview, 7) Lisa Ziomek laughs it up with some of her buddies at a meeting, 8) Two International Club members, Nicole Fair and Stephanie Hamad, assisted at a dinner sponsored by the group, 9) Jenni Popenhagen concentrates while writing the copy block for the class senate layout, 10) Haruka Demura patiently waits for her club's meeting to begin.

These hardworking cheerleaders show their spirit throughout the year: 1) Sue Halm at the tailgate, 2) Michelle Welsh does a toe touch, 3) Linda Eide and Amy Funk at a football game, 4) The varsity football squad cheers, 5) Jeffy J-Hawk, 6) Boys' Basketball does a mount at a pep assembly, 7) Linda Timm and Debbie Kennedy with a youngster at a football game, 8) Sophomore football cheerleaders do a mount, 9) Varsity Girls' basketball pose before a game, 10) Carrie Clouse, Casandra Bryant, and Sarah Bernhard at a pep assembly, 11) Sue Halm, Karla McCaw, and Angie Koehler relax before a football game, 12) Varsity wrestling at a meet, 13) Winter cheerleaders following a practice.

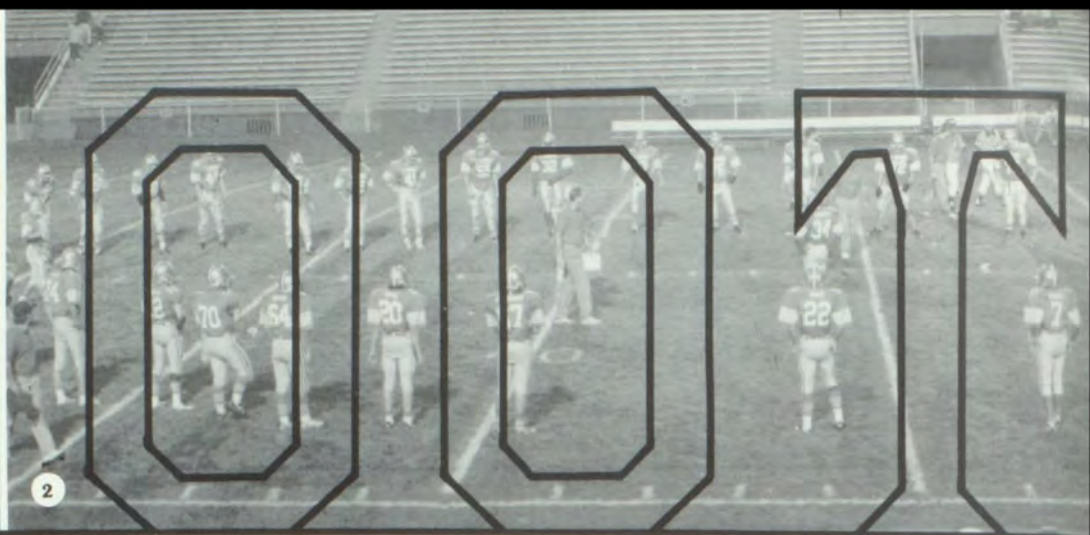

"Cheerleading means getting the teams enthused for their upcoming events. Besides cheering for them, we try to motivate them with signs," stated Kelly Butler.

Being a cheerleader is tougher than it looks. These selected girls from grades 9-12 work hard throughout the summer and also during fall and winter seasons. They stay busy by making signs, practicing new cheers, and keeping our fans enthusiastic.

Advisor Sandee Walton is very proud of her cheerleaders this year! She stated, "This group is one of the best groups I've worked with in a long time. They work hard, try new things, and put forth a good effort to get the crowd involved. They work together to be the ultimates!"

Improvement was the key to the varsity season. From the beginning, the coaches were looking ahead at the possibility of landing an MVC title.

For the second season in a row, the J-Hawks missed the playoffs by a game, but they had a five and four record. The team started off in dismal style, losing the first three games to Hempstead, Prairie, and Kennedy. But after five long years, they won their Homecoming game against Senior, 27-25, and downed Washington, 35-7.

Then came the ultimate challenge, beating the undefeated Linn-Mar Lions. After double overtime and an awesome display of talent by both sides, the J-Hawks suffered a heart-breaking loss. They ended the season in a winning style by defeating I.C. High, I.C. West, and Wahlert.

Even with their disappointing defeats to Linn-Mar and Kennedy, senior runningback Ed Threatt said he "felt good. I think the team played pretty good."

"Everyone is going to finish the year with at least one defeat," stated head coach Bill Calloway.

Even though the season is over, here are some of the memorable times the squad had: 1) Head coach Bill Calloway is displeased when a play fails, 2) The varsity squad gets ready to do battle, 3) These J-Hawks are fighting hard for a victory, 4) Brian Freerksen punts away the ball, 5) B.J. Calloway holds the ball while Dustin Heerkens kicks it, 6) Shaft Baker takes a break from all the action, 7) The squad is upset by the action on the field, 8) The offense gets ready to run the next play, 9) The whole squad walks across the street, ready to do battle, 10) B.J. Calloway gains additional yardage, 11) Corey Birkicht runs with the ball while B.J. Calloway watches.

Frosh go undefeated . . .

A winning tradition

The freshman and sophomore football teams combined together to achieve an outstanding 16-2 record. The sophomore team ended up 7-2 and took third in the M.V.C. The high point of the sophomore's season was beating cross town rival Kennedy.

When Coach John Hegarty reflected on his team, he stated that they all played like champions. He added, "It was the most enjoyable football season I have ever had in my eight years of coaching at Jefferson."

Domination is the one word that best describes the freshman football team. Ending their season at 8-0, the team gave up only 14 points all season. Also, a very strong offense scored 218 points. The freshman head coach, Terry Strait, felt the team was very close and they built a friendship that would last forever.

When these two football teams combine as the varsity, the fans should hopefully see a winning tradition established.

The freshmen and sophomore football players futures are looking very excellent as J-Hawks. Maybe a trip to the "DOME" won't be out of reach for this winning combination!

'Best team I've ever coached' ...

Squad piles up wins

"Big Blue Spiking Crew." No, this isn't some new demolition company. It's the Jefferson High School hard spiking volleyball team. The '89 J-Hawk squad was the most winning team in J-Hawk history. When varsity members were pictured on the cover of Sports Plus, Mr. Cox responded by saying, "It's like volleyball was getting the publicity it deserved. More girls compete in volleyball than in any other sport in Iowa."

The J-Hawk team had a record of 38 wins, 4 losses, and 2 ties. The hardest loss of all was to Kennedy. "The girls took it really hard because they fell short of their goals," said Mr. Cox. This year the volleyball team had tri-captains, Lori Riha, Ellen Leary, and Jamie Locker. The most improved players were Kate Galligan and Carol Boardman.

The award for the best player went to Lori Riha and Heidi Butz. These two girls worked as a team and Heidi couldn't have done what she did without the help of Lori. These two are also the most dominant players, noted Mr. Cox.

Mr. Cox feels the team as a whole was great. "This is the best team I've ever coached."

The varsity team had a wonderful year. They won the most games of any Jefferson volleyball team and went on to play in the state semifinals.

Although they lost in the last round against Kennedy, they put up a good fight. Everyone should be proud of the '89 volleyball team, Mr. Cox believes.

Congratulations go out to the members of the Big Blue Spiking Crew for all the effort put behind one another.

Sophomore and Freshman teams ... Unite for victories

Downward screeches the ball as the opponent spikes it. The spike passes by the blocker but teammates anxiously cover, ready to pass the ball. It ricochets off the back-row player's arms and flies toward the bleachers. The setter gives it everything she's got, dives and digs the ball up and back into play. The forward then spikes the ball to the opponents side of the court. It angles sharply toward the floor and the opponents are unable to bring it up.

Plays like these are what made the sophomore and freshman volleyball teams successful. It is no wonder that the sophomores won the Metro tournament. Amy Fottral said, "It was fun seeing the gratification the whole team deserved."

Members of both teams felt the season went really well. "I could see our teams had improved since the start of the season," noted Amy Fottral.

Players felt the coaching staff were very supportive. They were very serious but taught the team how to play and keep their spirits up.

Amy felt the low point of her season was losing to both Dubuque teams. She wished they would have been able to play a bit tougher and pull away with a win but everyone had tried their hardest and it just didn't turn out in their favor.

Both sophomores and freshman coaches felt that overall their teams had an outstanding season.

It is the middle of August and what are you doing? If you are like most students, you are probably dreading the return to school. If you're involved in a fall sport, you're probably dreading that first practice, especially if you're a cross country runner. Cross country running takes a lot of endurance and the boys' team had plenty of it.

Under Coach Dennis Roloff and team captains Rob Sullivan and Mike Heindselman, the guys were led to a fantastic season. "We ran consistant and stayed in the middle of the pack, and the junior-varsity was always dropping its times," remarked senior varsity runner Troy Lehmkuhl. One of the team's better races was the Cedar Rapids Invitational, where out of 20 teams the J-Hawks placed 10.

Cross Country members run like the wind to finish near the top throughout the season: 1) Eric Suter heads toward the finish line, 2) Mike Heindselman and Dan Woods are the duo to beat, 3) Jefferson students compete to be winners, 4) Troy Lehmkuhl runs with determination at a cross country meet 5) It's an uphill battle for the Jefferson team, 6) Troy Lemkuhl competes in a class all his own 7) Ding goes the bell, and round one begins for Darrin Crow 8) If Robert Sullivan had wings, he could certainly fly.

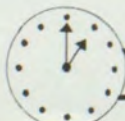

Whether or not you accomplish your goals is one way to measure success. The boys' team attained its goal by finishing sixth in the valley.

Team makes state

The cross country team was the largest ever this year. With two foreign exchange students, and twelve other girls, they qualified the team for state for the first time since 1980. The team placed seventh in the state meet with Mr. O'Brien receiving Metro coach honors and five runners earning spots on the Metro team.

This team showed a lot of leadership to accomplish these goals. They pulled together as one and worked hard to excel. There was a new school record set by Cyndi Olson for a two mile course in 12:07.

The season started out in the hot summer weather with slow, long running to gain strength and endurance. The next part of the training program concerned itself with speed play. Girls also ran hills during this period of time. This gave the runners a chance to work on their up hill abilities. By the end of the season they practiced speed and tempo drills. After all their running, they still had energy left to go lift weights twice a week.

