Fall is exciting

Another summer passed and a new school year has started. Friends are reunited, they talk about what happened over the summer and new fashions are in evidence. Going to classes and getting an education is what most people do while in high school.

After the games, the fun isn't over yet. There's mixers, Homecoming, W.P.A., Morp, and most of all, Prom.

1. Through choir, Tony Larsen and Mitch Jiroutek build a lasting friendship.
2. Finished with work early, Tucker Burnes waits for the bell.
3. Eric Bodin models his GQ pose.
4. Jefferson Poms warm themselves between songs.
5. Adam Day displays his shapely figure in his Halloween costume.

"The school spirit and the different activities are important too," admitted senior Shelby Clinton. To sum up, Becky Mach revealed that her highlight for fall term was, "Advancing to the state volleyball tournament at the Five Seasons Center."

6. Kelly Reves prepares for a concert.
7. Briana Bowen and Tara Hupfeld take a moment to flash their pearly whites.
8. Tony Winkler dresses up like Waldo for DECA.
9. Enthusiastic fans pile up at the fence during a cold football game.
10. Danette Dworak is tightly wrapped up in a warm blanket.
11. These guys prove Spanish class can be entertaining.
12. Debby Bailey and Yvette Sarver take a break from the stressful work of pep band.
13. Brian Stiles finds a new friend on the Thespian trip.
14. The cheerleaders display their strength at summer camp.
15. Nick Burgess is proud to be a J-Hawk.

1993 - NOTHING BUT THE BEST

Nothing but the best in '93. This year's yearbook theme summed up the 1992 - 93 school year very well. From athletics to music, J-Hawks won more honors and had more fun than ever before.

One of the many highlights of the 1993 school year was the Jefferson women's basketball team's first-place finish at the State Championships. Senior basketball player Nancee Niemeyer said of the team's success, "It was like all of the hard work, the summer activities, everything had finally paid off - and we were the best. It was great!"

Other high points included a victory at the Marion Marching Band Invitational for the Band of Blue, a trip to a national convention in San Antonio, Texas for the Concert Choir women, and eleven individual All-State qualifiers on the Speech Team - more than any other high school in Iowa.

Obviously, 1993 was a year for winners at Jefferson High School. This year will be remembered by everyone for the outstanding achievements of our students.

STUDENT

Throughout the '92-'93 school year students stayed busy with the various events and activities that were held:

Banner memories

The magic of Homecoming enhanced Jefferson in late September and early October. The excitement began with the announcement of the semi-finalists at the top 25 assembly. After her name was announced, semi-finalist Jenny Jacobson commented, "I was shocked, yet I felt honored." Finalist Michelle Seavy feels that the top 25 assembly was more exciting. She commented, "The top 25 involves more people. It's a nice honor for those 25 candidates."

Homecoming week was from October 5-9. The week started off with Manac Monday in which students wore clashing outfits. Tuesday was tacky tie day, and on Wednesday students wore their tie-dyed shirts made the night before. On Thursday students wore blue to support the football game against Prairie. The J-Hawks defeated the Prairie Hawks 13-0 and Nock Baccam was crowned the queen during halftime. The rain and mist was unable to ruin the night for the J-Hawks.

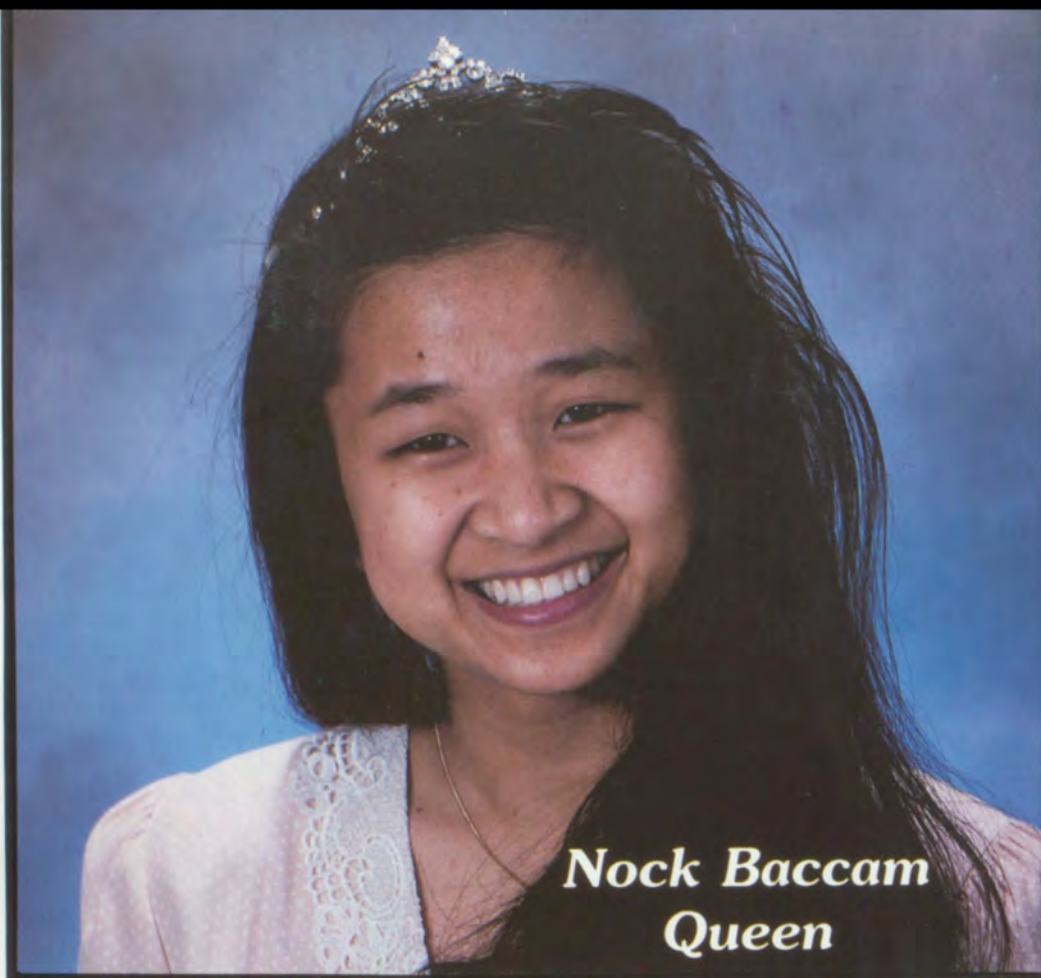

The theme of the dance held on Friday was "Magic of the Moment." The cafeteria was decorated in purple, blue, and silver and the theme song was "My, My, My." Senior Tara McCracken commented, "I enjoyed getting all dressed up for the dance the most."

Nock Baccam
Queen

An evening of surprises

This year's crowning of the Homecoming queen was held on a rainy October 8th at half-time. The ten finalists were escorted onto the Kingston track facing the roaring J-Hawk fans. Nock Baccam was crowned by former queen Cassandra Bryant. When Nock was asked how she felt when her name was announced for "top ten", she said, "I felt like, Huh? No way!"

Becky Flickinger's most memorable part of this year's event was being selected for "top 25". "I didn't realize they called my name and I just sat there looking around for the person who was announced. A friend told me to get up and go." This is what Erin Trickey had to say about her most memorable part of this year's Homecoming, "I liked getting all dressed-up and going out to dinner and to the dance because I had a lot of fun with my date, Tony Winkler, and the friends we went with. There was never a dull moment."

Nock Baccam plans to attend the University of Iowa and possibly major in biology. Bri Bowen plans to attend UNI to major in business. Becky Flickinger plans to attend college and major in occupational therapy. Tara Hupfeld would like to attend a four year, out-of-state college and major in athletic training. Amy Kubik plans to attend a four year college and major in business. Kara Lekin plans to study history, political science, and law at a four year college. Michelle Seavy plans to major in business at UNI. Marsha Timm may pursue secondary education at a four year college. Erin Trickey plans to attend U of I and then attend law school. Sara Zeller would like to attend either Luther or the University of Iowa and possibly major in biology or psychology.

86 days of fun

Sun, Fun, and Travel. These are the many activities Jefferson students experienced this summer. Senior Jim Armstrong was able to travel to Europe with the "Iowa Ambassadors of Music" group and see such landmarks as the Swiss Alps. Chad and Corey Kriegermeier traveled to Hawaii and came back with great tans. Other people like Ty Caffrey did not travel at all, but spent the summer playing sand volleyball and hanging out with friends. Susie Greenfield and Andrea Deegan both worked a forty plus hour week, but still had time to squeeze in a few hours of partying. Angie Blackbourn and Megan Harms had an opportunity to visit Cancun, Mexico, and see the pyramids and experience the Mexican culture. When the temperatures started to heat up others could be found laying out at the beach and soaking up the sun, playing Nintendo in the cool air conditioning, or catching up on all of the latest "soaps." For many of us the summer ended all too quickly and soon it was time to hit the books again.

Show your spirit!

Several times a year J-Hawks fill the gymnasium while the number one pep band around plays the Jefferson fight song. As the students take their seats everyone is wondering what creative members of the faculty have planned for them this time.

Pep assemblies are held mainly to introduce the season's sports and to recognize awards students have won. The assemblies are a great way to relax and get your mind off school work. They are a main part of student life in school and often include contests, game shows, imaginary characters, and lots of cheering.

All four classes then compete for the spirit stick in a competition of who can yell the loudest and which class shows the most school spirit.

Freshmen teasing is a regular event at Jefferson pep assemblies. Mr. Taylor started that a few years ago. The freshmen don't exactly enjoy it but they do next year when a new group of freshmen take their seats at the end of the gymnasium.

Mixers

Boogie and woogie

Mixers brought a variety of reactions from the students this year, including the following:

* Senior Becky Mach feels that there was not enough country music played and way too much rap and slam dancing.

* Junior Fred Mains felt that this year fewer people attended the dances and mixers.

* Sophomore Stacy

Wichman states they're fun when everyone goes, but Becky's right, there's not enough country and too much rap.

* Freshmen Andrea Foster revealed that they were really fun, especially after the football games. I enjoyed hanging out with my friends.

Everyone agreed that the mixers were a lot of fun and it's a good way for clubs and groups to raise money.

Even though Mixers were held less often this year students still had a chance to get together and dance the night away:

Night of kings

364 days out of the year guys feel that it's their responsibility to take girls out, which includes paying for everything. For one night every year the tables are turned and girls finally have an ex-cuse to ask out their favorite guy. Jefferson's WPA (women pay all) has been a tradition for fifteen years. The assembly and dance took place the week of January 25-31.

At the assembly the candidates were announced and escorted to the center of the gym where they were asked to pop a balloon, perform the various acts, and answer some embarrassing questions. Unlike in the past, students voted for the candidates at the assembly instead of in homerooms. The kings were crowned at the dance and afterward were able to dance to the theme song, "I Will Always Love You," by Whitney Houston.

Junior Brian Kaeser said the reason he enjoys WPA is that "I don't have to pay for a single thing, which is real cool." Other people enjoy WPA for very different reasons. Junior Laura Woods thinks WPA is great, "It gives everyone the opportunity to meet and get to know new people from different grades."

Our moments in glory

J-Hawks are winners. We have proven that with a successful 92-93 school year. The J-Hawks, who have excelled from participation in sports, fine arts, and clubs, have made Jefferson High School stand out as the best. These J-Hawk winners truly have given the whole school a moment of glory.

One of the year's sports highlights was the women's basketball team winning the state title in Des Moines. Karen Schulte was honored by being named Miss Iowa Basketball. Mark Ironside took the state wrestling 135 pound title for the second time.

The Band-Of-Blue won many first place titles. Jefferson's women's choir sang at NCACDA in San Antonio, Texas. They were one of the two choirs that got a standing ovation. West Side Delegation won the grand championship, best show, and best band at a competition in Edgewood, Indiana. Adrienne Hallett commented, "The competition at Edgewood was so amazing. It was an incredible feeling to beat the number two choir from Showstoppers in Chicago." Ovation won first place in the prep category in Urbandale.

Throughout the year we have been successful in everything we have attempted. For this, we all have shown J-Hawks are winners.

Changing world

Nothing in this world is constant. This year is a perfect example of that saying. The world of politics was turned over when Governor Bill Clinton of Arkansas became the 42nd President of the United States of America. He was the first Democrat to hold office since the Carter Administration in 1980. His wife Hilary received news coverage for her work with medical insurance. This year there was also the trial of the four Los Angeles police officers who assaulted Rodney King. But there was another side to the story, the City of Los Angeles spent the duration of the trial preparing for another riot. The only thing that saved the city was the verdict of guilty for two of the officers. Tension was relieved there but not in Yugoslavia. There the Serbians conducted a policy of ethnic cleansing on the Muslims and Croats in the area. The world was focused on Waco, Texas, when David Koresh started a shoot-out with the ATF. This was Janet Reno's first challenge. Unfortunately, Mr. Koresh and many of his followers died in a fire. This is a year that few will ever forget.

Council arranges events

Members of Jefferson's Student Council had plenty to do with the 1992-1993 school year. With activities such as dances, student elections, and staff luncheons, though, the fun didn't stop.

"There was plenty to do this year," Student Council president Maria Mattiace commented. "There were a lot of really enthusiastic people in the group and everyone got involved, so we always had a great time."

Council members organized both the Homecoming and WPA dances, as well as the assemblies both events required, and everyone worked together as a team.

"For each assembly we had large groups of people who had to stay late into the night trying to get everything done," Stephanie Matt, Student council vice-president, said. "Seeing the gym and everyone's reactions to it the next day was always worth it, though."

"The dances both seemed to be successful, too," junior Heidi Dunham commented. "Everyone seemed to have a really good time."

Another major event the Student Council took control of was the Christmas food and clothing drive for the Olivet Mission. Members put boxes in all of the classrooms and gathered food the various classes donated, and for the second year in a row Jefferson held the record for giving the most food. Other community activities for this year included caroling at Heritage Acres and spending time cleaning up the litter around the school.

Council members also spent plenty of time running the student senate elections, which determine who will be the officers for the next school year. They also held elections for Council members for the 93-94 school year.

With everything that was accomplished, all of the Student Council members agree that it was another great year with many fun events.

Senates show leadership

Once again this year the senates and the officers worked to raise money for their classes. The money that is raised helps to pay for things such as prom, class gifts, and full color senior pictures in the yearbook.

This year's senior class fundraised by selling t-shirts and sponsoring the first mixer of the school year. Maria Mattiace commented, "This year was more of a planning year for prom and other activities that the seniors took part in. We tried to get most of our fundraising done during our freshman, sophomore, and junior years. I feel that this year the responsibility and the purpose of the senates and the officers really became apparent."

The junior class also did a few fundraisers. Around Christmas they sold a varied assortment of holiday gifts. Both the juniors and the sophomores also tried a new fundraiser. It was a "non-fundraiser" fundraiser. Other than selling a lot of products, a letter was sent home asking parents for a donation. This fundraiser turned out to be most successful for both classes. The freshmen got off to a rather late start, but they did manage to do one big fundraiser.

Overall, it was a good year for all four senates.

Creativity comes alive

Have you ever wanted to take part in putting together a book that people will have in their home years from now? Many Jefferson students have had a part in the making of the 1993 Statesman.

There have been times when the road wasn't smooth but as one big happy family they pulled together to get the job done. There was always the incentive to get everything done and in the right way.

Working on the yearbook staff has been a time of learning and taking on new responsibilities. Karey Garner said, "The best thing about being on the yearbook staff was the opportunity to meet new people." Sara Zeller's favorite memory of being on the Statesman staff, "was starting a layout and finishing it. It gave me a sense of accomplishment." This accomplishment is how the Statesman staff feels as a whole. Not too many students have had the chance to publish a book while still in high school.

While many Jefferson students have been winding down for the year, the yearbook staff has been painstakingly working to finish this latest edition. To someone on the outside the talent of these people make the job look easy, but one may never know how hard they really did work.

1. Maria Mattiace takes her job as a yearbook staff member "not-so-seriously" today.
2. Mike Nolting and Reagan McKay concentrate on finishing an underclassman layout.
3. Brian Robinson, Cherie Myers, and Christina Burmeister try to please Mr. Smrha by doing their work quietly.
4. Laura Woods shows how happy she is to have her layout done for the deadline.
5. Tucker Burnes stops working on the title page to answer a student's question.
6. Yearbook class provides these students an opportunity to work with friends.
7. Sara Taylor and Jamie Pechota discuss photos to use.
8. Jeni Hall alphabetizes ID pictures for her section.
9. Mark Pendergast and "Henrietta" stop to chat with Mr. Smrha.

Publishing eight issues . . .

Newspaper staff excels

The Outlook staff was successful this year in completing eight issues. Each issue consisted of twenty pages. This was the first time the paper has had this many pages.

Heading the Outlook staff this year was editor-in-chief, Blake Mikesell. Blake's duties consisted of making sure things were done right and done before the deadlines. Although this job may sound easy to some, it takes a lot of hard work and extra effort to make sure everything runs smoothly. Blake commented, "All in all, it went pretty good. We cut it close a lot as far as deadlines went, though."

Features editor, Julie Pollock, had a lot to say about her hard work on the Outlook staff. "I thought working on the Outlook staff was a good experience to learn about how a newspaper runs. Along with everyone else, I took on a lot of responsibility to get my page done myself and that made me more proud of the end result."

Looking back over the year, Cathy Merritt, front page editor, recalled her favorite memories of being a part of the Outlook staff. She enjoyed working with her brother, Rob, the managing editor on the staff. She also liked being named to Quill & Scroll in the spring.

Jennie Emerich liked meeting new friends. She said, "I liked being able to express my opinions . . . and I liked our awesome T-shirts."

For David Picray, his favorite memory was "finally getting my own sports page and column and getting to read Big Lew's Review weeks before it came out."

Jeremy Steitz, one of the centerspread editors, liked being a part of the staff. It gave him a chance to work with computers and that's what he likes to do best.

For Greta Horning, working on the newspaper staff helped her prepare for her goal of becoming a writer in the future.

Although things did not always go as planned, through hard work and dedication displayed by the staff members, things seemed to come together in the end.

Groups promote needs

Tutors, Future Teachers of America, and Quill and Scroll have all experienced a great year.

Tutors helped students with their assignments at Cleveland and Taylor elementary schools. Under the leadership of Mrs. Carolyn Taylor, these students left school during the second hour each day to get their "feet wet" in the area of teaching. Teachers at both elementary schools praised the work of the Jefferson students who came to help them in their classrooms.