Coach O'Brien said the Clinton Classic was a very successful meet. The girls did very well and received many personal bests. That meet was undoubtedly the high-light of the season. Mr. O'Brien and the runners are looking forward to an even better and rewarding season next year.

Hether Wharton mentally psyches herself up before the race begins.

These runners expressed varied emotions during the long and strenuous fall campaign: 1) Stephanie Bockenstedt, 2) Ellen Bos, 3) Cyndi Olson, 4) Stephanie Rogers, 5) Cyndi Olson, 6) Stephanie Rogers, 7) Carrie Sullivan, 8) Joy Titus.

Season was unique

Listening to Peter, Paul, and Mary, hairy legs, chlorinated hair, early mornings, and H₂O as cold as ice—it may sound as if it's another world to you but to the swimmin' women, aka Aqua-jocks, it's just another day.

If you heard the swimmin' women do more before 7 a.m. than most people do all day, then you heard right. They started their days at 6:00 in the morning with 3,500 yards and ended with 6,000 yards at night.

Led by three seniors, the team faced the season with 14 new faces.

Junior Carol Boelter led the way to memories by setting a new 100 yard backstroke and a 200 yard individual medley record. Junior Nicole Ranard established herself a place in the state line-up and finished seventh in the 50 yard free and twenty-first in the 100 free. Meanwhile, the 400 free relay including Jennifer Dircks, Angela Robeson, Carol Boelter, and Nikole Ranard finished sixteenth at the state meet in Fort Dodge.

A few memorable events of the '89 season included the defeat of fifth place Dubuque Wahlert by only six points. And who can forget the first place finish at the Cedar Falls Invitational.

Mr. Taylor was very pleased with how the junior-varsity team performed this year. He stated, "The strength of the varsity depends on the junior-varsity." He summarized the season by saying, "The season was unique; nobody wanted it to end and everyone is looking forward to next year."

Hard work and determination were the two qualities that the team exemplified during its season: 1) Seniors Kerry Walsh and Tawnya Feiereisen both agree that being a girls' swimmer is grueling, 2) Jennifer Dircks helps herself out of the pool after a close race, 3) The J-Hawk swim team displays unity by doing a cheer, 4) Exploding off the blocks, Kim Stabb begins her race, 5) While swimming the butterfly, Diana DeSmidt loses her goggles, 6) J-Hawks Carol Boelter and Angela Robeson psyche themselves up for their races, 7) Carol Boelter holds up the old records, 8) An anxious Heather Jones stretches before her race, 9) Diver Sara Zeller displays how hard work and determination pay off, 10) Coach Jim Taylor's funny antics help keep up the team's spirit.

Wrestlers take 8 to state

Behind the scenes, the wrestling team practiced hard after school every night, to get prepared for the string of victories ahead. Co-Captains Eddie Burnell and Jeff Horak were anxious to lead the team on to victory.

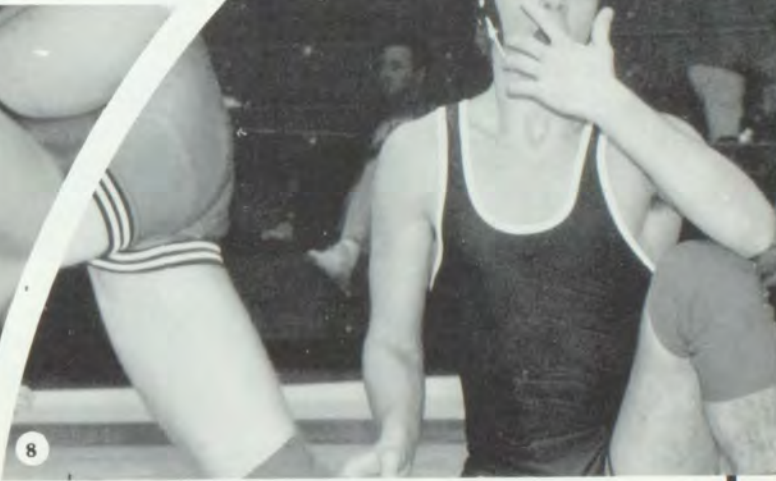

The most important meet of the year to the varsity team was the Prairie-Jefferson clash. To show the excitement of the evening, students, along with cheerleaders and wrestlers, wore the t-shirt with an inscription "Battle for Braggin Rights," in hopes of a victory. Prairie had not lost a meet since 1976 and Jefferson had not lost a meet all season long. The tension was in the air. Unfortunately, the J-Hawks faced a disappointing loss.

Jefferson sent 8 wrestlers to the state wrestling meet, the most of any 3A team. Wrestlers receiving championships at the districts meet were: Sean Martin at 119; 125-lb. Ali Igram; 130-lb. Matt Ironside; Ed Burnell at 140; and 189-lb. Jeff Horak. Also going in 2nd place were Chad Gallagher at 112, Jeremy Jones at 135, and heavyweight Mike Solberg.

At state we had an outstanding finish with 7 out of the 8 qualifiers placing. Jeff Horak and Ali Igram won championships. Jeff placed second at state and Coach Briggs was named "Coach of the Year."

The J-Hawk varsity team ends its season with a 9-1 record: 1) Senior Eddie Burnell fights to take his opponent down, 2) Mike Solberg cradles his opponent, 3) J.V. Wrestler David Wertz goes for a victory, 4) Ali Igram cradles for a hopeful pin, 5) Chad Gallagher struggles for a win at the Prairie-Jefferson meet, 6) Jeff Horak aims to pin his opponent, 7) Anthony Johnson confidently awaits the whistle for a sure pin, 8) Sean Martin "AHs" in surprise over his victory.

Wish comes true

The freshman and sophomore wrestling teams both reached their high goal of undefeated seasons. Many of the wrestlers feel they did an overall good job this season, along with the sophomore coach, Mr. Hegarty. They all worked very diligently with daily practices from 3:00 to 5:00 p.m. and some mornings.

"It was a dream season, it couldn't have gone any better. It was just a dream season! We had a lot of talent, and we lived up to all of it. They could improve a little more if they could wrestle more in the summer and at some free style tourneys," finished Coach Hegarty.

"We were undefeated this year, that made us all feel good." Freshman Todd Stambaugh continued, "The trips to other cities to wrestle were the best; we all had a blast!"

Sophomore Shawn Burnell stated, "When we as a team won MVC, that had to be what we all wanted the most . . . By changing coaches from year to year all of us wrestlers get a total learning experience."

Freshmen and Sophomore J-Hawk wrestlers had an exciting year including: 1) Mark Wooff prepares his Washington opponent for a pin, 2) Jim Robinson powerfully struggles for a fall at the freshman vs. Washington meet, 3) Nathan Moses works for a take down at the Prairie meet. 4) Wendy Brandon and Becky Kruse keep stats at a sophomore quad meet, 5) Matt Rinderknecht proudly accepts his victory against his West Waterloo opponent, 6) Kim shows her unique way of supporting her brother, Brad Pike, 7) Barb Snitker, Lori Wilwol, and Tawnya Feiereisen anxiously await the wrestlers' entrance.

The J-Hawk boys worked very hard during the season and it showed during their games: 1) Center Rex Spicer stretches to outreach his Prairie opponent at the start of the game, 2) Jason Mrozinski lets loose of a vital free throw as junior Jeremy Lewis looks on, 3) Colin Mattiace, a sophomore starter, watches and prepares to rebound Matt Donner's shot, 4) Guard Sean Tighe waits to make sure no ball goes over his head.

A weary season

Only one season after winning a share of the MVC title, this year saw the boys' basketball team faced with rough times.

This year's team lost all of last season's starters except for one. That meant that second year J-Hawk coach Robert Landis had to depend on the few seniors and many underclassmen players to become a team. A tough schedule also contributed to a long season for the J-Hawks.

Unfortunately, the record at the end of the season does not show all the hard work the team put out. The young team was always ready to post a good game every time they stepped out onto the floor. At the middle of the season the J-Hawks had a string of games they lost by no more than five points. One of these thrillers was the Jeff vs. Kenedy game. The J-Hawks came on strong throughout the game but the Cougars overpowered them to win, 82-80, in the last quarter.

The small J-Hawk squad surprised many teams in the Valley with their determination.

Rex Spicer, a senior player, commented, "There were many close games that should have been won but the more experienced teams held on all the way through the fourth quarter and we couldn't."

People say winning isn't everything and Coach Landis agrees with that cliché. He thinks if a team improves as a whole then it was a winning season. This was the case of the J-Hawks this year.

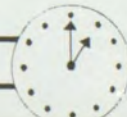

A sophomore starter, Colin Mattiace, stated, "Everybody was nervous because almost everyone was new to varsity playing, but it came together at the end."

This indeed was the case of the J-Hawk team but the squad of next season may just surprise the crowds by its improvement.

Eager for success

Looking back over the season, both sophomore and freshman boy's basketball teams had a good year. The sophomores ended their season with an 18-0 record. The sophomore coaches this year were Dirk Dunbar and Steve Hilby. Dunbar commented that the team was made up of a good group of guys. They were also said to have a winning attitude overall.

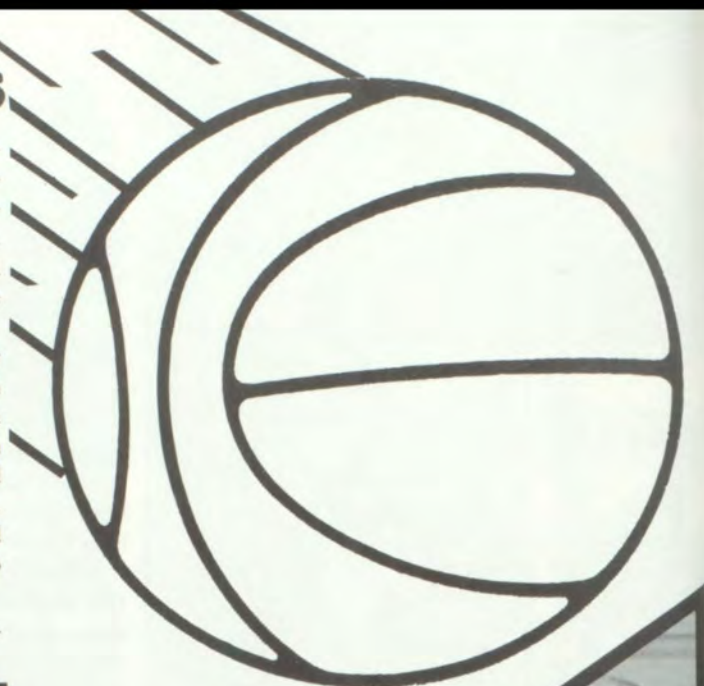

This year's freshman white team was led by Coach Meyer and Coach Lawrence. The blue team was coached by Coach Ash. Both teams had a winning season with the white team finishing at 10-6 and the blue team at 12-4. Next year, when they combine to form one team as sophomores, they should be one of the top teams in the Mississippi Valley Conference.