Future Teachers of America, also under the direction of Mrs. Taylor, held meetings throughout the year where they listened to speakers discuss experiences related to the field of teaching. Members agreed that the presentation given by Dr. William C. Jacobson was most informative and worthwhile. This club's primary purpose is to acquaint members with the field of teaching as a prospective career.

Quill and Scroll, the international honorary society for high school journalists, inducted 8 new senior members and 4 new junior members in May. They joined the 8 members who were inducted last year, explained Mr. Ron Smrha, the group's sponsor. To become a member of this elite group students must qualify by working on the Outlook or Statesman staffs during the school year.

Upon meeting this qualification, students had to possess a certain grade point average, done outstanding work on either the yearbook or newspaper, and be recommended by Mr. Smrha.

"I considered it to be a great honor to be inducted into Quill and Scroll last year for my work on the yearbook. It feels good to know that this international organization thought so highly of my work," explained Sarah Roth. Mr. Smrha agreed, "This is the highest honor that can come to a student journalist while working on a high school publication."

A winning year for clubs

This year the International Club had a very productive year. They were involved in dinners and even a hayrack ride on Halloween. Shpresa Sukalic was involved and commented, "... it was a real good experience and a lot of fun too!" The club had tasted foods from different cultures and learned a lot about other countries. I asked some other students about the club and they said that the best part about it were all the get togethers that they had during the year.

The speech club had a good year too! The team won first place at Ames for individual competition. Sarah Serbousek said that the one-act play, "Going Toward the Light", was a good experience and made a lot of people more aware of how serious aids could be. All other acts put on by the speech team, such as "Nuts", were well done. Performed by junior Jill Emerson and sophomore Rich Akers, "Nuts"—the story of a woman who was up for murder, yet insisted to her lawyer that she wasn't insane—was performed at All-State. Speech team had one of the most successful years by winning many awards and entering many meets.

T&I stands for Trade and Industry. To get into this club you need to be 16 years of age and have a good attendance record. Mr. O'Brien trains and sets his students up for a job that they would like to pursue. Many kids end up having well paying jobs this way and it gives them a chance to see a future career. This is a good chance for all students to get involved and start planning ahead. The class is a good learning experience and is fun for anyone who wants to look at the future.

All three groups have had a productive year and each has achieved many goals.

Classes teach skills

"It's all about the business world, and it is a lot of fun to be in DECA. It is a great class to be in, and a great way to learn about business. It's a good opportunity, and if anyone is interested in marketing I strongly recommend joining DECA," noted Raegan McKay.

This year DECA participated in districts at the College Square Mall in Cedar Falls. Jefferson had many students who received awards. DECA also sponsored MORP, which was a big money maker for the group.

OE (Office Education) is a class where you learn various office skills such as how to type, file, and other important office duties. Rae Myers, a member of OE, is currently employed at Hardee's, as part of the management team. "She thought OE was a good learning experience."

DECA (Distributive Education Clubs of America), and OE (Office Education), are the only two marketing courses here at Jefferson. To belong you are required to have a job unless you are in a sport. You will receive five credit hours for your job and get out of sixth hour to go to your job.

What else can I say about this year, except it was too short. Being a foreign exchange student is the best thing that ever happened to me. I want to thank my host family and all my friends. I'll miss you, but I'll be back some day.

There is so much to say. This was my biggest life experience. It was not easy at the beginning. It was hard to study, it was hard to make friends, it was hard to live without everything I used to have for 17 years. Now, I want to stay forever.

I had a great time at Jefferson. I always enjoyed the pep assemblies and I liked to play trumpet. I am sure I will miss all this back in my country. You guys are awesome. Thanks for the unforgettable year I spent here. Go J-Hawks!

This was my best school year. I learned a lot about your culture and the family life. I am glad I had a chance to spend a year with you, although I miss my family, I want to thank everybody for the wonderful time I had here.

I had a wonderful year at Jefferson. I met so many people, I had so much fun, and I am not looking forward to going back to Norway. This is something I will always remember. Thank you for making this year so special for me.

Band tributes Bernstein

The Band of Blue had accomplished a successful and winning year thanks to Mr. Dickinson and Mr. Houk, and all of the time the band put into demanding practices. According to Mr. D., he feels an award-winning band does hard work, and has discipline. To get ready for shows and competitions, everyone has to put forth their best effort.

The music the band performed this year was a tribute to Leonard Bernstein. The music included "Cool/Tonight" from the musical "West Side Story," "Danzon" from the ballet "Fancy Free," "Chichester Psalms," drumline solo, and "Make Our Garden Grow" from "Candide." Band member Wendy Rowsell feels, "I enjoyed playing this year's music, and after a couple of shows and by the end of the season, people seemed to enjoy it." Wendy also felt that the marching show was more difficult than past years, but it made the band work harder together. Mr. D. remarked that "the show was the most sophisticated a high school has ever attempted."

When it's time for a competition, drum major Jennifer Sanderson replies, "I'm nervous, but I think that I have done the show many times before, and I can do it." First year drum major Jay Raabe feels the hardest part of being a drum major is "all of the responsibility being in control once he steps on the podium, and knowing you can't mess around." The band had done a great job in scoring high in all of their competitions, including receiving first place in the Marion Invitational. This year was yet another great year for the band, still being the award-winning Band of Blue!

All for perfection

What was the first thing people saw as the Jefferson High School Band of Blue took their places out on the football field? They are the two most time-consuming sections in marching band, the colorguard and the drumline. Because they are visual effects, they both need to strive for perfection.

We interviewed two colorguard members, Angie Lalley, a senior and a section leader, and Ami Prull, a sophomore and a two year member. We asked them both what they thought was the best thing about being a guard member. Ami thought the best thing was being able to meet new people. Angie said that she made a lot of new friends also, but she thought the best thing was the feeling she got when she performed for an audience. It's hard work, but Ami thinks that all the hard work will pay off.

We also interviewed two drumline members, Matt Betterton, a four year member and a section leader, and Jonathan Dyrland, a first year member. Matt said the best things about being in drumline was getting to know the other drummers and also performing for the student body. Jonathan said the best thing was performing well in front of a crowd, which they have done a number of times this year.

Both groups require many hours of hard work which can be very rewarding. The feeling both groups get when performing for others is a feeling that can't be matched.

We believe in music

The Jefferson Pom Pons have had another exciting year. They have performed at many of the home football and basketball games, as well as at other school activities.

Besides performing the pom routines, each member of the squad was also involved in color-guard or marching band in the fall.

Seniors Traci Fenton and Melissa Taylor were co-captains for the pom squad this year. Melissa said, "As a pom co-captain, I was given much responsibility and gained many leadership skills."

All the members thought that it was fun and they enjoyed the pom season.

Another aspect of the Fine Arts department is the outstanding Jefferson jazz band. Jazz band, directed by Mr. Andy Houk, received its 3rd Division I at State Jazz Band contest this year. They also performed at the last spring concert with a professional jazz musician as the soloist. Included in the jazz band are two All-State Jazz musicians, James Young and Jerry Young.

This season the Wind Symphony made improvements to an already wonderful group. The improvements, according to sophomore David Bates, are in tone quality.

This year's highlight will be the Iowa Bandmaster's Convention. This group was chosen for its quality in performing. The members are looking forward to attending the Convention.

Junior Kathy Rajtora said that she gained many things from being in Wind Symphony. She gained friends, experience, and improved her performing skills. Senior Amy Dollash agrees with Kathy, that she also made friends this year in Wind Symphony. "This group is more than a band, it is a maker of friendships."

Groups amaze crowds

Jefferson's performing arts program has achieved many significant accomplishments this year. Our swing choirs, Ovation and Encore, have strived to surpass their potential all year. Symphony Orchestra and Orchestra have also risen to new heights this year under their director.

After hours of hard work and total dedication, Ovation has achieved a great honor in winning the high school prep category at the Urbandale Swing Choir Invitational. They have also dazzled audiences everywhere.

Encore, a preparatory swing choir, prepares students for the larger swing choirs at Jefferson. Although Encore doesn't compete in contests, they never cease to amaze their audiences.

Symphony Orchestra members achieved a Division I ranking at the contest this year. The competition was very difficult and it took a lot of time to achieve this top ranking.

Members strived to become the best they could be and to make the west side proud of them. Orchestra is becoming bigger and better in size every year. Their larger size will help them to become a recognized group in the Cedar Rapids area.

Our excellent fine arts department has been very active this year and it continues to improve year after year.

Singers show talent

Three of the choir groups at Jefferson High School have accomplished a great deal this past school year. Sophomore Singers, Jefferson Singers, and Varsity Singers, under the direction of Dr. Pete Eklund and Ms. Carol Tralau, have made quite a showing this year. The long road to success was a bumpy ride, but with a little work, it was easy to travel.

Beginning the year in a new place, with new people, can be a scary experience for anyone. The first thing about high school is meeting people and making friends. The choir program is the perfect place to start. All the kids that enter these groups are a little hesitant of what to expect. Jefferson has one of the top choir programs in Iowa, so who wouldn't be nervous?

One reason why we have such a highly ranked choir program is because we have talented directors. Dr. Eklund and Ms. Tralau work long and hard hours preparing for each day. Their enthusiasm and energy bring excitement to every performance. Our directors care about the future of each group's members and they give to each and every student the knowledge they need to succeed.

Talent, determination, and hard work are the key factors to becoming a model choir student. Everything begins with the first couple of years in choir. Jefferson's choir program builds unity amongst its members. The memories will last for years to come when choir is no longer around. Seniors moving on will never forget the lessons they've learned by being a part of this program. The underclassmen returning next year know that they must work even harder to reach their goals. Practice doesn't make perfect, perfect practice makes perfect.