One thing that stood out about both the sophomores and the freshmen teams was the great team effort and leadership displayed by the guys who made up these three teams.

Teamwork wins games

SECOND AT STATE!

Oh what a year for the Jefferson girls' basketball team! They had one of the most outstanding seasons in the history of 5 on 5 play. The team was ranked first and was living up to their ranking. Then the team's first loss came to Regis, who was also ranked.

Assistant Coach Dennis Roloff commented, "Regis was our toughest competitor all season." Many of the girls had also stated that Regis was the most feared team in the Valley. Jefferson went on to finish regular season play with a 17-3 record. The only losses were to Regis, Kennedy, and Waterloo Columbus.

The J-Hawks avenged two of their losses by whipping Kennedy and thrashing Regis. Senior Carol Boardman commented, "The thing that helped us win was our aggressiveness and our team attitude."

The girls' basketball team went on to state after an outstanding season. The J-Hawks teamwork and determination earned them a second place trophy and a feeling of success. The team definitely showed its pride and true J-Hawk spirit by making the state tournament so exciting.

Squads happy

Records show winning year

Two eager freshmen teams joined in the action once the season began. Also, the two ninth grade teams from last year combined as one to form the sophomore team. For freshmen, this is a way of meeting new people in their first year of high school. For the sophomores, they are strengthening their abilities.

This year's freshman blue, coached by Mark Stewart and assisted by senior Ellen Leary, compiled the fantastic record of 16-0. It was an outstanding season for these girls. The freshmen blue team usually led in scoring.

The freshmen white team, guided by Coach Wenndt and Coach Koehn, finished the season with the record of 8-8. It was a hard season for them at times, but all girls worked hard together.

One freshman white player, Erin Trickey, said she liked the competition of high school basketball, rather than playing in junior high.

High school teams play to win.

The sophomore team, coached by Bill Condron and Paul Kinkcad, compiled a record of 16-0. All sophomores did very well this season. Coach Stewart felt every girl had the potential to be a great player and every girl contributed in her own special way.

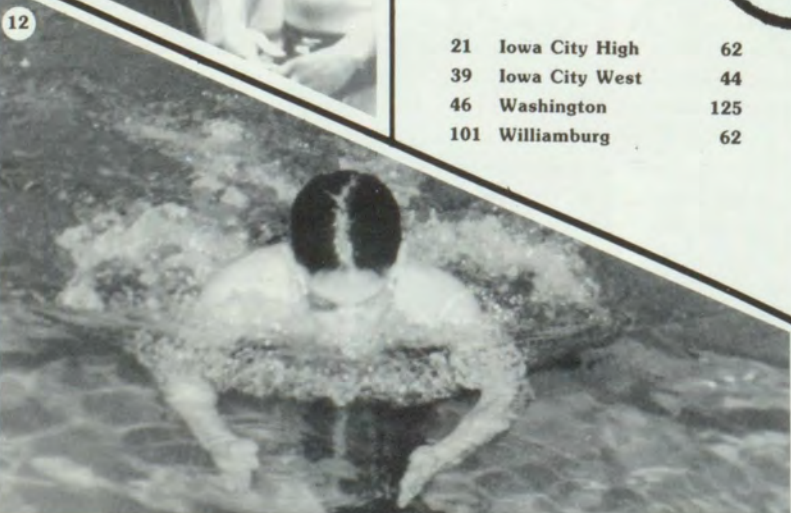

Although all three teams had the struggles of good times and bad times through practices and games, they came away with positive outlooks and hopefully became better players. The freshman teams and sophomore team achieved a lot for the J-Hawk basketball program. These J-Hawks really showed their spirit and ambition.

Coach Stewart, looking back on the season, predicted the future looks bright for J-Hawks girls' basketball. Remember! If it is to be, it is up to me.

The 1989-90 men's swim season has become known as the year of the walking wounded. Bronchitis, asthma, flu, ear infections, and mono have all taken their toll on the team and resulted in the first losing season in ten years. The swimmers finished their dual meet season with a record of 4-5.

"Staying healthy has been our biggest problem this year," said head coach Jim Taylor. "We started out with a small team, and it is getting smaller with people out sick." Of the 21 on the team, seven have been sick the last half of the season.

The swimmers first meet of the season was a close contest against cross-town rival Kennedy. The Cougars managed to pull off an 89-83 win. The swimmers then bounced back with a three meet winning streak over Dubuque Hempstead, Waterloo West, and then Marshalltown.

The swimmers second loss was handed to them by Dubuque Senior in the Ram's pool. Then, after four meets in less than one week, the team got one last win against Williamsburg.

The next couple of losses came from fifth ranked Iowa

City High, 62-21, and from Iowa City West, by the slim margin of 44-39. The final dual meet of the year was a loss to the number one ranked Washington Warriors.

Some of the year's highlights came at the conference and district swim meets. At districts, the J-Hawks had 91% time drops, and qualified four swimmers and a diver to the state meet in Iowa City. Diver Brian Rawson finished second, while senior Shane Hickey qualified in the 500 yard freestyle, and the 400 yard free relay. Other state qualifiers included senior Lance Miller, junior Todd Barger, and sophomore Nick Haidin, who all qualified in the relay.

At state, Brian Rawson ended his season with a sixteenth place finish, Shane Hickey finished twenty-first in the 500, and the 400 relay finished 19th.

At the awards banquet, Shane Hickey was named co-captain with Trevor Tomney, co-hardest worker with Todd Barger, and most valuable. Trevor Tomney also got the sparkplug award, and freshman Chad Krigermeier most improved.

The 1989-90 men's swim team members show their talent: 1) Junior Corey Peiffer dives off the blocks at a swim meet 2) Receiving a back rub from Coach Brouard is junior Todd Barger 3) After a tough race, senior Jim Anderson stands dazed 4) Senior Robert Armstrong prepares for his upcoming event 5) Playing the drums at a Washington swim meet is freshman Matt Betterton 6) Coach Jim Taylor cheers on one of his swimmers 7) Coach Les Santee gives some helpful advice to senior Shane Hickey 8) Brian Rawson, senior, soars through the air 9) After a hard race senior Chip Hallett looks for his time 10) Nick Haiden, sophomore, sits with a look of determination on his face 11) Posing for a picture is senior Trevor Tomney 12) Freshman Matt Betterton does the breaststroke.

Running for victory . . . The year of J-Hawks

Since the boys' track team started the season, they excelled in many different events. As the season began, the guys set many goals for themselves. They wanted to be the best in the MVC, Metro, and they wanted to finish in the top 10 at state.

The J-Hawks came close to their goals and they did an awesome job during the season. They finished 5th in the MVC and 13th in state out of 50 schools.

Eric Hale, Ed Threatt and the medley relay played a big part in this accomplishment.

Coach Schirm stated, "They did a great job and I believe they have a good number returning next year. Congratulations to this year's team and good luck in 1991."

These scenes were captured during a long season, which starts with indoor meets and ends with the state meet: 1) Jason Young after a race, 2) Matt Powell flies through the air, 3) Ed Threatt and Jason Young talk before a meet in the Uni-Dome, 4) Dan Kluth makes his move for a strong finish, 5) Before taking off, Shawn Stewart receives the baton, 6) With ease, Steve Harms glides over the bar, 7) Jason Young heads for the finish, 8) Shawn Stewart awaits a hand off from Adam Kloos, 9) With the sound of the gun Rahmal Gibson is off, 10) Alan Tichy takes a big breath to help him finish his race strong, 11) Kirk Wischmeyer warms up before a race, 12) With a look of determination, Eric Jones rounds the curve, 13) B.J. Calloway gives it his all to finish strong.

Girls excel at state

What a year for the girls' track team! Just a few of the fine accomplishments for the runners were placing 1st in the J-Hawk Relays, 2nd at the conference, 2nd at districts, and to top it off, tying for 3rd at the state meet in Des Moines.

Leading the way for the J-Hawks at state were a number of great runners. Junior Cyndi Olson placed 1st in the 3,000 and 1500, breaking the Metro records in each event. Sophomore Amber Atkins placed 2nd in the discus and 4th in the shot put.

Placing 5th in the discus was freshman Christy Hebert. In the hurdles Andrea Lehew placed 5th. The 4x100 team, made up of Jill Clarke, Earlene Johnson, Alisha Williams, and Erin Trickey, finished 3rd.

"The girls' tremendous drive to be the best that they could be was one of the reasons behind their success," explained Coach Calloway. He then quickly pointed to his outstanding coaching staff of Coach Tower, Coach O'Brien, and Coach Haddy.

"The improvement of every member is due to their hard work and the outstanding devotion of our coaching staff," concluded Cyndi Olson. At the season's end, Cyndi was named MVC Athlete of the Year.

The 1990 mens' soccer season was crammed full of accomplishments and many lasting memories. In the long history of mens' soccer at Jefferson, this year's team acquired their first ever winning season.

The varsity team ended its season with a very impressive record of 9-4-2. The junior-varsity players ended their campaign with a winning record too.

The team could not have accomplished its success without the excellent coaching of head coach Terry Strait, assistant coaches Matt Evens and Steve Potter, and a few notable seniors.

The team was led skillfully by senior tri-captains Greg Joseph, Chris Schroeder, and Derek Pendergast. Other accomplished senior players were Mike Heindselman and first year player, Porter Zikmund.

The J-Hawk defense was exceptionally good this year too. The J-Hawks recorded six shutouts, three of them in a row. Outstanding defensive members included Mike Heindselman, Brad Pooch, Sean Tighe, Derek Pendergast, and goalie Kerry Carleton. The offense, on the other hand, was led by Joe Sample, who broke the school record for the most goals scored in a season by scoring 14. Scoring was also led by Porter Zikmund, Greg Joseph, Chris Schroeder, Ashley Brannan, and Mike Derlein.