Girls' big honor

What are you doing during fourth hour everyday? For a select group of men and women they're rehearsing for Concert Choir. The group rehearses for five concerts a year. But not just anyone can be in Concert Choir. Tryouts are held during spring term with the select few being chosen at that time. The rewards of Concert Choir are endless. The group creates lasting friendships and memories such as the Women's Select Choir being chosen to go to the National Choir Directors Association in San Antonio, Texas, during spring break. At this convention the group gave two concerts and received two standing ovations. The guys also received an honor when they were asked to Luther College in Decorah, Iowa, to give a concert. Together the men's and women's group take one retreat a year to Camp Wapsie. These retreats provide lasting memories and a time for fun and learning. Jamie Spicher and Sara Zeller agreed that, "San Antonio, and the honor of being recognized there, was the best and most exciting part of Concert Choir this year. The directors expect lots but you learn more than music. You learn about discipline and how to work with others."

Choirs maintain standards

Jefferson's choir program is one of the best in the Midwest. Once again, Jefferson produced more All-State participants than any other school, with a total of twenty-four members. Meistersingers have traveled to such events as the Dorian Festival at Luther College. Madrigal received yet another division one rating at the State Solo and Ensemble contest in April.

To be selected into one of these groups, a student must go through an extensive and difficult audition. Then they must wait patiently for the list to be posted. It takes a lot of hard work and preparation. First year Meistersingers member Melissa

Taylor stated, "At first, I was a little unsure of what to expect. But as the year has gone by, I've really enjoyed being a part of this group."

One of the reasons a group can be their best is with teamwork. That is why it is called a group. Everyone participates and each individual contributes their talent to the group. Throughout the year, the music gets more challenging and the time goes by quickly, but they keep striving to be number one.

All the work and dedication put into these groups is worthwhile from the praise they receive from their audiences. Though it takes a lot of talented young adults to make a group like this, none of it could be accomplished without great directors. Dr. Pete Eklund and Ms. Carol Tralau put a lot of time and preparation into making these groups be the best they can be. Many don't realize the time needed to make everything run so smoothly. All of their hard work and efforts are greatly appreciated by their students.

"To those leaving, the experience of being a part of such a great choir program like ours will be surely missed. You don't realize how good you have it, till it's gone. Good luck next year underclassmen!"

West Side Delegation has once again proven themselves to be one of the top show choirs in the Midwest. The performers started their year-long season with grueling retreats both at school and at Camp Wyoming.

They also brought choreographers from out of the state to add magic to Dr. Eklunds music. This year they traveled to Urbandale where they won first place in the afternoon, and the Grand Championships in the finals. In April, WSD took an 8-hour bus ride to Edgewood, Indiana, where they proceeded to win the Grand Championship 6 trophy, Best Show, and Best Band Awards.

WSD also entertained audiences at area middle schools. March brought the annual show choir invitational. About 60 choirs from Iowa and surrounding states performed in the auditorium or new gym. They concluded their successful year with two emotional performances in the auditorium on May 27.

Language puzzles

When high school students hear the name Shakespeare, they usually run for cover. Not this time! The 1992 fall play was Shakespeare's A Comedy of Errors. Cast member Adrienne Hallett had wonderful things to say about the play, including, "Everyone learned their lines quickly and it seemed to go quite smoothly. We really had fun with the parts."

Mr. Geuder backed up her statement by saying, "The cast seemed to enjoy themselves." Mr. Geuder also thought that the audience sensed the seriousness of the actors and actresses, as well as the fun they were having.

Both Mr. Geuder and Adrienne felt the freshmen worked really hard to meet the standards of the upperclassmen in this play. Many of the freshmen with larger roles did an exceptional job, he noted.

Because of the success of this play, many of the students who were involved and students who attended have more of an understanding of Shakespearian language. Adrienne commented, "It was hard to learn, but by the time we performed the play, we were disappointed that the audience didn't get the jokes." Senior James Milne stated, "It took awhile to get into the show, but after about half an hour you could really get into it."

To enhance the actors' performance, a neutral set with an interchangeable background was used, and gave the play a universal effect, explained Mr. Erbe.

Scrooge learns love

I say, old chap, care to take in a play? The 1992 Winter Play, A Christmas Carol by Charles Dickens, was a challenge to the Jefferson drama department in both accents and effects.

The time of Charles Dickens was a time of great literature, and cultural sophistication, brought to life in Jeff's production with the colorful English accents of the period. Actors were challenged to use these accents and portray the emotions and qualities of each character. This seemed to come naturally for many actors, even with difficult scenes. Eric Bodin as Scrooge, portrayed both the cold, stingy Scrooge and the giggling, heartwarming Scrooge in the end. Eric commented, "The part was fun but challenging. I got to explore the emotions of a complex character."

While actors tackled the difficult scenes, the crew was faced with troublesome special effects. It was a memorable time making ghosts disappear, making Jacob Marley (Eric Johnson) appear on Scrooge's door, and following the traditional flight through the past. Jamie Fortner said, "Working with the special effects, proved to be laborious, as well as a new experience. It helped bring the crew together."

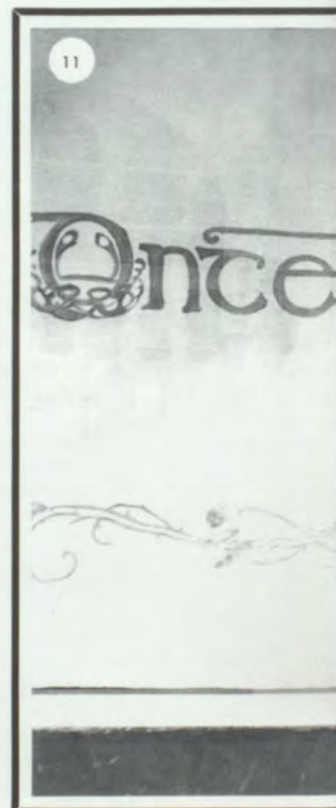

As the curtain lifted on the opening night, the magic began to unfold. Audiences were enchanted by the world of Charles Dickens. The cast and crew whisked them away, to a time when anything was possible. To a time when ghosts could show a man the error of his ways, and when a little boy with a limp could teach a man to feel the spirit of Christmas in his heart.

1. Jacob Marley (Eric Johnson) warns Scrooge (Eric Bodin).

Kiss brings happiness

To see the face of a child light up, and the shy beg for an autograph is the highlight of any high school student's career. Children from all over the city were enchanted by this year's Children's Theatre production of Sleeping Beauty. The traditional tale of a princess trapped in a deadly curse by an evil witch, only to be saved by her true love braving the dangers of magic for her. The story of Briar Rose told as only the Jefferson Theatre Department can tell: an experience not soon to be forgotten by children of all ages.

One of the highlights of the show was the scene in which Morgana, the evil fairy, conjures vines to encompass the house of the sleeping Briar Rose. Timed perfectly to a light classical song, the vines literally danced up the walls, glowing amidst a stark black stage. The artistic style and animated movement was nothing short of magic and left even callous observers in awe. For not the first time in the history of Jefferson theatre, the stage crew stole the show.

Mr. Geuder proved to have a few twists of his own, though. The story of Briar Rose, when told in Jefferson land, is told by an enchanted frog. While the good fairies search the world for a prince to save their princess, the true prince is laying in a lake right in their own kingdom in the form of a frog, and only the children watching the show can break the spell and turn him back into a prince. The true heroes of the show are the children watching. The show stresses that the children are important and that they can make a difference in the world if they just put their minds to it. Not a bad end to another day at Jefferson.

Radio lights up hearts

The familiar hum of the radio as you drive down the road. It's almost a given. It may never occur to some people that there was a time before the radio and that once there was a time when no one knew what to use the radio for. Suddenly a man came out of nowhere and became "The Voice of the Prairie." This was the subject of the 1993 spring play, "The Voice of the Prairie," presented in April.

As David Quinn spun his stories on the radio, they touched the hearts of the American people, including Frances, the woman the stories were about. It was a heartwarming sentiment, silently urging the audience to live life to its fullest and to follow your dreams to the end of the line. Alex Pelzel, playing David Quinn, commented, "From the moment I read the script, I was eager to perform it. I loved the plot. It was an incredible story and I could really identify with my character."

Although much of the cast shared Alex's enthusiasm, for some it took a bit more time to learn the nuances of their parts.

Christina Farrell, playing Frances, and Kathy Rajtora, playing Frankie, both had to learn the mannerisms of the blind. Christina said, "It was a challenging part. I walked around school with my cane and my eyes closed for an hour one day. It was amazing to me that in a building I spend so much time in, I could get lost so easily."

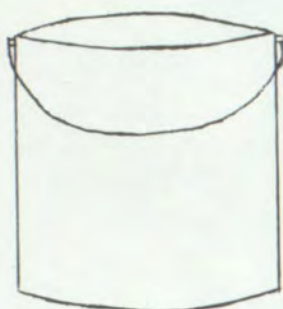

A story of the faith of childhood and the nostalgic memories of the adult world, this play had something for all ages. Everyone dreams sometime.

1. Leon Schwab (Chris Palmer) meets Frances (Christina Farrell), as David (Alex Pelzel) looks on.

Jobs well done!

The Thespian Troupe 561 had another great year. They worked hard on a total of five plays, and felt that each one was a big success.

In conjunction with the Children's Theatre, they gave tours of the back stage areas and make-up demonstrations to elementary students. The Thespians had a chance to see two plays, "Miss Saigon" and "Phantom of the Opera," which were a part of this year's trip to Chicago. The Thespians say it was a big experience, and a lot of fun. "It was a really different and neat experience as a member of this Troupe, and I am glad they accepted me," exclaimed Mike Mercer.

If you are wondering how to become a part of Jefferson Thespians, Mr. Geuder says, "You need a total of ten points, each point equaling out to a minimum of ten hours of work apiece." How do you get these points? There are different things you can do for these points: act in a production, construct a set with the scene crew, make props for the scenes in the play, make the costumes, or be a part of the lighting crew.

The Thespian president, Tony Otto, explained, "We are a hard working organization, that works tirelessly until we are satisfied with our final product." "It has been a long but exciting year, and it was great working with the directors and crew and cast members," concluded Jamie Fortner.

Acts show talent

On April 1 and 2, the annual PTA talent show was held in the Jefferson auditorium. Once again, the audience was treated to an excellent display of talent by the students and staff. The talent, spanning from martial arts to stand up comedy, kept the audience wondering what would come up next.

Mrs. Janice Kralik, the president of Jefferson's PTA and the coordinator of the talent show, believes this year's show was the best yet because there was such a wide variety of talent. Mr. Lockett, a math teacher here at Jefferson, agreed. He commented, "The diversity is absolutely amazing; it's incredible."

The profits from the talent show fund two PTA scholarships, which will be presented later in the spring. They also support school-related projects that benefit many of the students here at Jefferson. In effect, we are rewarded twice.

The many talented students and teachers that performed in this year's Talent Show deserve a big congratulations and a pat on the back for the marvelous job they did. Good job guys!

Joseph sees ahead

With a year full of plays from the past, it seems only fitting that the Jefferson Music Theatre department should choose to end the year with a trip back to biblical times. The 1993 Spring Musical, "Joseph and the Amazing Technicolor Dreamcoat" ended the year with style.

Joseph, a musical filled with the varying music of the world, presented a challenge to students in that every word was sung, with the singular exception of the word "Well . . ." Christina Farrell, one of four narrators, commented, "It was difficult in that the music is so wordy and you don't know if people will understand even if the words are clear. Like the line 'the Jeeves of his time'. It just means that we have to work harder both in singing and acting, to help the audience to understand." The members of the audience expressed their appreciation for all the hard work with numerous standing ovations.

Perhaps one of the most exciting parts of the musical was the set. With a ramp extending into the audience, elevating thrones and even a giant sphinx, everyone agreed that the technical crew had totally surpassed anyone's expectations. Jamie Spicher, a chorus member, commented, "The set really enhanced our performance."

In the weeks of the musical, it was quite common to find cast members humming songs from Joseph in the halls of Jefferson. As seniors leave, they will leave with these songs in their hearts. "For we know we can find our own peace of mind, for we have been promised a land of our own."

A bitter sweet season

Making a fresh start from last year, this year's sophomore team has gone from, as Brian Long said, "... a losing season to a division championship." All the sophomore players agree that they have improved immensely since their freshman year. Coach Strait commented that, "They are the nicest group I have ever worked with. They deserved to win."

Starting out their high school career, the freshmen had a hard season. Only winning 2 games, they realized what it took to be successful. Concerning how he thought the season went, Travis Ptacek said, "The season went okay, we had our ups and downs." Freshmen said that their best game was against Kennedy. Coach Cook stated, "Kennedy was our best game, even though they beat us. They were the best team and we stayed with them the whole time."

This year's season has been a bitter sweet one for the ninth and tenth grade team. Sweet for the sophomores, and bitter for the freshmen. By keeping up the good work, and continuing with that J-Hawk Collision spirit, they will be moving on to bigger and better seasons.

Seniors lead team

The 1992 varsity volleyball team had one advantage that most teams rarely have. They had 11 seniors. This gave the J-Hawk volleyball team two of the most essential elements, unity and teamwork.

Head coach Jim Cox feels the season started off rocky but then exploded by finishing second in both the J-Hawk Invitational and the MVC tournament. One of the team's goals and accomplishments was to make a good showing at the state tournament. Coach Jim Cox remarked, "This year's team had the potential to be the most winning team in J-Hawk history."

Besides the talent, tri-captain Karen Schulte believes the team was very close and played with determination and lots of spunk. One of the season's highlights was when the J-Hawks downed Waterloo West, three games to zero. "When the team clicked, we were unstoppable," replied Becky Mach. And Maria Mattiace believes, "We worked hard for everything this season. We didn't get down when the going got tough and we kept our chins up and gave it everything we had."

The J-Hawks ended their season on a high note by finishing fourth in the state tournament. The accomplishments of this team have been outstanding and the seniors will surely be missed next year. Coach Jim Cox remarked, "I'm really proud of this year's team. They worked hard to reach their goals."

Girls set goals

When the season began for the freshmen teams, they made team goals for themselves. "We wanted to learn something about volleyball and not have to worry about if we won or not," Tammy Siepman explained. Some of the outstanding players throughout the season included Tammy Siepman, Jill Tonsfeldt, Carrie Sarchett, and Charisse Barber.

The sophomore team was led by Lindsay Tower, Beth McGrath, and freshman Melanie Becker. They placed second in the Metro Tournament and second in the JV tournament. Amy Bernhard explained, "It got frustrating but we didn't do too bad overall." The team also made goals for their season, such as to be consistent in their passing and serving.

The JV team had a good season, with an outcome of 20-2. They placed first in both of their tournaments and finished second in the MVC. The team was led by Jennifer Larsen, Amy Wiederin, and Sara Taylor. With all these talented juniors returning next year, fans can expect a very good season.

Dedication and hard work were the keys to both cross country teams, coached by Mr. Jim O'Brien. Their long, hard hours of practice and weight training really helped out in the end. The girls peaked in time for a 10th place finish at state. Jenny Jackson set a personal best record by finishing 11th out of 91 runners. Regena Schlemmer placed 29th, along with Hether Wharton—69th.

This was a rebuilding season for the boys' cross country team. Overall, the team finished with a respectable record but they're already looking forward to next year. Ben Kuenen explained, "The season wasn't the greatest, but we can be proud of our individual accomplishments."

On August 14, in the heat of the summer, girls' swimming and diving got underway. Nineteen girls returned to the team, including 6 seniors, 5 juniors, and 8 sophomores. The team also saw the return of Sara Zeller and Jennifer Giddings, two of the top ten divers in the state, and Cindy Robeson, who placed 4th last year in the 50 freestyle. Without wasting any time, the girls introduced themselves, then headed for the water for their first workout as a team under Coach Feuerhelm's guidance. This was her second year as the team's head coach.

While Junior Varsity athletes eyed conference and districts as their goal, varsity girls spent every minute anticipating districts and state. Head Coach Heather Feuerhelm's biggest goal for the girls was to make them a family and maintain a positive team as well as individual attitude. The highlight of the season for many girls was defeating Kennedy at their pool, 94-92. The meet was close the entire way and came down to the final event, the 400 Free Relay. The 2 relay teams finished 1st and 3rd and won the meet. This sparked the team's enthusiasm for conference and districts.

At Washington, on October 31, the district meet qualified 10 to state in six events. They were Tracie Keizer, Jodie Prouty, Stacie Jackson, and Cindy Robeson in the 200 Medley Relay; Stacie Jackson, Cindy Robeson, Kim Weeks, and Amy Gardner in the 200 Free Relay, Cindy Robeson in the 50 and 100 Freestyle, Tracie Keizer in the 100 Backstroke and 200 IM, and Sara Zeller and Jennifer Giddings in diving. Tina Wilson and Danielle Reid served as alternates.

Records were shattered by Cindy Robeson in the 100 Freestyle, and freshman Tracie Keizer in the 100 Backstroke. Several awards were given at the annual awards banquet. The James C. Taylor Award recipient was Tina Wilson. Hardest Worker went to Stacie Jackson, Cindy Robeson was voted Most Valuable, Tina Wilson and Tracie Keizer were team Spark Plugs, and Tri-Captains were Sara Zeller, Stacie Jackson, and Tina Wilson.

Team makes waves

They're one of the few, the proud, the chlorinated. They're the 1992-93 men's swimming crew. This year the men's swim team had a record of 4-4. Not bad with a team of 21 swimmers and 3 divers.

Coach Feuerhelm said, "This team is full of hard working, dedicated swimmers that are a great group of people to work with."

At the state swim meet this season Mrs. Feuerhelm sent 8 swimmers to the meet. Of these 8 swimmers that went to the meet was Matt Betterton who competed in 4 events. In 2 of his 4 events he placed 17th in the 100 yard Butterfly and 11th in the 100 yard Breaststroke. Another swimmer who had a great swim at the meet was Ryan York. He placed 9th in the 200 Individual Medley and holds the school record. Nathan Lueck, a freshman, swam in 2 of the relays, the 200 yard Free Relay and the 400 yard Free Relay.

The relays at state did real well. The 200 Free Relay with Jay Raabe, Matt Betterton, Nathan Lueck, and Travis Keizer placed 12th at the meet. In the 400 yard Freestyle Relay that placed 16th, Jeff Graves, Nathan Lueck, Jay Raabe, and Ryan York swam in this relay. Mrs. Feuerhelm said, "This could be the first time in the history of men's swim team that she knows of getting 100% time drops at the State swim meet."