"I felt that the team progressed tremendously as the year went by," stated junior Mike Derlein. He added that, "Even though we are losing a handful of good seniors, I think next year's team will still be very strong due to the upcoming freshmen and sophomores."

The hard work and determination of this year's team made this the most successful soccer season to date.

Girls kick in style

"It was a real action packed season," explained senior player Candi Keister, which was the most common response throughout the team. The varsity team ended its season with an 8-8-1 record, and the junior-varsity rolled in with an 11-3-3 record. The varsity placed second at the Muscatine Tournament, which was a fantastic accomplishment for the team as a whole. "Since girls' soccer is not a sanctioned sport, it was as if we took second in the state," stated Coach Paula Kincaid.

Hopes of next year's soccer team are high due to the upcoming underclassmen. The coaches feel that the program will be stronger than ever in the years to come. Thoughts are also the same for sophomore Amy Fottral who stated, "We played intense and hard ball this year; hopefully next year we can be number one." Another freshman soccer player who feels the same as Amy Fottral is Angie Golden. Freshmen Marie Mattiace said, "Next year's team will be a really awesome one because we know what to expect from other teams and know how hard the competition is."

So all we can do now is wait patiently for the girls' soccer team to play an excellent season.

Much of the girls' soccer teams success was due to their hard work and determination: 1) Maria Mattiace takes time out to take a quick drink, 2) Karen Sylvester gives it her all for her corner kick, 3) During a pregame warm-up, Becky Mach practices her kick, 4) Brandi Allnut warms up for the big game, 5) Carrie Kirby is deep in thought, 6) Tove Syverson kicks the ball in to score, 7) Maria Mattiace waves in the ball, 8) Joanna Orman opens wide for the camera, 9) Megan Beidenbach challenges her opponent, 10) Heather Curtis shows her technique, 11) Goalie Tawnya Fieireisen blocks a goal.

A long season for J-Hawks

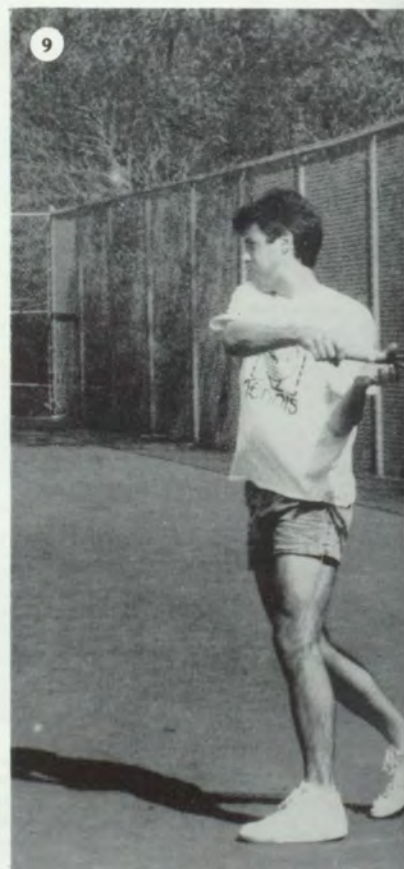

As the middle of May approached, the 1990 tennis season came to an end. After a long tough season, the players experienced a sense of achievement. "I think this season was disappointing to a senior's point of view, but as a sophomore, it provided a lesson for next year," said Bryan Fickel. The J-Hawks finished with a two and nine record overall and a one and six record in the Mississippi Valley race.

After a rough season, four J-Hawks were recognized for outstanding achievement. D.J. Ernberger and Josh Wilford were voted second team All Metro and Matt Smith and Bryan Fickel were awarded honorable mention. D.J. Ernberger was also recognized for winning the Stillions award. "I am very pleased with the effort put forth from the tennis players this season," Coach Bowen stated.

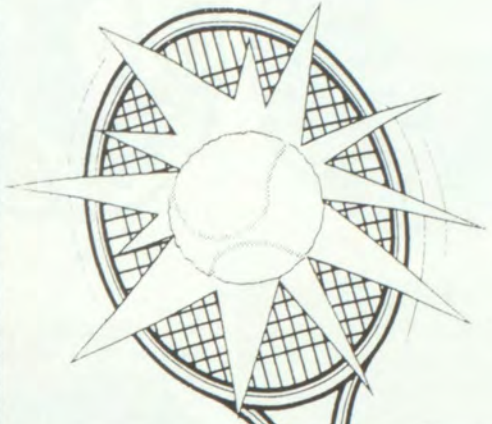

Although the boys didn't have a winning season, a feeling of accomplishment was established among the 41 players.

The girls' tennis team has again won the MVC championship for the second straight year. The Big Blue racket crew ended its season with 13 wins and no losses. These J-Hawk girls went on to win the districts, the regional individual title, and their winning spirit took them to state, where they finished 1st.

This year Jefferson brought back four letter winners for the 1990 season including: Nikki Uelze, Angie Becker, Amber Miller, and Anita Ledesma.

"The girls worked hard and because of it they have achieved a lot. It was a great season and we really worked hard," stated Amber Miller. "I feel we have accomplished a lot," she added.

Last year the J-Hawk baseball team made it all the way to the state tournament where they finished in the top four in the state. This year's team is looking just as promising, with the likes of four lettermen coming back. Matt Anderson, an outfield and second baseman; Matt Donner, pitcher and third baseman; Dave Konigsmark, shortstop; and Jeremy Lewis, catcher, all are back.

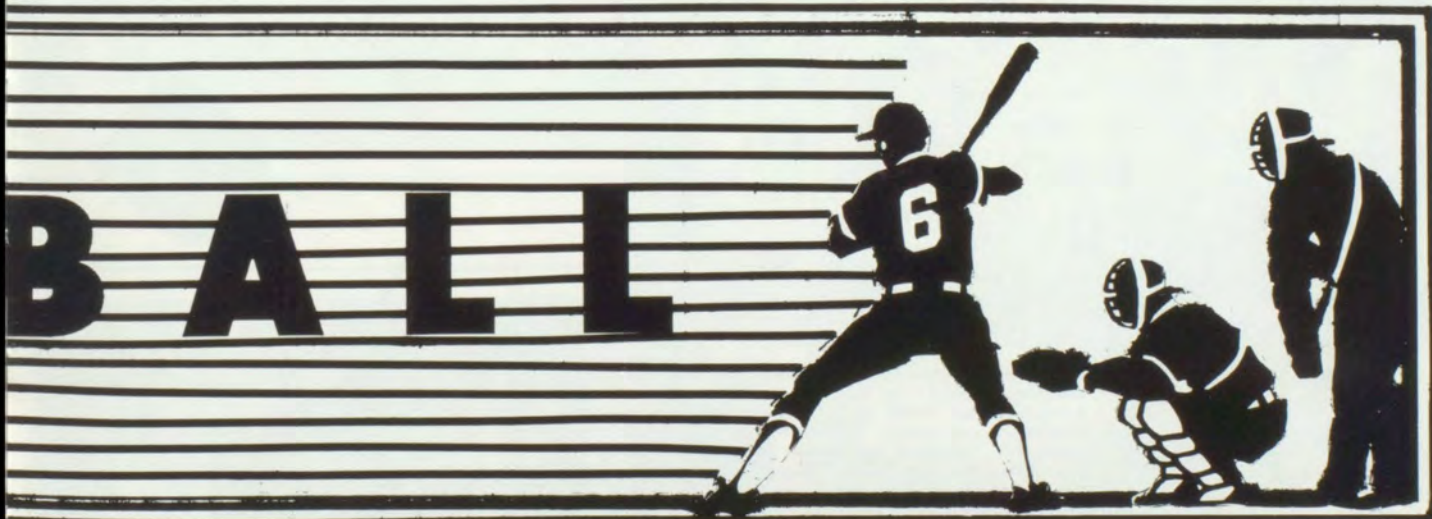

This year the baseball team will be playing for their fourth straight Mississippi Valley Conference title. They are off to a good start after beating Regis 9-1 and LaSalle 10-0. The baseball team has very good pitching in Kyle Condran, Matt Donner, and sophomore Colin Mattice. Condran pitched in two varsity games a year ago. Mattice threw splendid as a freshman. Donner last year was one of the best pitchers in the Valley. In high school, pitching is very important and our team has very good pitchers. The baseball team is hoping to be the state champs this year!

Hoping to repeat again as MVC champions, these players opened their long summer campaign on May 29: 1) Dave Koningsmark, 2) Sean Tighe, 3) Tom Knight, 4) Paul Pickering, 5) Matt Pealer, 6) Colin Mattice scores the team's first homerun of the season in a game against Regis Softball shines...

Girls' hope to hit it big in MVC

The Jefferson girls' softball team is more powerful than ever. With four outstanding seniors, Heidi Butz, Carol Boardman, Julie Brown, and Ellen Leary, the J-Hawks should definitely be a dominant force in the Mississippi Valley Conference. A good supply of underclassmen also should keep the team solid. Senior Carol Boardman commented, "Yeah, we do need underclassmen to do their jobs and they do have a lot of potential."

The softball team has close to 27 regular season games, excluding tournaments, classics, sectionals, and regionals. This means it is a long road to state, which is definitely in the J-Hawks sights. Outfielder Heidi Butz stated, "We want to take metro, conference, sectionals, regionals and go to state and win it!" This should be a great summer!, she predicted.

Under the watchful eye of Coach Larry Niemeyer, these dedicated girls show that they can play softball and be among the best: 1) Christy Hebert, 2) Angie Allison, 3) Carol Boardman, 4) Sara Voss, 5) Carol Boardman, 6) Angie Golden, 7) Julie Brown, 8) Tara Hupfeld, 9) Ellen Leary, 10) Maria Mattiace, 11) Ellen Leary, 12) Julie Brown and Kelly Ullrick, 13) Kelly Ullrick.

Half time excitement comes to life

Nervousness and anticipation filled Teri Lodge's head before the band's show at Kingston. The show consisted of "Brazil", next it slowed down with the ballad "Since I Fell For You", and then offered her visual entertainment with the exciting drum solo "St. Alfonzo's Pancake Breakfast." The show closed with "Let It Be Me."