That shows that the men of this swim team were a very hard working group of athletes.

Team earns many honors

J-Hawk wrestlers ended the year with another successful season. They started out the year with one of the toughest schedules, wrestling number one ranked Cedar Falls. Then a week later, they faced number two ranked Iowa City, City High.

They placed first in districts taking eight people to state. There was Jon Vasek at 103 who placed third, Ray Ratcliff at 112 placed fourth, Mark Ironside at 135 was a state champ, Mark Pendergast at 145 placed fifth, Travis Pike at 152 placed fourth, Jarod Young at 160 placed fourth, George Horak at 125 and Ron Gilson at 171 received honorable mention. Co-Captains of the team were Mark Ironside and Jarod

Young. Most Improved wrestler was Ray Ratcliff. The Russ Daniel's team award went to Ron Gilson. Mark Ironside received the most valuable wrestler and hustler award. Mark also received the pinner award with 21 for a school record, and is the takedown champion with 243 for another school record.

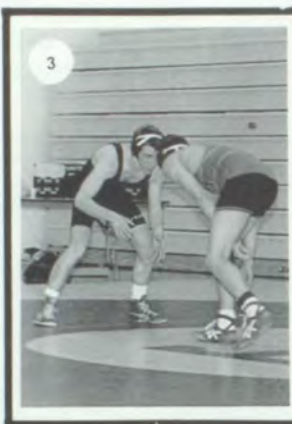

J-Hawk wrestlers were very successful in the tournaments they attended. With highlights including the March second win against Fort Madison as well as receiving third place in the state tournament, Coach Briggs was very satisfied with the season.

Wrestlers stay tough

The freshman and sophomore wrestling teams both had great seasons this year. The sophomores compiled an impressive 15-1 record, while the freshmen had an off, but tough 3-3 season.

Sophomore Coach John Hegarty felt that his team had an excellent season. He commented that the highlights of the season included beating the Mississippi Division champs, C.R. Prairie. He thought the most exciting meet was the sophomore Prairie meet because, "it came down to the last match before we were victorious."

cer Williams commented that he had a very good season. His highlights were winning the Cougar Invitational and the team winning the M.V.C. title. Casey Hewitt, a freshman wrestler, added that he likes wrestling because it gets him in better shape and he got to wrestle with the varsity team.

At the season's end banquet Williams was named Outstanding Sophomore wrestler, and Tim Dusil was Most Improved Sophomore. Also at the banquet, freshman Ryan Poldber received Outstanding Freshman wrestler, and the Most Improved Freshman was David Eberle.

Teamwork means winning games

Jefferson's basketball team had another successful season, finishing 12-8 overall for the season. They started off well, drilling Cedar Falls, 70-45, but fell to Davenport North 64-62 in the championship game of the Keokuk tourney. They rebounded to blast Dubuque Senior, 81-49, only for Regis to upset the J-Hawks, 69-61. Jeff then went on a streak, getting past Wash, 54-50, then getting revenge on Davenport North, 68-62. Kennedy was next to be decked, 78-67 the score. They defeated Dubuque Wahlert 60-58, and Linn Mar 66-62, before Waterloo East beat Jeff 82-73. Jeff bounced back to rout Wash 81-59, only to fall into a skid, losing 57-47 at City High, 70-67 to Cedar Falls, and 50-45 to Dubuque Hempstead. The J-Hawks regrouped to whack Iowa City West 86-65, defeat Kennedy 75-73, and slam Waterloo West 88-73. Jeff then knocked off Linn-Mar 85-77, then ended its season by losing to Prairie.

Sweet success

This year's sophomore and freshmen men's basketball teams enjoyed successful seasons. The sophomore team finished with a record of 10-8 in the tough Mississippi Division of our new conference. Coach Dunbar said the team was a very unselfish, competitive team who won with chemistry and defense. The sophomores did make it difficult for their opponents, ranking second in the Mississippi in defense.

The freshmen teams had a combined record of 21-11. The blue team, coached by Steve Hilby, sported a record of 15-1, while the white team, coached by Scott Kibby, finished with a record of 6-10. Coach Kibby stated, "The freshmen basketball teams together have the potential to be a very successful group. They have plenty of talent, they are quality workers, and excellent students of the game." Members of both the blue and white team spent two weeks after the season helping the girls' basketball team prepare for state. With this talent, dedication, and hard work the sophomore and freshmen teams should be able to meet the challenge of next year.

J-Hawks take state

This year the record books were flying open for the girls' basketball team. For the first time in school history the girls' went undefeated with a record of 27-0 and won the state championship.

In the first round of the state tournament the J-Hawks lived up to their second place ranking, as they down Storm Lake. In the second round the J-Hawks stepped up their offense and defense to down West Des Moines Dowling. In the all eastern Iowa final the J-Hawks went on to defeat small town neighbor Solon. Karen Schulte and Christy Hebert took All Tournament team honors and Tara Hupfeld captured the tournament assist record.

The season was a dream for the fifteen member team, especially for the six seniors. Christy Hebert stated, "The season was great. All the hard work and practices did pay off."

Karen Schulte added, "We really played well together and that's all that we needed to do." ---Christy Hebert and Nancee Niemeyer

Hard work is their key

To recap the (3-15) sophomore girls' basketball season, it was one of ups and downs. Keri Gaskill, Kim Abram, and Jenni Richey were all moved up to play varsity. But around the middle of the tough MVC schedule, Coach Niemeyer moved Kim Abram and Jenni Richey down to give the sophomores the depth they needed. When Karey Garner was asked about the season, she stated,

"We never played together as a team before." One of the reasons was because of freshmen Angie Williams and Noreen Niemeyer, who were moved up at the beginning of the season to the sophomore level. Angie commented, "I felt self-conscious and that I had to show them I deserved to be there." Which of course she did since she started most of the season.

The freshman basketball players not necessarily had all of the talent, but had the desire to play. The best team performance was the very last game vs. Regis. The freshmen managed to salvage a 2-13 season. The freshmen were in the same predicament as the sophomores throughout the season. The only difference is that when players are moved up from the freshmen team there aren't any replacements for them from any other team.

Spirits rise

The 1992-1993 cheerleaders began working early in the summer by attending cheerleading camp in Iowa City. Practice began in July to teach cheers and work on mounts for the upcoming football season. All of the hard work paid off with the opportunity to cheer at the play-offs. The winter season was a time to change gears and work with a new squad. The season ended successfully. Many cheerleaders cheered at state tournaments.

"It takes a group with a lot of hard work and dedication to keep the crowd involved at games," stated Amy Wiederin.

Sporting events weren't the cheerleaders only responsibility. They also kept the spirit alive at pep assemblies, and kept the players fired up with locker posters and cafeteria signs. They promoted school spirit throughout the entire school year.

Girls take third

The women's track and field team had a great season this year. It may not have been easy, but these athletes have accomplished a lot. When Coach Bill Calloway was asked how he felt about the girls' performance, he said, "The J-hawks had a great track season and when you realize the injuries and illnesses they had to overcome, it would nearly be unbelievable."

The girls took third place at the state outdoor meet. The sprint medley relay team, consisting of Kara Robinson, Keshia Williams, Kim Abram, and Hether Wharton, returned to state, where they took second place. Upholding her state discus championship and taking second place for the shot put was senior Christy Hebert.

The team came in second at four out of their eight meets.

Tough year for boys

The varsity men's soccer team started off with a bang. The win over Prairie raised their spirits and hopes for a winning season. But as Chris Sarchett reflected on the season, "It was kind of disappointing, I thought we would do better than we did." The team played best during the Pleasant Valley Tournament, when they took on top ranked Pleasant Valley and lost 2-3.

Although the record, 4-11-1, didn't show how dominant they were, the J-Hawks did control a majority of the games they played. Mental errors and giving up easy goals were their weaknesses. The strength of the team this year was experience. The positions were filled this year by 11 returning letter winners: seniors Adam Day,

The J-Hawks were led by Dan Erbe and Chris Sarchett, who earned the honors of First Team All-Metro. The captains of the team were Adam Day and Ben Cannady. Adam Day earned the coaches award and Chris Sarchett was the MVP. For as much talent as the men's soccer team had this year, the outcome of the season was not the one that was expected.

Practice pays off

With all the rain there were a lot of game cancellations. That meant that the girls got a lot of extra practice. With all of the practice the girls' soccer team knew every hour of it was worth it. The team didn't get every game in but with what they had, they had fun.

The girls' soccer team had everybody coming back except two. With a good freshman class it made the team even better. Some of the players feel that the record doesn't show how well the season went; it's the way we played. Coach Dean Jandik stated, "That the girls controlled most of the games but the other teams got the breaks." At the Cougar Invitational they improved from 9th place to 4th place. That was one of the highlights of the season, the girls all agreed.

The team was led by Michelle Seavy,

Carrie Wieneke, Jamie Pechota, Sara Taylor, and Christy Merrifield. There were four girls who earned 1st team All-Metro honors, including Christy Merrifield, Michelle Seavy, Sara Taylor and freshman Charisse Barber. Also, 2nd Team Megan Ihns, Jamie Pechota, Amy Bernhard and Carrie Sarchett. Cindy Robeson and Carrie Wieneke were named Honorable Mention. "I had a lot of fun this year. Our team really pulled together to improve. I'll never forget the teamwork and friendship that made this year so memorable," stated Lara Collins.

Next year will hopefully be another great season. The girls' soccer team is losing some of the best defenders in the city but is looking for upcoming freshmen and sophomores to fill those positions.

Rain cancels meets

The 1993 men's tennis team started off in our lovely Iowa weather; rain, snow, and other distractions. After dealing with the weather and having only three practices, the team started what was going to be a long season.

The J-Hawks began their season with high hopes at the Rock Island Invitational. Next they participated in the Bobcat Invitational in Marshalltown. Even though they did take fourth place, they felt that they were ready for a tough conference schedule.

Coach Bowen and Coach Schneckloth's largest concern for the team was that it was a relatively young group. The team was led by the much improved sophomore, Eric Modracek. The number two man was senior co-captain Scott McClurg and the third and fourth spots were occupied by the other senior co-captain Jason Rimrodt and sophomore Steve Quang. The rest of the varsity squad was filled by junior Aaron Conner, sophomore Eric Augustine, junior Jason Halfpap, senior Jamie Zaruba, junior Tony Nickle, and seniors Jim Armstrong and Kori Sickles.

The team's 1-12 record isn't a fair measurement of the group's season and effort. Many matches were close and ended in 5-4 decisions. Unfortunately many members suffered from nagging injuries for most of the season. Regardless of all of the distractions, it was a great season in terms of fun for the team and for Coach Bowen during his final season as head coach.

Tennis triumphs

Despite all the wind and the rain, the girls' tennis team had a fun and successful season. Juniors and seniors were coached by head coach Jim Lockett. The freshmen and sophomore team was coached by assistant coach Michelle McNeal.

"Each meet we improved and even though the rain caused lack of practices we were playing at the top of our game at the end of the season," commented Coach Lockett.

The girls' tennis team finished third in the Mississippi Valley Conference with a 7 and 7 record.

Singles leader this year was freshman Melanie Becker, who had an 11 win, 6 loss record at #1.

Doubles leaders were Angie Hasslebrink and Chris Clipfell, with 14 wins and 2 losses in the tough Mississippi Valley Conference. Angie Hasslebrink has an overall record of 68 wins and 22 losses as a varsity performer.

The freshmen and sophomore team did well this season also. Sophomore Andrea Beauregard played the #1 spot.

All in all, the girls' tennis team had a great season. Although the rain put a damper on their practices, the girls stayed focused on the 'ball', and are looking forward to the next season.

A unique season

This year's girls' golf season seemed to be off to a bad start with the continuous rain and only one returning letterman, but the team did exceptionally well. Their record was 5-4 with nineteen girls, the largest team ever recruited in Ms. Walton's career. "This was the most challenging season I've had with a large number of beginners. It's rewarding to see people improve," she explained.

On the other hand, the guys golf team was remarkably small. With a team of six, their record of 19-38 was very good. The team has high hopes for next year. Jason Halfpap's personal goals are to be team captain and to rank in the top 10 in the Mississippi Valley Conference individually. Mr. Johansen's goals for next year include finishing in the top six of the Mississippi Valley Conference meet, and to have a state qualifier.

With the determination of many of our players, it looks as though next year both teams will surely excel and have an enjoyable season.

SUMMER DEDICATION

The Jefferson softball diamond serves as a summer home for the girls' softball team. Last year the twenty-one member team compiled a record of 50-9, while capturing the MVC title and earning a sixth place finish at the state tournament in Fort Dodge.

This year the team hopes to return to state and make an impact. Jefferson is led by five seniors, Christy Hebert, Tara Hupfeld, Tara McCracken, Karen Schulte, and Nancee Niemeyer. Considering the experience that the J-Hawks have, their offense should be powerful and their defense sound.

The J-Hawks have three weeks of practice before they begin to play their fifty game schedule. They travel to Des Moines twice and host several tournaments of their own. The J-Hawks main opponents are the Des Moines and Valley division MVC teams. This schedule is an advantage for the J-Hawks when they start their tournament journey to qualify for state. The team strives on tradition, and they have returned to state the past three years.

Team plans wins

This year's baseball team has been plagued by rainy weather, but still they are off to a good start. They won their first game with the help of their ten returning letter winners. These ten players are seniors, Jon Lymus, Darren Lewis, Kirk Hauskins, Rob Lehnerr, Scott Micek, Chris Steele, Zac Allison, Anthony Henderson, Tony Winkler, and Jamie Parkin. "I think the team will do really well this season because they have so many returning letter winners and they are backed up by a very talented junior squad," commented Coach Kenney. Coach Kibby also said that he thinks they'll be as good as in past years.

1. Heading back to the dug out is junior Travis Pike.
2. Senior Zac Allison swings at the ball.
3. Scott Vrba delivers a pitch in his first varsity start.
4. Coach Kibby gives advice from the baseline.
5. Senior Anthony Henderson warms up before the game.
6. Catcher Anthony Henderson and pitcher Scott Vrba meet on the mound.
7. At his first varsity game, Ronnie Gilson hits a home-run.
8. As the team looks on, Scott Micek prepares to bat.
9. Jamie Parkin and Scott Micek play the infield.
10. Ronnie Gilson rounds the bases and heads for home.
11. Third baseman Travis Pike waits for the ball.

Memories of classes

As students make plans about their future, they remember both the good and the not so good things about Jefferson.

Students will remember the teachers who helped with their education. As Renee Palmer stated, "Mr. Dickinson has made an impact on me. He has taught me to be responsible and disciplined." The teachers that students liked the most were the ones that made learning interesting.

As in most schools, students also value extracurricular activities. Most students say that extracurricular activities help them learn responsibility for everyday life. That's why they join clubs.

However, students also had complaints about Jefferson. Kim Perdue and Amy Billington said that, "the worst thing about Jefferson is the thefts." Others wished that the student body would care more about the school. Overall, however, students were happy with their years at Jefferson and said they would always remember them. They emphasized they will always have fond memories of the years spent as Jefferson J-Hawks.

1. Taking time out from lunch, Lisa Wolfe and Karrie Michael strike a pose.
2. "Is there room for one more?" is what these students seem to be asking.
3. Jamie Rabik gets messy with paper mache in International Club.
4. Lab partners Scott McAtee and Jennifer Sanderson discuss their experiment.
5. Getting help in Mr. Crandall's class is easy.
6. Performing a lab in science class is Bert Axline's task.
7. Mr. Reitz's English class reveals their lighter side.
8. Jeremy Blackwell "hangs" out at the coat check.
9. Mr. Garlock discusses a film order with Mr. Eberle.
10. In the computer lab, Mr. and Mrs. Tower are always available to help.
11. Browsing in the library, Lance Wield hunts for the right book.
12. Activity Director Mr. Taylor keeps busy with Jeff's demanding athletic schedule.
13. Ms. Roberts gives an oral quiz to Matt Donley.
14. Always supporting the J-Hawks, Mr. Becker attends a volleyball game.
15. Senior and junior girls joke around at lunch.

Reaching goals

The Special J-Hawks is a program where students volunteer one of their class periods a day to go down and work with the severe and profoundly handicapped. They help them learn new skills, they play games with them, and they take them to lunch and eat with them. Under the direction of Linda Patterson and Kay Snyder students take on great responsibilities.

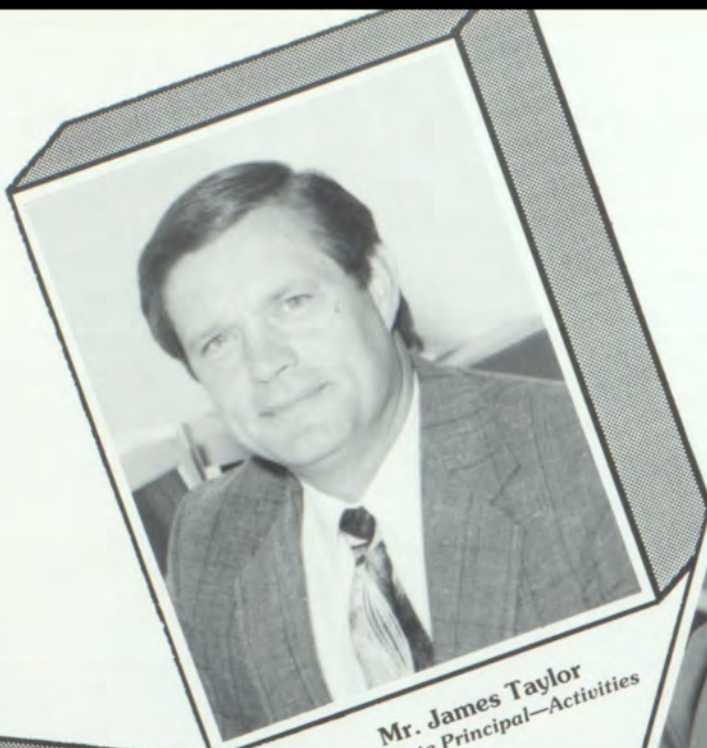

Keshia Williams, a junior, is a Mini-Aid. Her jobs as a Mini-Aid are to help Nancy McClure with her physical therapy and to also help other students with their career training.

The Special J-Hawks range in age anywhere from fourteen to twenty-one. They also get involved in school activities. They have been involved in school pep assemblies and school events such as basketball games and volleyball matches.