During a good performance everybody worked together, wanting to show fans who's not only the largest, but the best, band in Iowa. "It was a 'high' experience for us," the senior drum major explained.

The crowd played a big part in the dynamic performance. The Band of Blue of two hundred and forty dedicated members performed the best when the crowd got excited. The crowd had a lot to cheer about with the numerous field moves, the colorguard's sign language to "Let It Be Me," singing, and three flag change. Wherever the band went, the dedicated fans seemed to follow.

The last couple football games got a little bit nippy, but the band and the dedicated fans still showed up in their long johns, with hats, mittens, and blankets to show everyone that nothing could stop them.

The season brought new uniforms. When the Band of Blue took the field for the half-time ceremony, the new uniforms of blue, white and silver really made them noticeable. The uniform had two pairs of pants—a white pair for contests, and a new blue pair, which was worn at football games.

For the seventh consecutive year the band captured the Marion Invitational, sweeping all categories in the contest.

The highlight of the year was the state contest. Pulling together, the band scored an amazing 96.6, higher than any other band.

As another season comes to an end, these J-Hawks will never forget the fun times they shared during halftime at Kingston: 1) The Jefferson Band of Blue plays the fight song, 2) Queen Lori Wilwol with escort Erik Plaht, 3) Ellen Leary takes a break from cheering during halftime, 4) Dana Schulte shows her stuff during a pom routine, 5) Excited fans cheer on their team during a game, 6) The Jefferson Snare Line shows its anticipation before their performance, 7) Color guard member Sherri Suschena does her solo routine, 8) The Jefferson Drum Majors salute the crowd, 9) Jeffy J-Hawk welcomes football fans with open arms, 10) Robert Armstrong lets his true character show through.

Groups excel in fine arts

In the middle of winter when everyone was trying to stay warm, the Colorguard and Pom Pons remember the days in August at band camp, where they all were scorched by the sun. Both groups had many difficult hours of choreography and marching in the high temps and humid conditions.

However, the extreme hours of hard work didn't stop there. At the beginning of August there were workshops that attempted to teach the basics. Following camp, they still had to practice several hours before school even started. It was there in which they learned "Brazil," the openers of their show. When the school opened in September, their practices were 7:30 to 9:10 in the morning and selected nights after school. Also, there were extra rehearsals for the Pom Pons. In the morning they learned marching and their formations on the field. At the night they learned the choreography to the rest of the show. The new songs they learned included "Let It Be Me," "St. Alfonzo's Pancake Breakfast" and "Since I Fell For You." The Poms also learned new routines to pep band songs.

Senior Marcy Lewis exclaimed that being a colorguard member gave her a big sense of achievement, but it was difficult working in that large of a group. She felt the highlight of her year was the state contest.

After contest season ended, colorguard was over, but the Poms performed at the basketball games. Junior Shara Prull said Poms are lots of fun due to the crowd cheers and dancing. A person should be "go team go" and cheerful in order to be a Pom, she felt.

Marcy said that being in colorguard made her feel part of a proud tradition.

WSD dazzles audience

Westside Delegation members shared yet another exciting year. Late last year when the 1989-90 Westside Delegation was posted, it was brought to attention that many new faces would play a big role in the group. Along with new faces came a change in the visual effects, such as new dresses, chaser lights, flags, and the ever-popular smoke machine. Yet, the actual members of Westside are what made each performance fabulous, explained Mr. Peter Eklund, the group's director.

"As a whole, I believe our group was really good, and a lot of fun. We've had to work hard to keep our good reputation and I think we've done a pretty good job," noted Jamie Locker, a senior member of Westside.

Westside Delegation has remained well respected among students as well as top show choirs across the Midwest. This was evident through the warm reception that Westside received at the Onalaska show choir competition, where WSD went home with the honor of first place. Andy Weld, a junior in Westside Delegation, stated, "The best thing about being involved in Westside this year is the feeling of accomplishment and pride that we all shared after a good performance, and knowing that we had pulled together for a success."

Making music great

As we sat in the auditorium, we were surrounded by song coming from behind us. In a flourish of blue robes, the singers proceeded down the aisle. These people were members of Jefferson's High School's Concert Choir, directed by Ms. Carol Tralau. The talent of the choir members and the quality of the songs made Concert Choir truly different from others at Jefferson.

Concert Choir became more than just a group this year, it became a family.

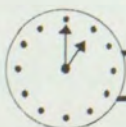

Working together can cause stress, but somehow these people managed to forget their differences and came together into one very talented group. Senior Angela Toomsen remarked, "Everyone was able to learn how to sing together. There were no stars."

Since the members must be auditioned, the group started out with a higher degree of knowledge and talent. This permits more freedom for the singers and the conductor. Humor replaced drilling, and a more relaxed feeling was in the air.

Because the members had a good musical background, the choir group was able to perform much harder music, to the delight of Ms. Tralau. When asked why Concert Choir was such a joy to direct, she replied, "This group gave me more freedom as a conductor. I was able to see some dreams of complex music come true."

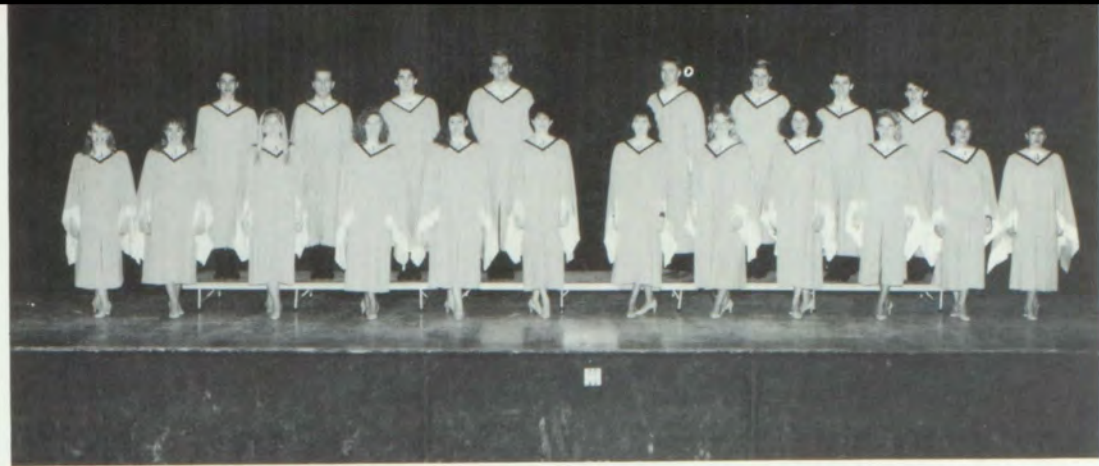

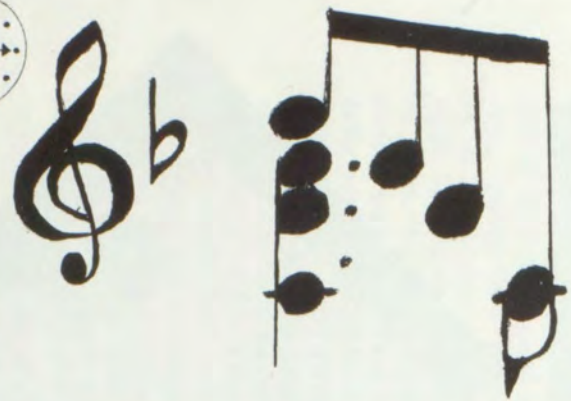

Friendships were made that will go on for a very long time.

Choirs work for top honors

Among the varied musical groups representing Jefferson, the Madrigal Singers, Men's Choir, and Women's Choir are three groups designed primarily for upperclassmen. The goal of each of these choirs is simply to be the best.

Practices Required

It takes long hours of sweat and frustration to fulfill this goal. Rehearsals are often held before and after school, in addition to practicing during class time. These long hours of practice place additional work loads on choir directors Pete Eklund and Ms. Carol Tralau.

A goal of any choir is to receive a number one ranking at state, noted Ms. Tralau. This goal requires extra hours of hard work on the part of each student.

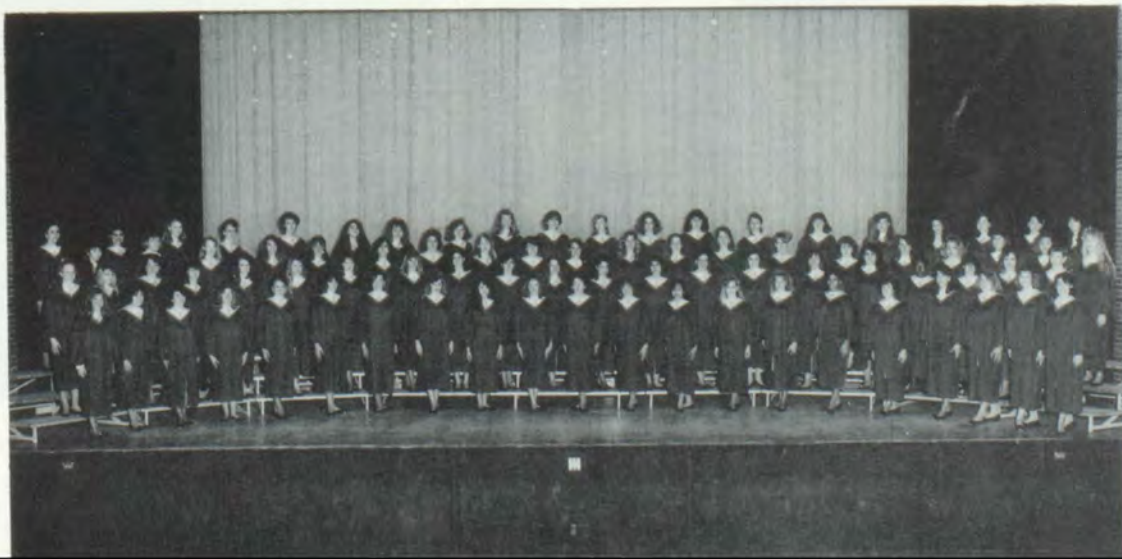

Students Active

We appreciate the extra time students put in rehearsing, noted Ms. Tralau, since so many of our students are active in other programs, such as Westside Delegation, drama, or instrumental music.

Ovation shines

Two ways for students to excel in music at Jefferson are to be selected for All-State or become a member of Ovation.

"All-State works as much out of class as we do in class," stated Erik Plaht. "I wish I would have gotten into it sooner in my years at Jefferson."

All-State started working toward its goals last year.

Another outstanding group of performers is Ovation. This group is made up of ninth, tenth, and eleventh graders. "Ovation is a great way to audition students for Westside," replied Scott Skala, a member of Ovation and Westside.

This fine young group is a transition group for Westside. Ovation also performs on their own for grade schools and middle schools. They also participated in the Jefferson Invitational Choir festival.

Eric Huff adds, "Choir is an outstanding way to excel as well as a way to introduce yourself to new people!"

Wind Symphony

Concert Band

The 1990 Concert Band and Wind Symphony members could be described by many words. Devoted, hardworking, and fun! The devotion starts at 8:10 every morning. Ten minutes less in the halls, makes all the difference in this band's sound.

The Wind Symphony had one tremendous highlight during its concert season. A lot of hard work took place in preparing for the concert held in Ames at Iowa State University. The Symphony succeeded in playing what could be considered a "fine" concert, noted Mr. Dickenson, director.

The Concert Band, consisting mostly of underclassmen, was an amazingly large group. With an overwhelming number of new members, freshman Karrie Michael commented, "It was scary playing with a large group for the first time." When asked about the most memorable moment of the season, almost all answered, "When Mr. Houk broke his conductor's baton during rehearsal one frustrating morning."

The 1989-90 school year was one full of successes and memories for both the Concert Band and Wind Symphony members.

With Mr. Bruce Eilers in his third year as the conductor, and with forty-six members within the ranks, the Orchestra has had a busy but successful year. With only one senior in the group, Mr. Eilers feels they all have done a good job, and gained a lot of maturity. Going to Florida in the spring, they gave many meaningful and exciting concerts. These concerts gave the group something to look back on during practices.

In the same section of the fine arts building are the jazz and pep band, which both work hard too. Since there are only six class periods in a day, they are also forced to hold early morning practice. These practices, however, don't interfere with the great performances they share with the fans at sporting events.

Without the pep band at athletic events, students couldn't share their excitement. This excitement is what keeps fans cheering throughout the entire game.

The directors in the music department are not the only people who make the bands and Orchestra a success. It's also due to the hard work of the students both before school and after school and even on their own time. With their help, this year's music performances have been great.

The pep band demonstrates that they can mix fun with work to end up with a winning combination: 1) Kara Micheal takes a much deserved rest between numbers, 2) Jason Mahan shares his talent by playing in the pep band, 3) Jeff Young and Corey Peiffer relieve stress by keeping their minds off their approaching performance, 4) Scott McKenzie plays the flute, 5) Melissa Taylor follows along closely, waiting for her cue to play.

Stage memories

1990 was a great year for the Thespian Troupe 561. Once again the Jefferson Thespians had the privilege of hosting the State Thespian Festival, where high schools from all over the state were in attendance. Darrin Crow, a senior, presided over the weekend in his second year as a state board member. Sophomore Jason Bennett stated, "I think that we've had a fun and successful year, everyone worked together as a group, and that's what made this year so much better than last year." One of the highlights of the year, was the group's journey to the movie theatre to see "Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtles, the Movie." This was one of the unofficial outings, but proved to be one of the best.

Looking at Thespians from the view of a technical person, this year, once again, said nothing but success. The technical designs of the sets for "Noises Off", as well as "Bye-Bye Birdie" helped to bring the stage alive for yet another year of fabulous performances.

Senior Erik Plaht, president of Thespian Troupe 561, stated that one of the best things that happened this year was the fact that the troupe did everything together. "We all had a common goal... success."

Cast is humorous

A glimpse of British theatre came to Jefferson's stage with the production of "Noises Off." This play was unique in that it was the first production that Jefferson has done using the British dialect. Performance dates were November 2-4 for the public, and November 10 for students attending the State Thespian Festival. "Noises Off" was directed by Robert Geuder, with technical direction by James Erbe.

One of the elements that made this show excellent was the set created by Mr. Erbe and his crew. They made it possible to turn the entire set around, so that half of the show could be performed on the front of the set, and the second half, on the reverse.

When asked about her part in the play, Jenny Charlier said, "It was a stretch from my real personality, I hope I'm not really as dumb as my character. But seriously, I really did enjoy playing my part. It was the first play I have ever been in, so the experience in itself was great. The best part of being in 'Noises Off' was that the cast was so small. With only nine people, it's easier to work as a team, and it helps make the final product a success."

Unlike other fall plays, this one served as a mainstage production, rather than a little theatre performance. Considering this, it was successful in attracting a large crowd. Every cast member seemed to agree that "Noises Off" was an exciting and enjoyable play to be in. "I hope future shows at Jefferson will be as fun to work on as "Noises Off" was!" exclaimed Becky Johnson.

Disguised as a shiek, Scott Kruger speaks to his audience.

To calm her nerves, Jenny Charlier meditates.

As a typical crook would do, Joel Duffy scans the living room, looking for loot.

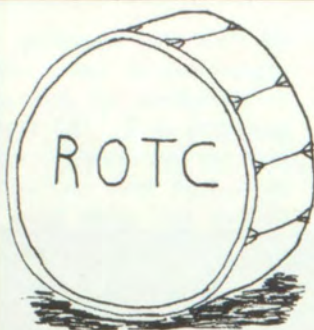

With a look of disapproval, Amy Zeller prevents Angie Toomsen and Erik Plaht from killing each other.

Overcome with joy, Becky Johnson receives flowers from Kevin Michael.

Removing thorns, Angie Toomsen lovingly helps relieve Tim Golay of his excruciating pain.

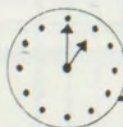

Scott Herdliska and Brian Schaufenbuel aid John Gilmore as he tries to wire an electric chandler.

James Milne listens to Rich Toomsen's heartbeat during a normal, military recruiting procedure.

Kendra Wright gives her maid, Anita Bimson, a devastating nightmare as punishment for getting drunk.

The Thurber family looks over an old family album.

'Jabberwock'

Once again the doors of Jefferson's Little Theater were opened. The stage revealed the inside of a three story home and the thrust was a road. The set, designed by Mr. Jim Erbe, was built in less than two weeks.

Jabberwock opened on December 7 and ran through the 9th. The comedy, written by James Thurber, follows a series of events in his own life. Being the only normal member of a somewhat strange household, Jamie Thurber was portrayed by Jason Bennett.

The plot begins when Jamie is in high school and traces his life through the ROTC during WWI. Scott Herdliska and Kendra Wright played his parents who helped him and his brothers through a ghost in the house, an electric car, and the installation of electricity.

Jabberwock was directed by Mr. Mike Pietz. It had a fairly large cast of over twenty actors and actresses. In addition, the crews spent endless hours of preparation.

Technical Crew, front row: T.J. Kisling, Rebecca Jansen, Trent Andrews. Back row: Brian Cerveney, Tracy Olver, Cynthia Kisling, Tony Otto, Jody Peet, Aric Hopkins.

Charlie Thurber (Scott Herdliska) calls out, "Mary Agnes, Mary Agnes" as he drives up to the house.

Jason Bennett watches with amazement as Kendra Wright peers into the vase.

Tales come alive

Children's Theatre was considered a great success by the enthusiastic crowds which attended one of the eight performances. Perhaps this was due in part to the fact it was not your traditional play, but instead consisted of four separate plays: What the Old Man Does is Always Right, Numbskull Jack, The Princes and the Pea, and The Ugly Duckling.

Sonja Jones was an old woman in "The Ugly Duckling," which was an audience favorite.

The young children had a real treat, explained Scott Herdliska, who felt the play was a success. He really thought it was a special treat for the whole cast to perform to a much younger audience. He especially liked the little kids' reactions. The high point for Scott was when these kids asked for his autograph following the performance. Playtime Poppy made his usual appearance, and sang his familiar song.

Jennifer Erbe has difficulty in falling asleep in "The Princess and the Pea." A little pea proved she really was a princess.

Scott Herdliska, Scott Kruger, and Kevin Michael starred in "What the Old Man Does is Always Right."

Erik Plaht entertains Angie Toomsen during their performance in "The Princess and the Pea." He portrayed Hans Christian Anderson.

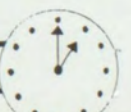

Linda Wacker is curious as to what is in the bag being given to her by Lisa Ziomek.

Scott Herdliska captivates the audience with his realistic portrayal of an old man.

Trish Firzlaff's portrayal of a beautiful swan made her scorn the ugly duckling in this popular children's tale.

Cast in her first role on the Jefferson stage, Ellen Bos prepares to trade her cow for a sheep.

Whose life is it?

As the lights dimmed, the audience of "Whose Life is it Anyway?" got their first glimpse of a problem of today's society: whether a person should be allowed to choose suicide rather than live on life support. Upon entering the Little Theater, audience members met Ken Harrison, portrayed by Darrin Crow, a paraplegic man, who is fighting against the hospital in order to be released to die. Ken chooses to die because he is unable to live a dignified life. This play brought the struggle between the government and typical American home to life by dealing with the legalization of suicide.

The production of "Whose Life is it Anyway?" took place March 22, 23, and 24. It was directed by Mr. Michael Peitz, with technical direction by Mr. James Erbe. The cast of 14 was primarily composed of upperclassmen, but did involve a few younger actors.

One unique aspect of this play was the fact that the cast researched the issue with which they were dealing. During one of their rehearsals, actors were given the opportunity to speak with an actual paraplegic patient. Through her they were allowed to see how a patient really feels when she has to be totally dependent upon others. When interviewed, Darrin Crow had a few friendly words to say. He stated, "This gives people time to think about the question, whose life is it anyway." He continued, "This has been one of my favorite plays to do. It also gave me time to think about my role, because I was always lying down, confined to a bed."

Scott Herdliska, a senior, stated, "This play made me look at the theater in a different way. I liked being in this play because everyone in the cast really cared and tried to convey the seriousness of the issue at hand."

The production itself proved to be rewarding, not only for the audience, but for members of the cast as well.

The cast members of "Whose Life is it Anyway?" really got involved with the story line and the major characters, including these actors: 1) Post trial relief overcomes the lawyers, 2) Nurse Wright explains, "I don't understand." 3) Lisa Ziomek brightens the room with flowers, 4) Judge David McDill stands a proud man, 5) Angie Toomsen meets lawyers Andy Weld and Amy Zeller, 6) The cast stands proud after a job well done, 7) Ken Harrison thinks about the possibility of life and death, 8) Having fun on the job is always permissible, 9) Angie Toomsen contemplates what will become of Ken upon his release.