1. Jason Loney watches Channel 1.
2. While learning other students' names, Cheryl Echols Rawson smiles for the camera.
3. Deciding whether to smile or not, Becky Sue Butterbrodt looks away from the camera.
4. Janell Patterson spends time with Nancie McClure.
5. Watching Channel 1 is Mini-Aid Sherry Loutsch with Raymond Petersen.
6. Holly Visek teaches Jason Loney and Angelo Porter how to play the keyboards.
7. Carrie Poole smiles for the camera while eating her lunch.
8. Mini-Aid Jeremy Ganzevoort gives Anita Harban a hand.
9. Chad Mote is thinking hard while sitting in a cutout.
10. Showing the class how big she can smile is Becky Sue Butterbrodt.
11. Anita Harban waits for someone to give her a hug.
12. Learning their classmates names are Nancie McClure, Carrie Poole, and Mini-Aid Janell Patterson.
13. Mini-Aids Holly Bisek and Lenny Webster entertain Angelo Porter and Jason Loney.
14. Opening his arms for a hug is Ronnie Rierson.

Electives at school

School is a place to learn and get involved with different things. Many activities occur during a J-Hawk's school day. Being in the classroom and learning is the main part of each school day for most students.

All of us have classes we are required to take but there are other possibilities. Elective classes are one example, that can make the day more enjoyable. They give many students a break from the usual atmosphere and bring a chance to explore new interests. Nikki May feels that being a Yearbook Photographer is not only "a brighter part" of her day, but it also helps to improve her pictures to help her prepare for her career.

Electives not only teach us things that can help students explore personal interests, but they give a change during the day. Some classes offer the usual notes, lecture approach, but others allow students to work at their own pace and just require them to be done on time. Many students like this approach and turn to these classes.

Besides class there are other exciting things to do. Some students prefer to not sit in studyhall and decide to be a T.A. This is a benefit to not only help the teacher, but to get out of the boring atmosphere of studyhall and have a new change of pace, especially last hour.

Without friends though the school day just wouldn't be complete. No one can just sit all day and not say a word. There has to be some socializing going on once in awhile to help the school day pass quickly.

1. Proud of her photo talent, Nikki May evaluates her negatives.
2. Coach Larry Niemeyer enjoys a hearty meal after the big game.
3. Cass gets ready to hand out yet another parking ticket.
4. Sara Graham shapes her pot in ceramics class.
5. Jay Raabe shows one of his many study talents.
6. Mrs. Novy and Ms. Walton take a breather to display their school spirit.
7. While collecting attendance folders, Jason Sims socializes with three friends.
8. Jodi Fenton finds humor from class.
9. Charlie Wolfe reacts to a photographer's question.

SENIORS !

Night to cherish

The seniors considered themselves lucky when clear skies and warm weather greeted them on May 8th, the evening of prom.

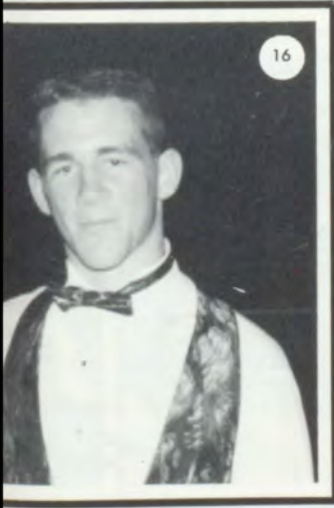

After weeks of preparation and anticipation, the moment finally arrived for the excited couples to set off for the night of their lives. Departing from happy picture-taking parents, students dined at such restaurants as the Iowa River Power Company and Charlie's on the River.

Whether excited students owned, borrowed, or rented their transportation, everyone arrived at the dance "dressed to kill". Sleek, sequinned formals and off-the-shoulder dresses were dominant among the girls. The guys wore a variety of formal tuxes with color-coordinated bows and vests.

Draped with colors of black, silver, emerald green and purple, the new gym was transformed into an elegant ballroom. Music, such as the theme song "Open Arms", played as couples danced and talked with friends.

J-Hawks for Life sponsored the after prom party, featuring karaoke.

Graduates await future

As the long-awaited countdown finally ended, the 360 members of the graduating class of 1993 walked across the stage at the Five Seasons Civic Center on June 5, 1993, at 10:00 a.m.

As the year came to an end for the seniors there was much excitement in the air, and a lot of sadness as friends went their separate ways to achieve their dreams and goals.

As the valedictorians,

Nancee Niemeyer, James Milne, Eric Brandt, and Tim Smith, prepare for their futures so do other seniors here at Jefferson. T.J. Goodell plans to continue his education at Kirkwood, majoring in carpentry with plans to make a career out of it. His advice to all underclassmen about high school "is to have fun and go for your goals and dreams."

ReShana Johnson, also a graduating senior, advises future seniors to work their hardest and have fun.

As each senior has their moment of glory walking across the stage, we all can't help but wonder what the future will hold for all of us, and what we will be doing with the rest of our lives. We hope you all have as much fun as we had our senior year!

Seniors express a variety of emotions as Graduation Day arrives:

1. Jarod Young, Bob Doubek, Marcus Johnson, Jason Rose, Mark Ironside
2. Derik Stauffacher, Mark Pendergast
3. Jim Armstrong
4. Kathrine Svanevik, Mr. James Taylor
5. Brad Beer, Matt Betterton, Jeremy Blackwell, Dan Carpenter, Michael Zweigart
6. James Milne
7. Mr. Ron Smrha, Darren Lewis, Jamie Parkin
8. Becky Flickinger
9. Regena Schlemmer, Kelly Burnett, Cadie Carleton
10. Ben Cannady
11. Gordy Ralston, Kori Sickles, Blake Mikesell, Jim Robinson
12. Kim Koehler
13. Stacie Jackson, Christy Herbert
14. Anthony Henderson
15. Scott Locker

Punky,

Congratulations! Our "little" Wonder Woman has grown and has us wondering where all the time has gone! We are proud of you! (All 5' 3" and how many pounds!?) We will miss all your activities at Jefferson, but are looking forward to the next "step" in your life! Good luck at college and forever.

Mom, Dad & Drake

Ben

Since toddlerhood, you've demonstrated your gift of wonder and enthusiasm.

You challenged us with some unexpected hurdles:
"borrowing" the car at 15,
pushing to buy your own car,
technicalities of restrictions,
and skipping a day of school.

You're a real joy to us and we'll always love you no matter what.

May God bless you with a great life.

Remember, some day you'll be where we are.
Mom & Dad

ReThana Johnson,
Your philosophy has always been,
Always succeed, never quit!
We like that...
Mom & Dad

Tara,
Congratulations on all your accomplishments and for always telling it like it is. We are very proud of you and love you very much.

Love,
Mom & Dad

class of

Congratulations on graduating with your 1993 class Pam. May this serve as a continuance of a very long and successful life.

You are a very understanding and thoughtful girl. We love you lots and are very proud of you.

Dad, Mom & Jenny

Congratulations Kara!

From pigtails to perfume, God gave us a special gift the day you came into our lives. As you strive to fulfill your dreams, always know that we're here for you and will always love you.

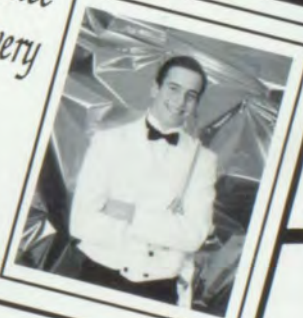

Mom & Dad

Matt,

May the journey you're about to begin be as successful as the journey you've completed. We're so proud of all your accomplishments. You've grown into a nice young man! We love you very much.

Love,
from all your family

Traci,
So many wonderful memories, so many bright tomorrows.
All our love,
Mom, Dad and Jodi

You've come a long way baby! We're so proud of you! Congrats.....good luck.....(can we help you pack?) Keep smiling, but keep the lipstick off your teeth!

Love,
Mom, Dave, and "the dawgs" (Shade & Bo)

We knew you could do it!
Good Luck Always.

Love,
Jay, Mom, Lori and Jill

*We knew you could do it
Sharon Kelley, if you put your mind to it. We are very proud of you!*
Love, Mom & Dad

Julie,

You're a beautiful person inside and out. We are so proud of you!

Always keep your positive outlook on life, your warm smile and loving heart, and your life will always be successful. The Lord blessed us the day you were born. We Love You!

Mom & Dad

Tony,

Dad and I are very proud of you. You are a great person. We know you will be successful in whatever you do.

Love always,
Mom & Dad

Debby,

We are so proud of what you have accomplished and for the warm, caring person that you have become.

All our love,
Mom, Dad & Jenny

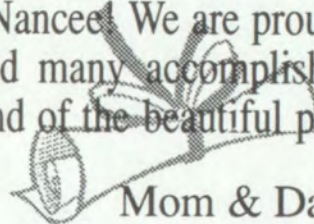

Portraits Unlimited

Quality that surpasses

To the Senior class of 1993, we at Portraits Unlimited would like to convey our best wishes to all of you. For those of you whose lives we became a small part of this past year, we sincerely say thank you. We hope that all of your hopes and dreams will come true. Remember that the road of life will be rough at times, but when you strive for excellence, there is no goal that is unattainable. Be strong and you will succeed.

Best Wishes,
Gary and Patti Morehouse

We love you Nancee! We are proud of your hard work and many accomplishments in high school and of the beautiful person you have become.

Mom & Dad

Diana,

It's hard to believe how the years have flown by. We are very proud of you and know you are bound for success. We will always be here for you

Love,
Mom & Dad