Birdie goes bye bye

The crowd begins to quiet down for the spring musical production of "Bye Bye Birdie." We meet Rose, played by Amy Zeller, who appears at Almaelou Music Company in the first scene.

When talking with her, she commented, "The first scene was the most challenging for me because I had to sing low and I'm a soprano." She went on to say, "The character Rosie was fun and so was the dancing. I really liked playing her part in the musical."

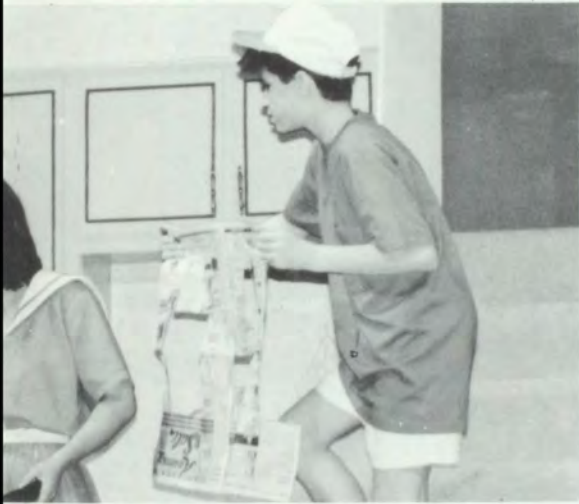

As the play went on to scene three we meet Conrad Birdie, a young rock star played by Joel Duffy. "I enjoyed playing a rock star because I was able to ham it up and it was easy for me 'cause I am a natural class clown," he said with a smile.

Through the eyes of the audience the musical was a success as one random viewer, Michelle Readnour, excitedly tells us, "I thought it was well performed and very funny. Personally, I'd rather see a musical. I like a musical; it is more interesting to listen to than just the ramble of dialogue. I wish I could see it again."

In this play, Brad Stiles, who is from Taft Middle School, played Randolph McAfee. It is unusual to have an eighth grader in a Jefferson musical, but it gave him experience for his future as a J-Hawk.

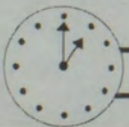

The spring musical, "Bye Bye Birdie", will be remembered by the cast as well as the audience for years to come: 1) Eric Plaht falls into a garbage can, 2) Tim Golay watches Trish Firzlaff strut her stuff, 3) Jennifer Erbe, Ann Koepke, Darrin Crow and son Brad Stiles dream together of being on the Ed Sullivan T.V. Show, 4) To no avail, Angela Toomsen tries to provoke Joel Duffy, 5) Teenagers Wendy Shugart and Jamie Locker stand in awe over Conrad Birdie, 6) Jennifer Erbe reassures Eric Plaht of her love, 7) Darrin Crow tries to have a pleasant breakfast with no help from his family, 8) Angela Toomsen accepts Amy Zeller into the family, 9) Scott Drzycimski presents the key to Joel Duffy as Chae Couser and others look on.

These sophomores are definitely proud to show their pride: 1) Jason Duffy is all smiles while attending a mixer, 2) Maria Swyter and Amy Wilkens take a moment out of the game to say "hi" to the camera man, 3) K.C. Weber will not let this opponent score, 4) Our class officers: Julie Anderson, treasurer; Amy Vanous, secretary; John Higgins, president; Natalie Serbousek, vice president.

In Your Eyes

The night that everyone looks ahead to all through high school had finally arrived—prom night. It was the evening of expensive dining and fairy tale enchantment.

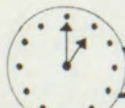

Prom 1990 was held at the Elk's Club on May 5. It was held from 8:00 to 11:00 p.m. The colors were red, black, and silver. Prom didn't end at 11:00 for many, it went on for many hours. The after prom party was held at Westdale Bowling Center. After that was over, people still went to more parties and got together with friends.

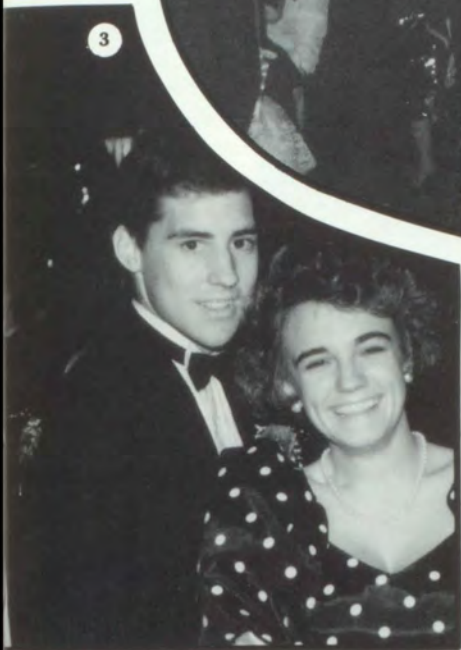

Jenni Luedtka stated, "Prom was a lot of fun, but for all the planning and preparations, it went by all too quickly."

Marcy Lewis, a senior, stated, "Prom was not a night she'd soon forget."

The long awaited night proved to be an extraordinary evening for seniors: 1) Amy Russell and James Erwin smile cunningly at the camera, 2) Julie Brown and her date enjoy each others company, 3) Shelley Duncan and Brad Poock cuddle, 4) Carol Boardman looks away as Matt Donner attempts a kiss, 5) Stacey Alday and date find an unusual way to cross the bridge, 6) Tom Moore and Jeanelle Myers pull close for a picture, 7) Two couples spend a night on the town, 8) Girls show off their garters, 9) Kim Lewis enjoys herself at prom, 10) Seniors pose in front of the city skyline, 11) Casey Fleming and Carly Slife share prom night with each other.

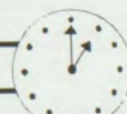

This year's Grand March was the highlight of the Jefferson Prom, May 5. This was the first Grand March ever held at Jefferson High School. Some of the people attending prom were: 1) Kris Kaplan, Melissa Smith, and Jenny Charlier strike a pose, 2) Lori Wilwol dances with Chad Gallagher, 3) Ali Igram and Jody Kloubec share a humorous moment, 4) Derek Pendergast and Kris Young smile while Eric Huff is caught off guard, 5) Jefferson's 1990 Prom, 6) Robert Routh escorts Heather Ealy with one good leg, 7) Scott Hermanson escorts Leann Krueger, 8) Karla McCaw walks across the bridge with Andy Welbourne, 9) Kelly Butler and Mike Vifian pose on the bridge, 10) Girls admire Dustin Heerkan's sporty tuxedo, 11) Buddies Sean Martin and Scott Herdliska stop for a quick snapshot.

A morning of joy

Graduation . . . a time when the memories of past school days culminate in one festive occasion at the Five Seasons Center.

When asked what graduation means to them, seniors replied in several ways. "Freedom, but I'm scared to graduate, because everything will change," replied Stacey Feiereisen. Melissa Kemmerer commented, "You're out on your own, but your friends may not be there for you anymore." "It's starting a new phase of life!" finished Janel

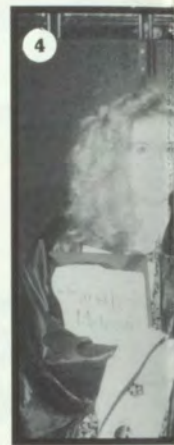

Nutt.

On this day, the spotlight shines on the 405 members of the graduating class of 1990.

Camcorders hummed and pictures were taken as parents saw their children receive their well deserved diplomas.

As the ceremony drew to a close, the graduates gave a sigh of relief. Their thoughts began to drift to next fall when many students begin their new lives.

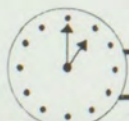

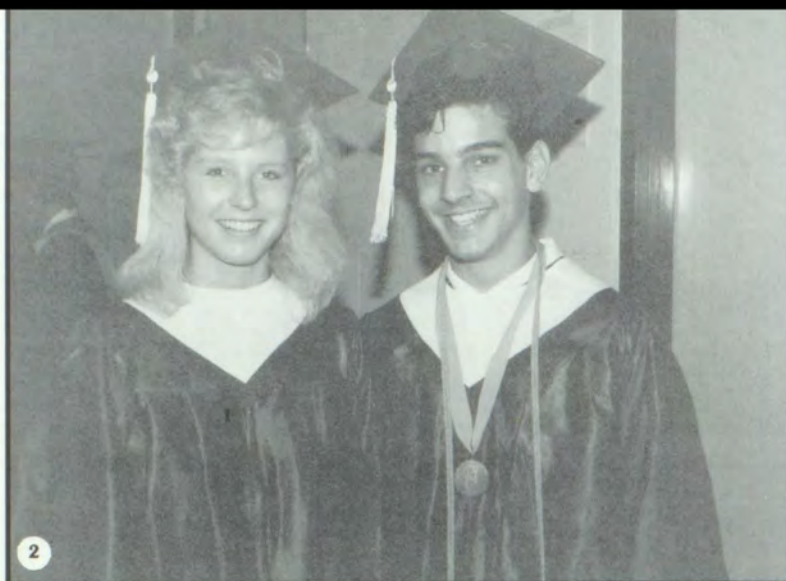

Even though the morning of June 2 was an ordinary day, for us it was a morning of joy!

Members of the Class of 1990 spend their last day together at the graduation ceremony: 1) Ann Simon and Erik Plaht, 2) Kim Bronson, Sharon Stansky, Shawn Comried, Patty Barnes, 3) Cindy Ruble, Tara Albaugh, Derek Pendergast, Tim Golay, Vince Sabotta, Chuck White, 4) Melissa Smith, Scott Herdliska, Colleen Teslik, 5) Mindy Janda and Karen Sylvester, 6) Jennifer Weber, Lisa Nelson, Alicia Bacon, James Olney, 7) Mike Vifian and Kelly Butler, 8) Jenny Popenhagen and Mr. Smrha, 9) Aaron Miller, 10) Gerald Taylor and Dustin Heerkens, 11) Andrea LaBarge, Scott Kruger, Leann Krueger, 12) Christine Lager, Tove Syversen, Haurka Demura.

Several senior J-Hawks experienced feelings of accomplishment and sadness on the morning of June 2nd: 1) Greg Joseph, 2) Michelle Haight and George Canas, 3) The Class of 1990, 4) Todd Heald, 5) Augie Severt, 6) Kristy Horak and Marc Eichmeyer, 7) Angie Koehler and Eddie Burnell, 8) Candi Ferguson, 9) Kerry Walsh and Kendra Wright, 10) Karla McCaw, 11) Shelley Duncan, 12) Denise Nelson, 13) Mike Wilson, 14) Cindy Ruble, 15) Heidi Butz, 16) Martha Tamayo.

It seems like only yesterday we entered these halls as sophomores. Now we're leaving with many good memories of all the times we've shared together, including these seniors: 1) Stacey Feiereisen 2) WPA candidates and escorts 3) Robert Armstrong 4) Shelley Duncan and Tonya Bricker 5) Renee Braizer and Brandy Wheeler 6) Lori Wilwol and Carrie Kirby 7) Trevor Tomney 8) Ellen Bos 9) Danny Allen 10) Janel Nutt 11) Carly Slife 12) Mike Waldron 13) Angie Koehler 14) Rhonda Sampson and Chad Lewis 15) WPA candidates and escorts 16) Chad Gallagher.

Time of our life

From football games to plays to graduation, the 1989-'90 school year has been a success. There are many events and special moments that will remain in students hearts and minds. One exciting event that junior Dave Konigsmark said he would always remember was the Prairie wrestling meet. "I remember the anticipation of the night; the feeling of suspense was in the air." Another student, senior Sally Meyers, remarked, "One thing I'm sure that none of us drivers will ever forget are the crowded parking lots. Situations were so bad this year Cass should've gotten her own patrol car."

The year has been filled with a mixture of good and bad times. One event that many students looked on with sad feelings was the leaving of our longtime principal, Dr. William C. Jacobson.

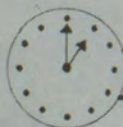

As the year comes to an end, seniors look forward to stepping into the future, while underclassmen anticipate another year. One particular event that Dave is looking forward to is playing basketball in the new gym. Meanwhile, Sally anticipates getting out on her own and working toward her future goals. "All the seniors have waited for this final year since we started school, and I hope we can make the best of what's to come," she added.

Through all the trials and tribulations both of these students agreed that the 1989-'90 school year would be a memorable one. The world will always remember this year for the progressive movements that have been made in Europe, but the J-Hawks will remember this year for the basketball and football games, mixers, plays, and just spending time with friends.

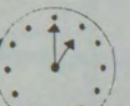

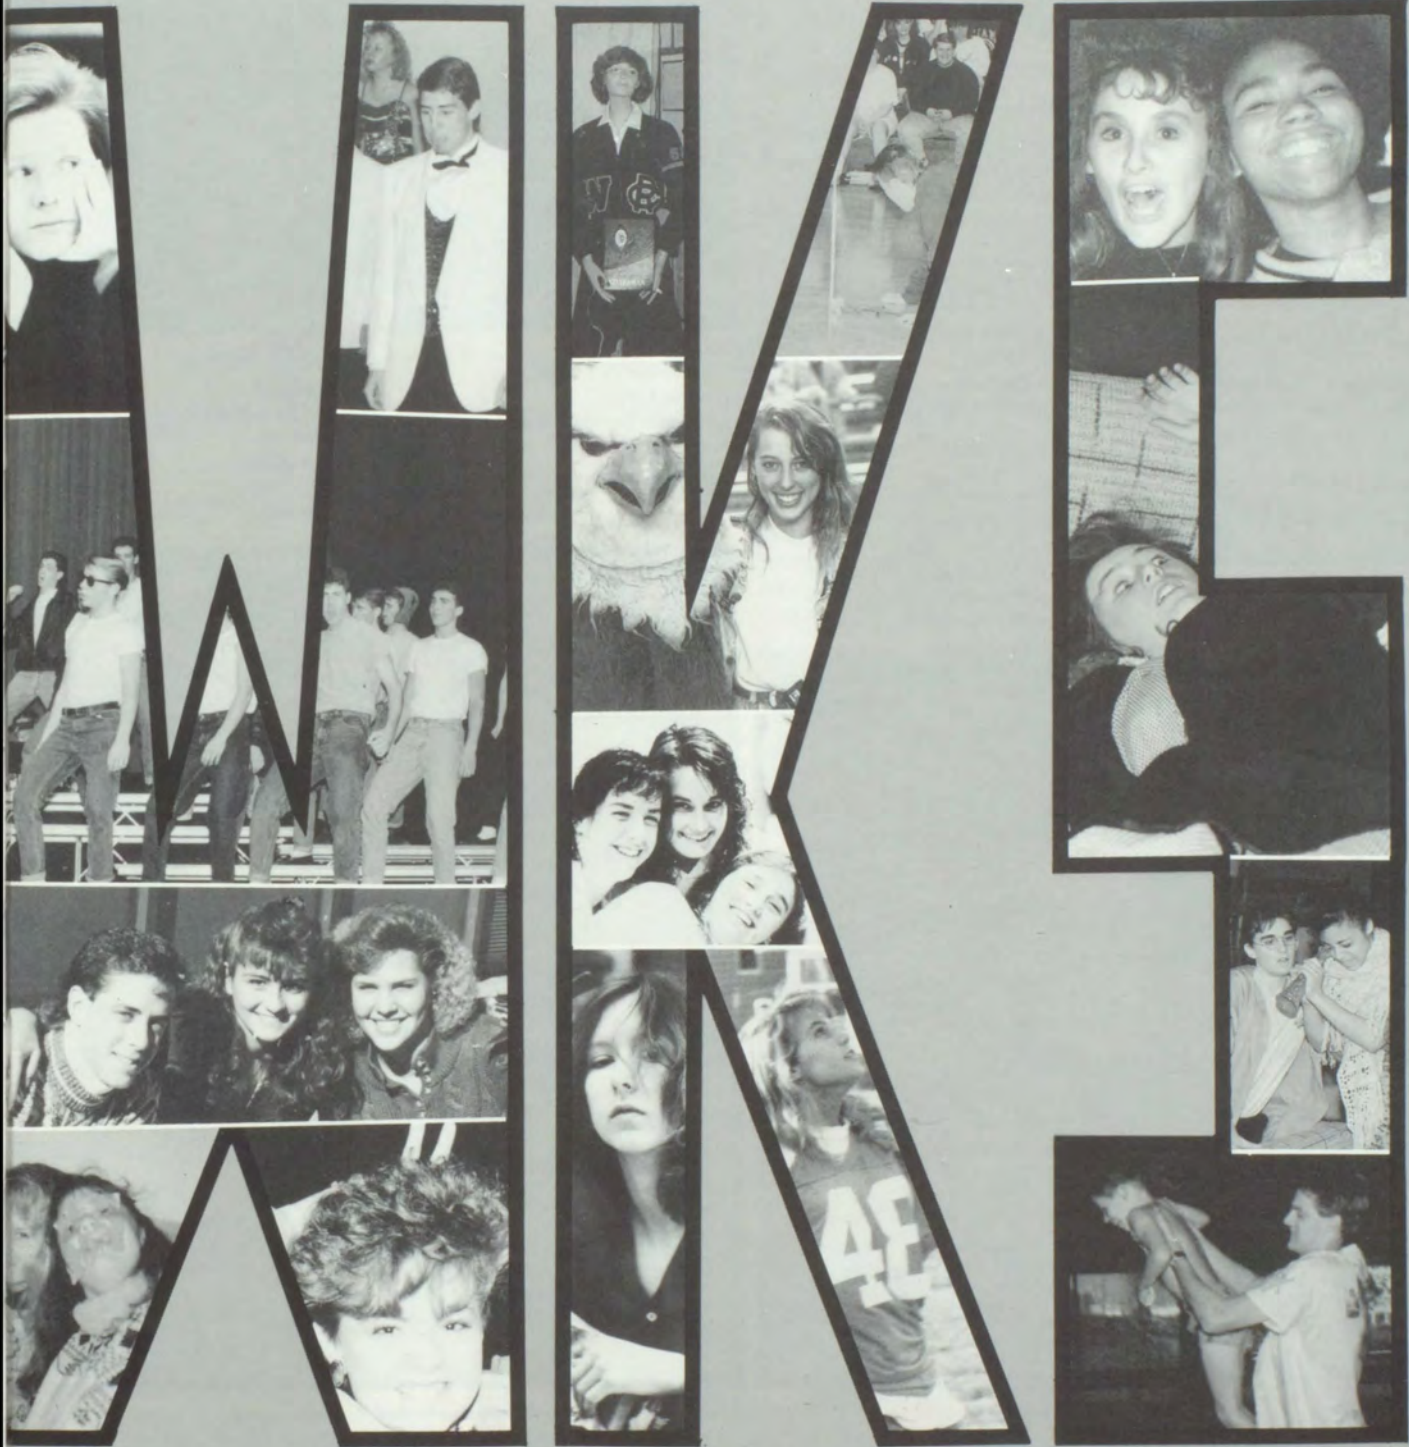

The secret of success for the 1989-'90 school year was fun as witnessed by these students. 1) Sophomores Natalie Serbousek, Christy Myers, and Shanin Millard show how much fun one can have with friends, 2) Tawnie Johnson and Todd Kerska at the Homecoming dance, 3) Ann Koepke with bunny ears, given by Kerstin Rajtora, 4) Jason Schmidt recovers from the agonizing pain of losing his wisdom teeth, 5) Perry Petersen takes a break from an exciting mixer, 6) Julie Brown shows off her pearly whites, 7) Kendra Wright lends a shoulder to Shelley Duncan, 8) John Thompson, Duane Frye, and Trevor Tomney model the latest fashions in hats, 9) Where's my hat? Brad Roberts, Ann Simon, and Jenni Popenhagen, 10) The crowd concentrates on a close game, 11) Dawn Holmes, Wesley Howard, and Paul Pickering prove three's a crowd, 12) The crowd is in high spirits at a game, 13) Tangelia McCall hides behind her bodyguard, Deborah Kennedy, 14) Tonya Bricker and Candice Keister smile for the camera, 15) Angie Toomsen, Tim Golay, and Eric Plaht, who's kissing who? 16) Erin McLaughlin is caught by surprise.
